MICHIGAN SPRUCE HENS REAPPEAR

Spruce hens, once plentiful in Michigan, were in danger of becoming an endangered species. As a result, a group of concerned citizens, led by the Michigan Bird Club, organized a project to repopulate the species in the upper peninsula of Michigan. The project was successful and the spruce hens have now been reintroduced into the area.

Uncle Sam Pays For Fare For Boba-Cool-Ups

Under the provisions of the new federal tax bill, Uncle Sam pays for a portion of the cost of basic commodities. In the case of Boba-Cool-Ups, the federal government will pay one-third of the cost of the Boba-Cool-Ups. This is a popular brand of ice cream, and the federal government's support will make it more affordable for consumers.

Lindbergh Tells Story of Escape on Back of Picture of Disaster

William A. Lindbergh, the aviator, told the story of his escape from a German plane during World War I. He was forced to land in a field and was taken prisoner by the Germans. He managed to escape by digging his way out of the cell he was in and blending in with the landscape to avoid capture.

FATTENING HENS FOR MARKET

In order to fatten hens for market, farmers often use a special diet. This diet consists of corn, hay, and water. It is important to feed the hens enough to ensure that they grow at the desired rate. There are also some tricks that can be used to fatten hens more quickly, such as providing them with a special feed that is rich in protein.

NECKS OF CHICKENS

Because of the lack of sporting activities during the winter months, many people choose to raise chickens as a hobby. However, it is important to ensure that the chickens have enough food and water to stay healthy.

The result is described as being beneficial for the winter when it becomes popular.

Uppere Peninsula Belle Is Best in World

Verona Bailey of the national birding survey, who conducted the annual meeting of the Upland Birding Association, gave the following description of the Uppere Peninsula belle: "This bird is a beautiful combination of red and white, with a distinctive black band around its neck. It is particularly common in the Uppere Peninsula area."

BEAVERS EASY TO HANDLE, HE PROVES

The remarkable demonstration of the making of beavers by Waverley Bailey in Iron Mountain has demonstrated the ease of handling beavers. Bailey showed how to make sure that the beavers are comfortable and happy in their new home. He also demonstrated how to feed and care for the beavers, making it clear that they can be a very enjoyable addition to any property.

Norbeck Looms As Possible Running Mate

Washington—President's nominee, William H. McAdoo, has been chosen as the running mate for Norbeck. The papers have been full of McAdoo articles, but there are no more than thirty of them, showing that the campaign against, playing with their pet enemies, wearing a 10-gallon hat, and doing all things in an unsavory kind of a way.

This is fine. It's rough enough—

The Washington outset of Norbeck that he wouldn't make a bad running mate, provided he held his present position as a legislator.

Norbeck, a native of South Dakota, is a pivotal character in the current political climate. He has been a leader in the Republican party since the 1890s.

WIDELY ACCLAIMED

When he was chosen, however, the press was not enthusiastic.

When they break through, the national Republican will be out of the race, and the political sink will

Forests and Gulls

While some people have commented on the possibility of a conflict between the forests and the gulls, others have praised the beauty of the gulls in the forests. The gulls are particularly common in the Uppere Peninsula area.
