Memorial Sunday

Those who allowed the storm to keep them from the Methodist church Sunday, surely missed a real memorial sermon, than which, we are convinced, there was none better anywhere.

Rev. Williams was at his best and all his hearers will say that his best is good enough for any community and better than many are privileged to hear.

In his usual forceful manner he paid fitting tributes, most feelingly, to the veterans of all wars, then he depicted the sorrows, devastations, and other ill-effects of wars and resultant and incident crimes of all nations common to wars and closed with a forceful argument on the "Outlawing of War."

While admitting the magnitude of this he showed how equally big things had been done in outlawing duelling, slavery and the liquor traffic. Truly a wonderful address and we congratulate Rev. Williams and the community in having a local speaker of real merit.

Special music added to the interest of the occasion.

A noticeable feature was the fact that Comrade Richard Hill was the only one of the "Boys in Blue" able to be present. Truly the ranks are few.

Memorial Day Proclamation

By the Governor

The march of the Grand Army of the Republic is nearly over. The vast and sturdy ranks of a generation ago have dwindled to a hazy line of aged but exalted veterans. Time was when men from their own ranks decorated the graves of their fallen comrades and glorified the deeds of living warriors. This duty has now fallen upon the citizens of a grateful republic. Once each year as long as this, the happiest, mightiest and most righteous of all nations endures, we will be called upon to honor not only the valor of veterans of the Civil War, but to pay homage to soldiers of all other conflicts of the nation. In peace with all the world, our tribute to the honored dead and the surviving veterans who made our happiness possible should this year be more impressive than ever before.

Therefore, I, Alex J. Groesbeck, as Governor of Michigan, proclaim and urge a proper observance of Saturday, May 30, 1925, as Memorial Day.

Given under my hand and the Great Seal of the State this thirtieth day of May, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and twenty-five, and of the Commonwealth the eighty-ninth.

ALEX. J. GROESBECK,

Governor.

By the Governor: Charles J. Deland, Secretary of State.

BROWN DISTRICT

Wednesday, May 20 was the last day of school. The children gave a program appropriate to the occasion to which all the parents of the district were invited. A surprise to teacher and children resulted when, at the end of the program Mrs. Loren Camfield announced that the program was not yet ended. It appeared that cakes and ice cream had been smuggled onto the premises, practically unknown to all but the smugglers. Surprises of this kind are nice. It is needless to say that everyone enjoyed it.

Bernard Blakeman to West Point

Congressman John Ketcham of Hastings reports that Bernard Blakeman had been successful in the final examinations for a cadetship to West Point and that he had been named to that place.

Mr. Blakeman was named as an alternate in the district examination held recently, but the two candidates and the other alternate failed to pass the final physical examination, although all passed the necessary academic test. Surely this speaks well for Mr. Blakeman, who is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Blakeman, and who has many friends here who will extend congratulations. His appointment takes effect with this year's class and it is an assured fact that he will carry forward in the academy at West Point with credit not only to himself, his family and friends, but to the district which he will represent. The News extends congratulations.

STATE NEWS IN BRIEF

Jackson—The city commission has denied chiropractors the right to practice their vocation at the W. A. Foote Memorial Hospital, which is operated by the city. The opinion was given at the request of C. M. Guyselman, a local chiropractor.

Ypsilanti—According to word received here, the state highway department ordered two miles of the Scorse road, east of this city, paved once, using prison labor for the construction work. Action on the other one and one-half miles to the Wayne County line is expected in a few days.

Lansing—Three new trunkline road construction jobs have been authorized by the State Administrative Board. A two-mile stretch on M-23 near Ypsilanti will be built on State account. Contracts were let for gravel surfacing on M-69 from the south line of Baraga County to Covington and for 4.1 miles on M-27 near Owosso.

Lansing—"Convention junkets" for State employes and officials are permanently barred by the State Administrative Board. The board adopted a resolution declaring it would not honor expense accounts submitted for attendance at conventions either inside or outside the state, unless the trip involved specific State business.

Escanaba—The discovery of another positive case of rabies here occasioned a renewal of shotgun warfare against unlicensed dogs. The police "shoot on sight" squad has again opened hostilities against the canines. A half dozen persons have been bitten by mad dogs in two months and more than 300 dogs have been killed.

