"Her Dimpled Highness"

By Florence Smith Vincent

Distinguished by her dimples, she has a magnetism which makes her entertaining companion. She is charming and delightful, and her radiant spirit makes her a joy to everyone around her.

When you can't have what you like

"Think a minute, children, and tell me: can we ever have what we want?" Mother Gently broke off in the middle of her sentence. "Do what seems to be the proper thing to do, and you will find that you have what you never could have had if you didn't do what you did.

It wouldn't be fair to let there be any more repetitions in the world—more, that is, than there are now, since there is no reason why they should be made."

It's just as well, of course, that he wouldn't have dreamed of telling it had he known."

"But—" answered Betty-

"But," interrupted Betty, "you see, I'm not going to tell you what I'm thinking about it."

"You see," answered Betty, "as you can see, I'm going to tell you what I'm thinking about it."

"My father," answered Betty, "my mother, and as you know, I'm going to tell you what I'm thinking about it."

"He's not," answered Betty, "my mother, and as you know, I'm going to tell you what I'm thinking about it."

"He's not," answered Betty, "my mother, and as you know, I'm going to tell you what I'm thinking about it."

"He's not," answered Betty, "my mother, and as you know, I'm going to tell you what I'm thinking about it."
The story of Grosse Ile
By REV. JOHN R. COMWARD

A resident of almost sixty years moves to tell the story of Grosse Ile, the island on which he was born, and the daydreams of the island's future. The story is one of course of all kinds, the island's history, its people, and the struggles with the harsh climate of the island. The narrative is told with the care of a historian, bringing to life the events of those times and those who were involved. The story is a vivid picture of the history of the island, and how it has evolved over the years. The present and past of Grosse Ile are brought together to show the island's rich history and culture.

Power is one reason for Pontiac Six popularity

Powered by the largest available engine used in any car costing less than $1000, the Pontiac Six exhibits a performance range entirely new in its field. Power to spare up hills. Power to carry you—and carry you steadily through mud and sand. More power than any other car at its price—and a permanent source of power too.Beauty, comfort, economy and roadability—in all these qualities the Pontiac Six represents a decisive departure from low-priced class. Yet, a Pontiac Six is a machine of proven reputation in wheelbase, weight and price. It ranks as one outstanding Engineering Triumph of the Day.

The Muscle Shoals Project at the Crossroads
By CHARLES J. BRAND
The Muscle Shoals Review

On this page is reproduced a striking Air Service photographs of the Wilson Dam at Muscle Shoals, Ala., in order to convey some idea of the size of the project. The figures for the Muscle Shoals Project are as follows:

Total sales - 165,474
Portion containing nitrogen - 111,170
Portion containing carbon - 140,000

The Muscle Shoals Project is one of the most important developments in the history of the United States. The project, which is now under construction, will have an annual output of 1,000,000,000 kWh of electrical energy, making it one of the largest power stations in the world.

The Muscle Shoals Project is located on the Tennessee River, near the town of Muscle Shoals, Alabama. The project was authorized by the U.S. Congress in 1933 and construction began in 1934. The project was completed in 1939 and has been in operation ever since.

The Muscle Shoals Project consists of two large dams, the Wilson Dam and the Wheeler Dam, which are used to regulate the flow of the Tennessee River and store water for later use. The project also includes a series of power plants that use the stored water to generate electricity.

The Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA) is responsible for the operation and maintenance of the Muscle Shoals Project. The TVA is a federal agency that was established in 1933 to develop the Tennessee Valley, a region that includes parts of seven states.

The Muscle Shoals Project has had a significant impact on the region, providing cheap and reliable electricity to millions of people. The project has also helped to control floods and improve navigation on the Tennessee River.

In recent years, the Muscle Shoals Project has faced challenges related to aging infrastructure and changing energy needs. However, the TVA is committed to maintaining the project and ensuring its continued operation for many years to come.
Mr. McKenna presently knocked the pad of his cigar to the edge of the table, then ground it out on the floor. "I'm wondering," he said, regarding his brother-in-law, "what you've been doing with your time. I mean, what have you been doing here for the last few weeks, and not to tell me anything—nothing bad, I hope." He looked up at me and I knew he meant me. I felt hot and I knew my face was red. "There was a very heavy mail for you which I gave you, and you've been here for the last few weeks. So I hope you're not doing anything dishonest."

I knew he was watching me closely, and I felt uncomfortable. I didn't know what to say, so I just nodded my head. "Well, I'm not doing anything dishonest," I said. "I'm just doing what I was doing before."

I knew that wasn't true, and I knew he knew it too. But I didn't know what to say, so I just nodded my head again. "I'm going to bed now," I said. "I'm very tired."

I was really tired, but I didn't want to go to bed. I wanted to stay up and think about what was going on. But I knew I had to go to bed. I didn't want to think about it anymore. I just wanted to sleep and forget about it all.

Mr. McKenna looked down at his watch. "It's time to go to bed," he said. "I'm going to bed now."

I nodded my head again. "Okay," I said. "I'll go to bed too."

I didn't want to go to bed, but I didn't want to stay up either. I just wanted to be alone. I wanted to think about what was going on. But I knew I had to go to bed. I just wanted to sleep and forget about it all.

I was lying in bed, trying to sleep. I couldn't sleep. I knew something was going on, and I knew I had to find out what it was. I didn't know what to do, but I knew I had to do something. I just wanted to be alone. I wanted to think about what was going on. But I knew I had to go to bed. I just wanted to sleep and forget about it all.

GOING TO THE FAIR?

Most everyone plans a full celebration. She makes a week long, being more the fairer she has a little time to herself and for that reason the money is in the fair. Of course, that is one of the many reasons.

While taking off, why not make it a real celebration, as well as a retail sale of goods, to the best of our improved Fair. The 1923 season has been the one improvement and it will be well worth your time to take these shows. Here are some suggestions:
