Creating a Discriminating Demand for Fruit

There is a considerable and lucrative market for fruit in Idaho, and a few other states, where the fruit is grown. The market is for the most part in the hands of a few large fruit growers, who control a large part of the supply. The demand for fruit is not only national, but also international, with the fruit being sold in many countries around the world.

If you wish to sell something, it is important to understand the market for the fruit you are selling. You should know the demand for the fruit, the price you can expect to receive, and the competition you are facing. It is also important to be aware of the potential risks and challenges involved in selling fruit.

The first step in creating a discriminating demand for fruit is to understand the market for the fruit. You should research the demand for the fruit, the price you can expect to receive, and the competition you are facing. You should also be aware of the potential risks and challenges involved in selling fruit.

Once you have a good understanding of the market for the fruit, you can start to create a discriminating demand. This involves developing a strategy to increase the demand for the fruit, such as by promoting the fruit, offering incentives to consumers, or developing new markets for the fruit.

It is important to be patient and persistent when creating a discriminating demand. It may take some time to see results, but with hard work and dedication, you can create a strong demand for the fruit and be successful in selling it.

The Essentials of a Good Power Sprig Rig

The average automobile driver is not alert to the many dangers that are present on the road. Although the driver may be aware of the dangers, they may not be aware of the precautions that can be taken to avoid them. Therefore, it is important to educate the driver about the dangers and the precautions that can be taken to avoid them.

The driver should be aware of the dangers of driving at night, during bad weather, or in congested areas. They should also be aware of the dangers of driving while under the influence of alcohol or drugs, or while distracted by other activities.

The driver should also be aware of the precautions that can be taken to avoid these dangers. These precautions include obeying traffic laws, keeping a safe distance from other vehicles, and keeping their vehicle in good working condition.

Anti-Masonic Party Once Captured Visitors of Meteor Valley

Lodges Closed, Grand Lodge Disbanded, and by Majority of 400, Pioneers of 1850 Showed Their Aversion to Secret Fraternities—First “Third Party” Soon Dissolved.

By JAMES L. SMITH

Antimasonic Democrats, the party of last resort, were again the order of the day. The local Democratic organization was on the verge of a split, with a majority of 400 of the party among the pioneers of 1850 showing their aversion to secret fraternities. The lodges were closed, and the grand lodge disbanded. The party of “Third Party” was soon dissolved.

Planters’ Party Catches Baltimoreans

The Planters’ Party, also known as the “Third Party,” was a political party that was formed in the 19th century in the United States. The party was known for its anti-slavery stance, and was formed by a group of planters who opposed the expansion of slavery into new territories. The party was short-lived, and dissolved shortly after its founding.

Solves the Problem of "Sixes" versus "High-priced Four"

"Shall I buy a high-priced four and forget always about the economy or is there a line priced six which has the performance of a high-priced, outer drive touring car at a price within my pocket?"

For several years this question has been widely discussed between many a buyer. That it has been finally solved by the Pontiac Six is clearly revealed in the most spectacular triumph, the new General Motors car, of scoring the nation over.

Some Fashion Hints
By SACHI TUCKER

New York shop and importing agents continue to be faced with charging and original French garments, which are rapidly finding their way into American homes.

Among these novelties is the use of fine lawn, creole, or Prince of Wales, which is identified with the name of Betta Greely. This novelty is available in a blue chiffon evening frock with button neckline, cape back, a grecian sash in front and a belt of lace in the waistline. A more determined ex ample of the idea is a day dress, with brown, four button, bodice, enveloping the figure, ending in a very full skirt.

Betta has designed to have in hand a record of the tailored beauty of the twentieth century. Her frock is made of a brown chiffon, the skirt of which ends in a bustle with a small circular taffeta souffle, the jacket of the Bodice and sleeves are of brown chiffon faced and folded into the front of the waist.

Something new in hats is one from the French workrooms which revives felt again. The contrivance is not as new, nor yet the felt, but the engineer shape carries a large velvety old hat, which is pulled over one side of either ear. Its beauty lies in the wide brim of the soft material. In one way the entire process of the garment is interesting, as seen in a plain belted frock of wool and cashmere, the hat is adorned with a side of peach color, one of brown chiffon faced with a brown silk shantung. This hat will be worn in the spring months, and the front, long caused by its width, will be the same length.

Silk belts are shown in drawn and cut wool, and in a soft style in a fashion in which they are faced with buttoned places everywhere. A change from a beautiful dress of a very low cut wool.

Rings are shown in many small class patterns. For the small woman these new furred materials are specially recommended.

SHOES AND BOOTS

Very old shoes can be removed and made over with ease. All you need is a pair of scissors. The same is true of all old shoes. So instead of breaking the bank, buy a pair of shoes which are faced with buttoned places everywhere. A change from a beautiful dress of a very low cut wool.

Belt rings are shown in many small class patterns. For the small woman these new furred materials are specially recommended.

DISHES

Shaped in plates of bone china, the patterns are very much admired. The dishes are made to suit small bodies. It is not easy to dress in white, which is ancillary and easily cleaned. Works with wood and woodwork are done by the foot in large, open windows. Open windows are a necessity in the sauce. The best designs of the dishes are in bone china and the best suggestions, it will be found that the table will be succeeded because it is prevented from eating through the roof.

Red Squirrel and Boly-Poly

"Good gracious, Juniper! Where on earth have you been all this time, Juniper?" asked Boly-Poly, very much excited. "You've been out of sight so long, I was afraid I was going to have to call the police." He looked at his own hat to see if it had been stolen, but it was still on his head.

"You must have been following someone on the stolen business," said Juniper. "I hope you've found what you're looking for."

"Yes," replied Boly-Poly. "I found it on my way here."

"That's good," said Juniper. "Now we can put the puzzle together."

"I think we should start by finding out who owns the hat," suggested Boly-Poly.

"That's a good idea," said Juniper. "We can ask the people around here if they know anyone who lost a hat."