Muskegon—Smoke which filled the clubhouse of the Muskegon Country Club overcame four persons who were removed from the building when passersby saw the flames. Fire started in a garage, destroyed a truck and passenger automobile stored there and spread to the dining room. Cause of the fire has not been determined. The loss was estimated at $2,000.

Kalamazoo—Several thousand veterans of the 126th Infantry will hold their annual reunion here July 3, 4 and 5. This unit, which was a part of the 32d Division, was reorganized in July, 1917, from the old 31st and 32d Infantry regiments of the Michigan National Guard. The colors of the regiment were decorated with the Croix de Guerre and four American battle bands.

Greenville—The West Michigan Potato Show Association, with S. D. R. Smith as president, has been organized here to sponsor a potato exhibit each year. The organization is composed of growers, specialists and members of the Chamber of Commerce. Plans are to hold a show Oct. 29 to 31, when competition in most classes will be open to growers throughout the state.

Warren—Hostilities between two factions in School District No. 5, of Warren Township, broke out anew when petitions were filed with the township clerk, asking the recall of three members of the school board, who are charged with causing a school building to be erected upon a site not owned by the school district and with refusing to take counsel from taxpayers in the district.

Ypsilanti—A meeting of Saline business men and the directors of the Detroit United Railway will be held to reach some decision regarding the removal of the interurban tracks between here and Saline. The franchise on that line expires in about 18 months, and the State Highway Department declines to pave the six miles of road west of this city until the railway tracks are removed.

Ecorse—George A. Moore, who has been holding the offices of justice of the peace and trustee of Ecorse, resigned from the latter office at the regular meeting of the village council after Attorney-General Andrew B. Dougherty advised him that the offices were incompatible and that he could not legally try ordinance cases while a member of the council. The question was first raised by Alfred C. Bouchard, president of the village and political opponent of Moore.

Ypsilanti—Full-rate fines for pastors who violate the traffic law is the slogan of the Rev. Henry Lewis, rector of the Episcopal church at Ann Arbor, brought into the municipal court of Judge D. Z. Curtis after he had been arrested on a charge of speeding. Judge Curtis was ready to levy a cut-rate fine because of mitigating circumstances, but Mr. Lewis waived any preference, and insisted on paying just like any other offenders. Thereupon, the judge assessed him $5.

Detroit—A Mid-Western Conference of the National Woman's Party will be held in Bloomfield Hills and Detroit the first week in June. The conference will open June 4, with an annual meeting of the Michigan Branch of the National Woman's Party. The morning of June 5, will be given over to the National Council, and the afternoon to an organization conference. This will be followed by a banquet in the evening, for the members and friends of the organization at one of the delightful clubs in Bloomfield Hills.

Battle Creek—The peach crop in this vicinity has been badly blighted by a frost while strawberries and early corn suffered, it was said by fruit and farmers.

Grand Rapids—Sidney L. Vaughan, former vice-president and general manager of the Grand Rapids, Grand Haven & Muskegon Railway Company, and several associates have purchased the railway property from the United Light and Power Company.

Lansing—Three hundred and eighteen automobiles were stolen in Michigan in April, according to a report completed by Charles J. DeLand, secretary of state. In the same period 254 were recovered. A large majority of the thefts and recoveries were in Detroit.

Adrian—The school building of the Michigan Training School for Girls, formerly the Industrial School for Girls, was totally destroyed by fire here. No injuries were reported. It is believed the blaze originated on the roof of the building. The loss is estimated at $30,000.

Port Huron—The Nicholson Universal Transit Co. of Detroit has bought the steamer Thomas Davidson from the Crosby-Transit Co. The Davidson will be taken to the Great Lakes Engineering Works, Detroit, where she will be put into the automobile carrying trade.

Port Huron—The sale of Wood-ticket Island, in St. Clair River and nearly opposite Sombra, Ont., to the Detroit Council of the Knights of Columbus, was reported here. James Gleason, Detroit, is owner of the island. The sale price is said to be $20,000. The island, which is in Canadian water, will be converted into a summer resort, it is said.

