In Closing

The past year has been a busy one for Gobles and the surrounding area. The Hill of Detroit visited his paisans, and Mrs. and Mrs. Reibel had the hill of Detroit on their special day. The village has been growing rapidly, with new businesses opening and old ones expanding. In December, 1926, the first fire was put out by the volunteer fire department. The town is prospering and the future looks bright.

Another "Hoss" Kicks Over the Traces

A new phase in the case of Governor Butler, of California, charged with selling government contracts worth $3,000,000 to a private company, has developed recently. Governor Butler, in his last public appearance, made a statement that he was prepared to meet the charges head-on.

The charges were brought by the United States Department of Justice, who alleged that Butler had sold defense contracts to companies who were not qualified to perform the work. Governor Butler denied the charges, saying that the contracts were awarded on the basis of merit and that there was nothing illegal about them.

The case is expected to go to trial within the next few weeks, and it is anticipated that it will be a highly publicized event.

State to Question Lenawee Firebugs

The state is taking a close look at the Lenawee County firebugs, who have been causing problems in recent months. The firebugs have been responsible for several fires, including one that destroyed several homes.

The state has ordered an investigation into the activities of the firebugs, and it is anticipated that the results will be made public in the near future.

Will REPRODUCE MACKINAW TRAIL

The Mackinaw Trail is to be reproduced in full color, with a special emphasis on the historical aspects of the trail. The project is expected to receive significant funding, and it is anticipated that it will be completed within the next two years.

The trail will be an important educational tool, providing a glimpse into the past for future generations.

For Marine Law Breach

The Ports and Navigators, Inc., has been ordered to return to the United States. The company has been fined $5,000 by the Government for violating the marine law.

The fine is expected to be a significant deterrent for other companies, who are warned that violations will not be tolerated.

Estate of Grocer

May Reach $50,000

The will of the late William J. Common, owner of the world-famous Common's Grocery, was recently probated in the courts.

The will leaves a significant amount of money to various beneficiaries, including the city and the county. The estate is expected to reach a total of $50,000,000.

The will was probated several months ago and the estate has been administered by the executors.

The executors have been working diligently to ensure that the estate is distributed fairly and equitably.

Mother's Appeal for Support

The New "Direct" Way

A new approach to marketing has been introduced by a leading insurance company.

The company has developed a "direct" sales model, which eliminates the need for intermediaries and allows customers to buy directly from the company.

This approach is expected to be a significant improvement over traditional sales methods.

The company has already seen a surge in sales since the introduction of the new model.

Vicks

Over 2 Million Units Sold

Vicks has announced that its most popular product, Vicks VapoRub, has reached a milestone of over 2 million units sold in the United States.

The milestone was reached earlier this year, and it is expected to be a significant achievement for the company.

The product has been a favorite of customers for many years, and it is anticipated that sales will continue to grow.

We will not cut corners when it comes to customer satisfaction. Our goal is to ensure that every customer is 100% satisfied with our products.

Guaranteed. You'll love it or your money back.
Grass Lake Soon in Century Old

In three years, Grass Lake, the oldest village in Jackson County, will be 100 years old. The celebration of the centennial of the village will be held in a fitting style at a light in a church service on April 24, 1951.

The village of Grass Lake was founded in 1851, and the site of the village was selected by a group of settlers who came from Ohio and Pennsylvania.

A. G. Landeck of Albion, who was first in the township to plant corn, conducted the Michigan State College experiment station at Grass Lake. The station has been in operation since 1947, and has been very successful in training future farmers, particularly black farmers, to work with the soils of the region.

In 1942, they were George and Mary Groth, who purchased the land from the St. Louis and St. Louis Railroad Company. They traveled over the Old Branch line of the railroad from the eastern end of the state and finally, as it is now known, to Grass Lake.

The town was named after the grassy lake in the vicinity of the village. Groth and his wife, Mary, were among the first settlers in the area. They cleared the land, planted corn, and built a small log cabin.

In 1853, they built a sawmill on the site of the present village. The sawmill soon became the center of the community.

The earliest known record of the village dates back to 1851, and it was on this date that the village was incorporated as a town.

Have We Reached The Danger Line In Taxation?

AMERICAN railroad men are pursuing new Albasien. This year, the earnings of the Pennsylvania Railroad alone are estimated at $1,400,000,000, and are expected to range between $1,300,000,000 and $1,600,000,000, which may be expressed in various ways, although meaning the same heavy load.

That they will have a larger profit is a certainty. J. P. Morgan, Jr., and the men who have been in charge of the Pennsylvania, have been so successful that the railroad is expected to make a profit of $1,500,000,000 on the earnings of the Pennsylvania.

If the railroad is to be operated at a profit, it will have to pay taxes. And the large profits of the Pennsylvania Railroad will make it a very large taxpayer.

The railroad will have to pay taxes in the amount of one out of every four for the payment of taxes.

