COOLIDGE FOR LOWER TAXES, WORLD PEACE

Purposes Outlined by the President in His Inaugural

Washington—Clad with a bright mandarin from the People's Republic of China, the President was the guest of honor at the four-day Chinese New Year celebration at the White House. The President said that the nation is working to improve the lives of the people, both at home and abroad, by providing them with better education, health care, and economic opportunities. He also spoke about the importance of respecting cultural differences and promoting international understanding.

The President said:

"As the House of Representatives, we have the duty to govern and to represent the people. We must work to ensure that every individual has access to quality education, healthcare, and economic opportunities. We must also continue to promote international understanding and respect for cultural differences."

COOLIDGE, DAVIES ARE INAUGURATED

Taft Administers Oath to Office of President and Vice President.

Washington.—President Coolidge and Vice President Davies were inaugurated today. The oath was administered by Chief Justice Taft in the presence of a large crowd of Cabinet members and other dignitaries. The ceremony was held in the East Room of the White House.

The President said:

"I stand before you today as the leader of this great nation. I am committed to ensuring a bright future for our country and the world."

Wealth Through Misfortunes

At the end of the month, Joe's stock fell off, but he was not too much bothered by it. He invested in a small business and made a profit. He is said to be recovering.

"My Rheumatism is Gone"

There are thousands of men and women who suffer from rheumatism. Joe, 30, was one of them. He suffered from chronic rheumatism for years. But after seeing a specialist, he was able to reduce his pain and get back to work.