Lansing—The Howarth and Wood reapportionment bills, which will give Wayne county 21 seats in the house and 7 in the senate in the 1927 legislature, are on the statute books of Michigan. Governor Alex. J. Groesbeck wrote the concluding chapter of Wayne's fight for just representation when he scrawled the executive signature on the Wood bill.

Kalamazoo—Western State Normal School's new $300,000 gymnasium will be dedicated June 19. The structure stands at the eastern edge of the athletic field, just off Oakland drive. Spaulding, for 14 years coach of the institution and now coach at the University of Minnesota, will be the guest of honor.

Ann Arbor—Advocating a separation of any world court from international politics and scoring the League of Nations on the basis that its foundation is upon force rather than justice, Senator William E. Borah, of Idaho, spoke on "Peace and the Peace Problem" before the student body of the University of Michigan, here. He not only attacked the League of Nations and the World Court, but also explained his stand on the recognition of Russia.

Flint—J. Dallas Dort, internationally known automobile magnate, dropped dead on the golf links of the Flint Country Club during a game. Apparently glowing with health Mr. Dort was completing a foursome with three friends. He had just driven 220 yards from the eighteenth tee. Walking on the eighteenth fairway, an undulating greenhill within sight of the clubhouse and a host of friends, Mr. Dort suddenly sank to the ground. Before a physician could arrive Mr. Dort had died.

Lansing—Henry Ford's power development operations at Ypsilanti will be continued under an order issued by the Michigan Public Utilities commission. The order classifies the Fordson Power company as a public utility. Under special legislation passed authority to prosecute condemnation proceedings, on authority of the utilities commission, is given to public utilities. Ford is seeking to invoke that authority to frustrate attempts of Washtenaw county land owners to keep him away from the Huron river development field.

AIRY MIDSUMMER MILLINERY;
NICE SWEATER OF BALBRIGGAN

MANY of those who foretell coming events in the world of millinery, are assuring the inquisitive that this is to be a summer of airy headwear. Everywhere the tendency is toward sheer and delicate materials. Some of these prophets maintain that we are to have "a white summer"—that there will be a greater proportion of white hats worn than for many past summers. Looking back to recent important Easter weddings, which brought out advance summer millinery, makes one have faith in diaphanous hats—in headwear of hair braid, lace, malines and combinations of sheer fabrics with straw. All these, in light tones and in stronger shades of fashionable colors, the latest cross-word puzzle in style—dom spells "turtle-neck balbriggan sweater." It is safe to predict that the smart woman of fashion who is not already the possessor of a balbriggan slipper, will, before the passing of another moon, have acquired one of these modish garments.

The sudden rise of balbriggan as a medium for sportswear is an outstanding event in the field of fashion. If one would keep "in style," seems as if there is no alternative but to buy something of balbriggan.

In purchasing a balbriggan sweater be sure to get a high-neck model, preferably a turtle-neck, for it is the latest. The picture illustrates the idea crowned the heads of maids and matrons who conducted the brides altars.

Here are four late arrivals in the ranks of midsummer's dressy hats that appear to have reached the limit of sheer and delicate materials—they are as light as thistledown, mere shreds of thin clouds, drifting in over the horizon of fashion. First, at the top of the group pictured, there is a hat of white hair braid having frills of lingerie lace set in rows on the underbrim and a big rosette of it posed against the crown. It is an exquisite thing. At the left a hat of georgette crepe and hair braid has a wide, droopy brim, and round crown encircled with a full wreath of little garden roses and foliage. They might be of any light color on a white hat, better than words can tell. Smart is any knitted slipper that boasts a turtle-neck, but smarter still is the slipper which is cut, turtle-neck and all, from sheer balbriggan in natural color as here shown. It may be well to state that this high neck buttons down the back.

It will be readily seen, looking at the picture that the effect of these slim high-neck balbriggan sweaters is very attractive. In conjunction with the very short skirts most of which are "wrap-around," or have plaits either all around or somewhere in their make-up, they look charmingly youthful.

An irresistible note of beauty in balbriggan is that of color. Think of a

and a wreath of organdie roses, in varied colors, would find itself against a perfect background on this shape. Organdie, in white and light colors, is an ideal millinery fabric.