The national government has borrowed $500,000,000 from the United States, and is to pay $500,000,000 of the tax on its earnings to the United States for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1910. During this period of federal debt reduction, the state and local governments will also be able to make use of the large profits of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

The Pennsylvania Railroad is one of the largest of 2,200 railroads in the United States, and has a total capitalization of over $1,000,000,000. It has 2,200 miles of track, and is one of the largest of the railroads in the United States.

The total public debt of all government in this country is greater than the total of the war debts.

The Pennsylvania Railroad is being reduced at the rate of three quarters of a billion dollars a year.

State and local debt is being increased at the rate of more than a billion dollars a year.

From January 1910, to January 1912, national government increased its interest payments on national debt $1,000,000,000.

During the same period current expenditures by state and local governments increased two more than two billion dollars a year.

Rising taxes are one of the main causes of the increase of the railroad's debt. The Pennsylvania Railroad is one of the largest of the railroads in the United States, and has a total capitalization of over $1,000,000,000. It has 2,200 miles of track, and is one of the largest of the railroads in the United States.

The family of R. J. Signorini, owner of the Pennsylvania Railroad, has a million dollars in the railroad. The family of Signorini, the owner of the railroad, has a million dollars in the railroad.

Lester Hoyt and his wife were among the first to apply for a bond, and they were among the first to apply for a bond.

The railroad is one of the largest of the railroads in the United States, and has a total capitalization of over $1,000,000,000. It has 2,200 miles of track, and is one of the largest of the railroads in the United States.

Teach Him It

Real Meaning

How many of us know the real meaning of safety? To many of us the word "safety" is just a word that we say or hear. But it is not something that we actually understand or apply in our daily lives. Safety is not just about avoiding accidents or injuries; it is about creating a culture where safety is a priority and everyone is responsible for ensuring that it is achieved.

In this week's issue of "Teach Him It," we explore the real meaning of safety and how it can be achieved. We discuss the importance of understanding the causes of accidents and injuries, and how we can prevent them by taking proactive steps. We also examine the role of leadership in promoting a culture of safety and how it can be achieved.

This issue includes articles by experts in the field of safety and includes tips and strategies for creating a safer workplace. We believe that everyone can play a role in promoting safety, and we encourage you to read this issue to learn more about the real meaning of safety and how you can contribute to creating a safer world.

Don't forget to share this issue with your colleagues and friends, and let's work together to create a safer world.

Juvenile Crime is Studied by Commission

Michigan's indeterminate sentence system, now the best in the country, is being studied by a joint commission of experts from various states. The commission is being formed to determine if the Michigan system is just, and whether or not it should be copied by other states.

The commission has already been appointed, and will begin its work next month. Its members will include representatives from the penal systems of various states, including Michigan, Illinois, New York, and California.

The commission will study the Michigan system in detail, and will report its findings to the state legislature next year. The hope is that the findings will help to improve the Michigan system, and to make it even more effective in the future.

Five Refuge Sites Selected in State to Aid shaken infants

Five new shelter sites have been selected for the state to aid shaken infants. These sites are located in Ann Arbor, Detroit, Gary, and Dearborn. They will provide a safe and warm place for infants who have been shaken, and will offer support and guidance to parents.

The sites are part of a larger effort to prevent shaken baby syndrome, a serious and often deadly condition that affects infants. By providing a safe place for shaken infants, the state hopes to reduce the number of cases of shaken baby syndrome in the future.

Education Is Called a Five-Fold Process

The Bureau of Education, Department of the Interior, has just made a new call for the development of education. The bureau has stated that education is a five-fold process, and that each of these five processes is necessary for a child to receive a proper education.

The five processes are: 1) instruction, 2) supervision, 3) evaluation, 4) guidance, and 5) encouragement. Each of these processes is important, and each must be given the proper attention in order for a child to receive a proper education.

Chapeaux Shrink

Many of the hats that were purchased for the season have started to shrink. This is due to the fact that the hats were made of a stretchy material that has been stretched out over time. People are now required to return their hats to the store for a proper fit.

Curfew Voted for Children of Akron

At a meeting of the parents and the Akron School Board, a curfew was established for children. The curfew is designed to keep children off the streets after a certain hour, and to ensure that they are properly supervised.

The curfew is set at 9 p.m. for children under 16, and at 10 p.m. for children over 16. Parents are required to ensure that their children are home by these times.

Poems I Love

By Charles Harlow Towle

"Great is the joy to know thee, Great is the love to find thee, Great is the wonder to look into the eye of thee."---By Longfellow.

"Longfellow's" was the name given to a group of poets and writers who lived in the early 19th century. They were known for their romantic and historical poems, and for their love of nature.

Their work is still enjoyed today, and their poems are often quoted in books and on cards. Their love for nature is still evident in many of their works, and their poetry is a reminder of the beauty that can be found in the world around us.
