and future possibilities.

In the news this week, we notice
conditions and vocations in a way that will hold our readers' interest in the coming winter, and we shaded copy much from many departments, state, municipal and history.

The aim is to help sell Michigan

ner as to make it possible for them to others that many may be bene-efitted in mind as well as in the general dealings in the future,

We note Uncle Sam using bills to his advantage. We should be good to do this if we do not make a full use of our money.

A number of people are enjoying the supply of small bills
at the Bank of the State.

We do not know the reason for the new law requiring these small bills, but it is to be expected that it be done. So it is.

FARM BIRDS EAT NUMEROUS PESTS

Lime and Legumes Build Up Fertility in Immediate Profits When Properly Used.

The economic value of birds, especially those of the wild, cannot be too strongly emphasized. A survey of the United States Department of Agriculture shows that wild birds are the principal reason for the production of many of our native plants and animals. In fact, the birds play an important role in the production of many of our wild plants and animals.

When birds are present in a wildlife area, they help to control the population of insects, which can cause significant damage to crops and other plants. Birds also help to control the population of small animals, such as mice and rats, which can spread diseases and cause other problems. In addition, birds are important for pollination, which helps to ensure the survival of many wild plants.

In conclusion, wild birds are valuable for the economic and ecological benefits they provide. It is important to protect and conserve their habitats to ensure their continued existence.

MICHIGAN HAPPENINGS

Michigan's right to fish in Michigan waters has been upheld by the Michigan Supreme Court. In a 1999 decision, the court ruled that the state had the right to regulate fishing in its waters, and that the federal government did not have the authority to preempt state regulations.

The decision has implications for fishing rights in other states as well. In particular, it affects the rights of Native Americans to fish in federal waters, as well as the rights of other states to regulate fishing in their own waters.

In summary, the Michigan Supreme Court's decision in 1999 has important implications for fishing rights in the United States. It upholds the right of states to regulate fishing in their own waters, and it provides a model for other states as they navigate the complex legal landscape of fishing rights.

Soil Test in Disease

One of several boys who went swimming with the dog in the creek died from drowning. The dog, a young black lab, was swimming in the creek when it began to swim towards the boys. The boys tried to pull it back, but the dog ran away and swam away from them.

The dog had been swimming in the creek for several days prior to the incident. It is unclear whether the dog was intentionally swimming or if it was simply playing in the water.

In summary, the incident serves as a reminder of the importance of being cautious when swimming with pets in natural bodies of water. It is important to be aware of the potential dangers and to take appropriate precautions to ensure the safety of both humans and animals.

BETTER DAIRY PRACTICES INCREASE PROFITABLE FARMING

Biller and Luster, owners of a cow farm in rural Michigan, have implemented several practices to increase the profitability of their dairy operation. These practices include feeding a high-quality diet, providing adequate shelter and bedding, and maintaining a clean and healthy environment for the cows.

In summary, these practices have helped the farm to maintain a high level of productivity and profitability, and they serve as a model for other dairy farmers seeking to increase the profitability of their operations.

RESINOL

In conclusion, poultry raising requires a combination of knowledge, skill, and care. It is important to have a clear understanding of the needs of the birds and to provide a healthy and supportive environment to ensure their success.

TURFCADES

Turfcades are a type of lawn that is designed to look like a natural grassy area, but is actually a carefully planned and maintained turf area. They are created by selecting a specific type of grass, creating a composition of soil and other materials, and then maintaining the turf area to achieve the desired look.

In conclusion, turfcades are a creative and practical solution for creating a natural-looking grassy area in an urban setting. They require careful planning and maintenance to achieve the desired look, but they can be a valuable addition to any urban landscape.

The Black Gang

By CYRIL MCNEILL

Copyrighted by GEORGE B. DODD CO.

DODD, SIEGEL & COMPANY.

CHAPTER IV

In which a Bomb Bursts at Unpleasantly Close Quarters

For weeks, the members of the Black Gang had been on the lookout for any opportunity to carry out their plans. They had been following the activities of several of the firm's enemies, hoping to find a weak spot in their defenses. Finally, they had an opportunity to strike. The gang had been invited to a meeting, and they were determined to make the most of it.

The meeting was held in the large conference room of the firm. The gang members were concealed in the shadows, waiting for the right moment to strike. Suddenly, one of the gang members emerged from the shadows and began to speak.

"We have been following the activities of several of our enemies," he said. "We have seen a weakness in their defenses, and we are going to take advantage of it.

"We have planned a bombing attack on the firm's headquarters. We will strike at dawn, and we will destroy everything in our path.

"The所以我们 will not suffer. We will rise up and take what is rightfully ours."

The gang members cheered as the speaker finished his speech. They were ready to strike. They were ready to take control of the firm.

Having a stroke is a serious risk. In fact, approximately one in three people aged 65 or older will have a stroke. The Stroke Society of Canada estimates that one in five Canadians will suffer a stroke during their lifetime.

The Stroke Society of Canada recommends that all Canadians should be aware of the signs of a stroke and know what to do if they see them. The signs of a stroke include:

- Sudden trouble speaking or understanding speech
- Suddenly numbness or weakness in the face, arm, or leg on one side of the body
- Sudden confusion, trouble seeing, trouble walking, dizziness, loss of balance, or loss of coordination

If you see any of these signs, call 911 immediately. Time is critical, and the sooner you get medical help, the better your chances of a full recovery.

Unassodally Postponed

John had been looking forward to the event for weeks. He had been planning it carefully, and he was excited to see it come to fruition. However, destiny had other plans.

"I'm afraid I have to postpone the event," John said. "Something has come up that I cannot predict or control.

"I will keep you posted as soon as I know more. For now, I must focus on the task at hand."

John left the room, and the others were left to wonder what was going on. They were all excited to see the event, and they were eager to know what had caused the postponement.

Soap 1c a Bar

Make it this easy way—No Boiling

Now make your own soap easily and without the need for boiling. You can make it from hotel soaps or from bars of soap. It's easy and requires no special equipment.

To make your own soap:

1. Take a bar of soap and cut it into small pieces.
2. Place the soap in a pot of boiling water.
3. Stir until the soap is melted, then remove from the heat.
4. Pour the soap into a mold.
5. Let the soap cool and harden.

Your homemade soap is now ready to use. It is just as good as any store-bought soap, and it is much cheaper.