The poke bonnet at the right might be made of it, or of chiffon. It is finished with a soft frill about the brim edge and a sash of ribbon with ends falling from the left side where a cluster of roses is posed. The wide-brimmed hair braid that finishes the group varies the brim-line by a lift at the front where two transparent flowers are posed against the crown. Reading horizontally or vertically pastel dyed-in-the-yarn and guaranteed fast-color balbriggan jumper topping a perfectly matched crepe silk skirt! What lovelier sports or outdoor costume can one wish for? Especially since it registers that naive simplicity which suggests the tailored mode.

It is also considered quite the proper thing to wear a high-neck balbriggan sweater with one's more formal tailored suit. By way of suggestion, fancy a navy cloth suit, yellow turtle-neck sweater; yellow boutonniere and a navy or yellow felt or bangkok hat.

Let Tanlac restore your health

If your body is all fagged-out and run-down, if you are losing weight steadily, lack appetite, have no strength or energy—why not let Tanlac help you back to health and strength?

So many millions have been benefited by the Tanlac treatment, so many thousands have written to testify to that effect that it's sheer folly not to make the test.

Tanlac, you know, is a great natural tonic and builder, a compound, after the famous Tanlac formula, of roots, barks and herbs. It purges the blood stream, revitalizes the digestive organs and enables the sickly body to regain its vanished weight.

You don't need to wait long to get results. Tanlac goes right to the seat of trouble. In a day or so you note a vast difference in your condition. You have more appetite, sleep better at night and the color begins to creep back into your washed-out cheeks.

Don't put off taking Tanlac another precious day. Step into

Catching Chickens Helps in Culling

Best Way Is to Have Crates With Wire Sides.

Catching the chickens is a large part of the work involved in culling, and experience shows that any help in this direction is valuable.

Another good method is to construct a small catching pen outside of each building where the birds are to be caught, says Professor Botsford.

For work inside the house, he suggested the following: Take ten or twelve feet of poultry wire five or six feet high, and fasten a strip of one-by-two-inch material at each end.

White Leghorn Is Most Satisfactory for Eggs

The White Leghorns seem to be the most satisfactory breed for commercial egg production. When both eggs and meat are desired it pays to keep one of the general-purpose breeds, like Barred Plymouth Rocks, Rhode Island Reds or White Wyandottes.

If the hens that lay white eggs and the hens that lay brown eggs are managed the same, I think there is very little, if any, difference in the quality of the contents. I have heard owners of the brown breeds say that their eggs seemed to look richer and probably contained more food value than white-shelled eggs.

Ventilation Necessary for the Brooder House

Brooding houses should have enough ventilation to prevent stuffiness or any smell of gas from the heater, but as they must be kept at the proper temperature, too much ventilation in cold, stormy weather will be injurious.

Great as Soil Builder

Alfalfa stands in the front ranks among the crops which build up the fertility of the soil. Farmers who have grown it report that they get much higher yields of grain and other crops on land which has been in alfalfa than on land where no leguminous crop has been grown.

Clean Land for Alfalfa

Plant alfalfa on clean, cultivated land. This means corn or potato land. A clean firm, moist seedbed is essential to success, and clean corn or potato land gives these essentials in a practical way.

Hogging Off Barley

While there would be some waste in hogging off barley and while the hogs would not make as efficient use of it as they would if it were harvested, threshed and ground, the time saved in getting the cheaper feed, and the labor and expense of harvesting saved, probably would make up for any waste and loss from this method of feeding.

Maggie and the Will

By VERA M. JONES

(© 1925, Western Newspaper Union.)

MAGGIE FLANNERY'S anxious gaze was turned on the little man in gray kneeling before the bookcase.

"I can assure you, my good woman," he was saying, "that our firm, its administrators, will see that justice is done you, whether your late mistress's will is found or not. You can file claim for unpaid wages, you know—"

"If she can prove she has not already drawn them," Peter Hines broke in from the desk over which he was bending.

"Or that Sarah Baldwin didn't think she had done enough in giving Maggie a home in exchange for her services," Sophy, his wife, supplemented. "Sarah was not fond of spending, you know! Why—the way she treated Peter—her only relative—never a penny—"

"Maggie Flannery sank back in her chair, the lassitude of her hopelessness marking every line of her worn face and frail body.

The search continued in silence. The room, a bedchamber, was in a state of upheaval; drawers thrown open and contents jumbled; books from the case piled on the floor; the wardrobe stripped, the garments heaped on the old four-poster.

Then, as Sophy pushed the last of the dresser drawers she had been examining, she drew close to her husband, whispering: "Cheer up, Peter! Suppose a will does turn up! It may only give Maggie her wages, after all, and make her heir—"

Peter gave her a warning nudge. "Not a chance!" he breathed. "You know the old skindint always warned me Maggie was to be her sole beneficiary at death. My one hope is—since the document wasn't filed—that I get my hands on it first. I won't rest until I do!"

But finally Peter did, sinking down on the bed and lighting a cigarette. Accidentally the flaming match fell on the garments beside him. In snuffing it out he suddenly laughed.

"Sarah not fond of spending!" he quoted his wife. "Well, if this is a sample of my aunt's wardrobe, I think we must agree she wasn't!"

At the sneering tone the old woman roused herself: "Miss Sarah liked her old things best. She always said: 'Old clothes, like old friends—'"

"Maggie!" broke in Sophy, "don't be impertinent."

"Let her be, Sophy. It's edifying to hear these reminiscences! This now—and Peter mockingly picked up an old dressing gown—"this, Maggie, judging from its ancient appearance, was treasured as a life-long friend, eh!"

Just then the little man in gray turned from replacing the last book in the case; and just as suddenly Peter jumped to his feet.

"But let's end it! What say you, Mr. Dowling! I think you're convinced we've searched thoroughly."

"There's certainly no evidence of a document," Mr. Dowling admitted. He gazed at Maggie Flannery.

"Peter Hines turned to the lawyer: 'I'll tell you, Mr. Dowling, what I think the explanation is: My aunt intended for me to come into the money this way! You see—during her lifetime she—well, she acted anything but like a wealthy woman should toward her only relative. Remorse for that, no doubt, when death drew near, filled her with a desire to make amends. But she was a proud woman; wouldn't want me to know. So—by dying intestate—you see—restitution, without humbling her pride—'"

Then a sudden thought came to Sophy. Quickly she grabbed up the old dressing gown, after a swift glance convinced her it was the most dilapidated of the garments. "Here, Maggie, is that robe of Miss Sarah's; that ought to make a grand keepsake—since you loved her so well! Take it, and go. And don't come back here again, or I'll have you arrested for false pretenses—claiming wages we don't owe you! Go now!" Without further ado Sophy took hold of the dazed old woman and thrust her down

"Is Mrs. Rise at home?" inquired Mrs. Chatters, standing in the shadow of the doorway.

"Life and Books"

I always believed in life rather than books. I suppose every day of earth, with its hundred thousand deaths and something more of births—with its loves and its hates, its triumphs and defeats, its pangs and blisses, has more of humanity in it than all the books that were ever written put together. I believe the flowers growing at the moment send up more fragrance to heaven than was ever exhaled from all the essences ever distilled.—Oliver Wendell Holmes.

"Rich African Territory"

Oil Rivers was the name once applied to the territory on the west coast of Africa now known as the Niger coast. It contains six main rivers, which derived their old general name from palm oil, the chief product of the adjacent districts. The country was visited first by missionaries early in the Nineteenth century, and later by traders who established plantations and factories in the interior.

"Fairly Warned"

A country paper once said: "E. B. Doolittle is in the habit of stealing pigs and robbing hen roosts. If he does not desist we shall publish his name." This reminds us of the minister who said: "If the lady with the blue hat, red hair and cross eyes doesn't stop talking she will be pointed out to the congregation."

"New Flax for Ham"

The writer was puzzled as to how to use the juice from her pickled peaches until the idea occurred to her of adding it to hams, either baked or boiled. The entire juice of a quart jar should be poured over the ham before baking or added to the water if the process is boiling.—Christian Science Monitor.

"Other Side of the Matter"

Mrs. Boorman Horton—we're kind o' proud of her!—says that the American woman is the flower of evolution. But we can't get it out of our minds that she is the dilsite of revolution, when she's denied anything.—Buffalo Evening Times.

"When Anger Tempts"

Anger makes anger. Quarrels eat up life like a canker worm. So the next time you write a red-hot letter don't post it at once. Read it again the next day, and you will be thankful that it was never posted, except in the nearest fire.

FIELD MARSHAL FRENCH IS DEAD

Was Commander of British Armies During the World War.

Deal, England.—The death here of the earl of Ypres, who, as Field Marshal French, was a British World War figure, came at a time when his great reputation was somewhat under a cloud and while controversy raged over his military strategy in France. The earl, who was seventy-three years old, had been ill since March 19, when he underwent an operation for appendicitis in a private hospital in London.

The controversy concerning the earl of Ypres has been before the British public particularly since he published his book on the war, entitled "1914," which contained much outspoken and adverse criticism of his subordinates and some French generals and which did not except Lord Kitchener.

The earl of Ypres entered the British service as a sailor, later gained fame as a cavalry leader and climaxed his career by commanding the British armies in a war in which cavalry was superseded by tanks, armored cars and airplanes. He won fame in the Boer war as a masterly cavalryman who turned a fiasco into victory for the British army.

When he retired from the British command in France he was made a viscount and after serving from 1918-'21 as lord lieutenant of Ireland the earldom was conferred, and Viscount French took for his title the place of his most famous victory in the World war, the village known as Ypres, called "Wypers" by the Canadians, who took and lost and took the town again. The earl suffered a slight wound in France.

Two Coast Guards Shot in War on Rum Runners

New York.—Two members of the coast guard were shot as the result of rum runners' activities near Atlantic City.

John Holmes and Morton Bragg of the coast guard station at Sea Isle City, N. J., were wounded. Holmes was patrolling the beach between Sea Isle City and Atlantic City, when he came across rum runners who are believed to have been escaping after landing a load of whisky.

Holmes was shot in the left arm when he called to the men to stop. He says the shot came from the boat. Falling in the sand, he exchanged several shots with rum runners.

Bragg was shot by other coast guards, who mistook him for one of the smugglers trying to escape.

The boys are believed to have been killed by a northbound freight train while stealing a ride. The dead are Donald Boyles, fifteen; Glenn Boyles, thirteen, and Sheridan Butler, twelve. All lived in Dugger, Ind.

Storm in Illinois Kills Three; 3 Die in Colorado

St. Louis.—A severe wind and electrical storm swept over portions of southern Illinois unroofing houses, blowing down trees and causing at least three deaths.

Dwight Stewart, shot in the forehead, may not live. The others are not seriously hurt.

ACQUITS DAVIS OF BRIBERY CHARGE

Former Governor of Kansas Vindicated by Jury

Courthouse, Topeka, Kan.—Jonathan M. Davis, former Kansas governor, was acquitted on a charge of conspiracy to solicit a bribe.

Four ballots were taken by the jury. The audience applauded tumultuously.

The specific charge against Davis alleged that he conspired with Carl J. Peterson, former state bank commissioner, to ask money for issuing a pardon to Walter Grundy, convicted banker.

Counsel for the state, headed by Attorney C. B. Griffith, demanded a penitentiary sentence for the former state executive, while the jury was asked by the defense to acquit "this good-hearted and honest man."

Mrs. Davis sat all day at her husband's side as she had throughout the preceding seven days while the state tried to prove that her husband solicited $2,500 from Anthony I. Oswald, young Hutchinson lawyer, before considering the parole application of Oswald's convict client, Grundy.

Mrs. Davis listened intently while the lawyers debated the charges that her son, Russell, had obtained $1,250 from Fred Pollman, a paroled convict, in exchange for a pardon. The Pollman evidence was introduced merely to show possible guilty motive in connection with Grundy's parole. Another criminal action remains pending against Russell and his father.

200 SCALDED TO DEATH IN QUAKE

Bathers Lose Lives in Japan When Springs Emit Boiling Water.

Tokyo.—There were many tragic scenes at Kimosaki Spa during the earthquake, where 600 visitors were taking baths. All the pavilions collapsed, trapping the bathers, many being scalded and burned to death.

The morning had been oppressively close, while the springs increased their flow exactly of the right temperature, inducing extra crowds to take the baths. Suddenly ten of the springs erupted scalding black water. Before the bathers were able to scramble out the earthquake shock threw every one prostrate while roofs collapsed. Those who managed to scramble safely out of the baths found the sliding doors jammed.

The town refugees sought safety in the forests on the surrounding hills, whose rolling rocks killed many of them. Of 4,000 at the resort 200 were killed and 600 injured.

Toyoooka suffered next in the disaster, a tenth of the population of 13,000 being killed and injured and two-thirds of its 3,000 houses collapsing, fire destroying the balance.

A typhonic wind which appears to follow quakes carried the blaze to surrounding forests, which burned, adding to the terror.

A semi-official summary, omitting those killed at Toyoooka, places the dead at from 400 to 500 and the injured at 1,000, and the houses destroyed at 2,000. The total damage is placed at between $70,000,000 and $100,000,000.

Press reports from Toyoooka state that two violent aftershocks occurred, but no damage resulted. Only slight shocks were registered in Osaka and Kyoto. Reports from Osaka say 127 bodies have been recovered from the earthquake ruins in Kinosaki and 48 at Toyoooka. Railway damages are estimated at $500,000.

Strange Tidal Wave on Lakes Huron and Ontario

Alpena, Mich.—A seven-foot fluctuation in the lake level, the greatest in the memory of any person living and without precedent, according to the Alpena station of the U. S. weather bureau, occurred along the Lake Huron shore of the lower peninsula of Michigan.

The greatest change was probably at Rockport, where the water rose four feet and fell seven feet, leaving one of the largest steel freighters on the bottom of a loading slip.

A barometric storm wave from west to east, with its center at Rockport, was the explanation of Meteorologist Frank Jermin of the local weather station.

A severe wind struck Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., and at Trout Lake, fifty miles away, reached the proportions of a tornado. It uprooted large trees, tore a veranda off Birch Lodge, a summer hotel, and ripped the roofs off barns.

Storms also caused damage mounting into hundreds of thousands of dollars in northeastern Ohio, central Minnesota and eastern North Dakota. Six persons were injured in Minnesota and North Dakota, and the property loss was estimated at from $500,000 to more than $1,000,000.

Buffalo, N. Y.—Wind, rain and what was described as a tidal wave struck a series of devastating blows at central and a portion of western New York, causing property damage estimated at thousands of dollars, but resulting in no deaths and few injuries.

Alleged Jury Fixer in Shepherd Case Is Held

Chicago.—Climaxing a week of alleged attempted jury fixing, bribery, coercion and the disappearance of a principal state's witness, State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe, in a heated session in open court accused Attorney William Scott Stewart and W. W. O'Brien of the William D. Shepherd defense with "trying to get a lot of crooks on Shepherd's jury."

The charge was made in the midst of contempt proceedings before Judge Thomas J. Lynch, in whose court Shepherd is on trial for the alleged killing of his millionaire ward, William Nelson McClintock, by inoculating him with typhoid germs for the purpose of obtaining young McClintock's $1,000,000 estate.

James C. Callan, a politician, who said he was employed as an "investigator," by the attorneys for the defense, was cited for contempt by Prosecutor Crowe on the grounds that he tried "to fix" Phillip Barry, a prospective jurymen. Judge Lynch held Callan under $2,500 bail.

Opening to Sea Urged by Speakers From 14 States

Michigan City, Ind.—Striving to arouse public opinion for the deepening of the St. Lawrence river to provide a sea outlet for the Great Lakes, twenty-one speakers addressed the fourth annual meeting of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Tidewater association here.

Fourteen states were represented by delegates at the conference. Two governors were present, Jackson of Indiana and Sorlie of North Dakota. Eight former governors were on the program and two more governors sent personal representatives.

"The West wants the way to the sea," was the slogan that found its way into the spirit of the conference. Former Governor Lowden of Illinois spoke for the right of the farmer to get his products to foreign ports by the cheapest and most efficient route.

It is estimated that it would take but fifty-eight miles of digging at a cost of about $250,000,000 to bring ocean ships to lake ports. The expense would be largely for the building of locks and channels around the Niagara falls and the Long Sloux rapids.

G. B. Means Seeks Refuge Within Walls of Prison

Washington.—With his back to the wall and facing renewed onslaughts of the government, Gaston B. Means, investigator extraordinary and central figure in many sensational episodes of recent American history, has sought refuge within the walls of Atlanta federal penitentiary.

Means' surrender came in District of Columbia Supreme court when he asked to be allowed to begin a two-year sentence imposed in New York on his conviction for conspiracy in connection with illegal whisky withdrawals. Pending against him is a charge of forgery involving signing of the name of Senator Smith W. Brookhart of Iowa and relating to documents figuring in the Daugherty investigation.

Sensational testimony was given by Means in the Daugherty inquiry.

CHILDREN LOSE GOULD MILLIONS

Boy and Two Girls Born of Guinevere Sinclair Disinherited.

New York.—The three children of the late George J. Gould by Guinevere Sinclair Gould will not share in the estate of their father's father, Jay Gould.

By a decision handed down by Referee James A. O'Gorman, George S., ten; Jane S., nine, and Guinevere, three, were eliminated from any participation in the $82,000,000 estate.

Those who will profit by the decision are Gloria Gould Bishop, Jay Gould, Kingdon Gould, Edith Gould, Marjorie Gould Drexel and Vivian Gould (Lady Deedes), children of George J. by his first wife, Edith Kingdon Gould.

The decision has long been awaited by numerous attorneys on both sides, but it came at this time as a complete surprise.

The clause of the will in controversy is the so-called "marriage clause" by which Jay Gould stipulated that any of his children who married after his death without the consent of a majority of the trustees of the estate would forfeit one-half their share.

Referee O'Gorman held that this clause applies only to first marriages and not to second ones.

"If, in my opinion," Referee O'Gorman said, "it should be held that the restraint extended beyond the first marriage, it would be inconsistent with public policy, and should be adjudged void, especially considering that the persons whose consents were necessary were persons who would profit in each instance by withholding it."

Then, in barring the children of Mrs. Guinevere Sinclair Gould, the court said:

"The claim that the three children of George J. Gould by his second marriage are entitled to participation in the trust fund created for George J. Gould's benefit, is without merit and must be dismissed. These children were born out of wedlock, and are not issue of George J. Gould within the meaning of the term as employed in the will of Jay Gould."

The three children are, however, amply provided for, as George Gould in his will left his own property to the youngsters by his second marriage.

Menace of Rifians More Serious Than Reported

Fez, French Morocco.—It was admitted in military circles here that the menace of the Rifians under Abd-el-Krim, who recently invaded French Morocco from the Spanish zone, is more grave than previously stated.

Gen. Count de Chambrun has taken active charge of the operations of the forces of Colonel Freydenberg and General Cambay on the center and right fronts.

Meanwhile the French are trying to liberate a number of their advanced posts in the Taounat region, which the Rifians have surrounded and are besieging. The method is to advance, establish the posts, and then retire, leaving the big masses of troops free to act wherever necessary along the front.

Coroner's Jury Frees Girl Who Killed Mother's Rival

Chicago.—Six members of a coroner's jury listened to sixteen-year-old Lucille Wunsch confess the murder of Miss Agnes Sinnick, twenty-eight. The jurors then extended the unwritten law to cover the killing, exonerating Lucille of all blame, calling the shooting accidental.

In 38 hours Lucille, a quiet, home-loving schoolgirl of Riverdale, had killed the woman who had threatened to break up the Wunsch home, had been arrested, had been the center of a sensational inquest, and had heard herself cleared of blame.

Deputy Coroner J. J. Dedrick read the verdict which the jury had reached after 20 minutes' deliberation.

Presbyterians Elect C. R. Erdman, Moderator

Columbus, Ohio.—The Chicago Idea, as expressed at the last meeting of the Chicago Presbytery, won when the general assembly of the Presbyterian church of the United States elected Dr. Charles R. Erdman of Princeton Theological seminary, New York, moderator for the coming year.

Chicago pleaded for the elimination in the discussions of the terms "fundamentalists" and "modernists" and the restoration of peace.

Doctor Erdman is professor of practical theology in the Princeton University Theological seminary. He is fifty-nine years of age and was formerly a pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Germantown, Pa.

Car Goes Over Bluff; 3 Die

Asking the Impossible
Betty and Petey had been playing hard all day and were worn out when evening came. They were nearly at "swords' points" when Betty said a few cross words that "broke the camel's back."
"Betty," said Petey, very much put out, "Can't you be a lil' gentlerman?" Betty stopped, put her finger into her mouth and from then on played by herself.
