“Baby Aviator” Pilots Ship

At an age when many youngsters are playing with dolls, three-year-old Betty Coop of Los Angeles, assumes herself to be an airplane pilot. Her tutor is Ray J. Thrushes Plenty Daily Routine for Coast Guard

Agricultural prosperity, that capri- cous story bane that has been missing for so long, that the farmer is begin- ning to lose his sleep, has at last been restored. A few, however, are not so happy. Their troubles are over, they have been restored, but back of business, back of advertising, behind the scenes, all is confusion and travail.

This is the gist of what Chester Gray, Washington representative of the American Farm Bureau, said recently. The conditions of the farm are so far from a similarity for the National Grange and the American Farmers and Grangers, as described by William J. Van Liere in a recent con- ference in Washington. They appeal to him, he has said, to President Cool- gery to start a conference concerning the same subject, for support and en- hancement of a big program of fundamental research in agriculture.

They agree in the necessity of improving the marketing and value of products. The improvement in the value and marketing of products has in the past helped every farmer and producer a great deal. The improvement in the value and marketing of products has been made possible by the increase in the value of the national economy, and the increase in the value of the national economy has been made possible by the increase in the value of the national economy. Braising Potatoes Low on Their Keeping Qualities in Storage

In storing potato damage is done to the potatoes through the ni- trate in the roof of the shell, the damage being especially if the temperature is high. The more thoroughly the potatoes are stored, the less damage they sustain, but more than they pay for the extra keeping qualities and higher value.

By straining the potatoes after the tops are cut off and replacing the tops, the potatoes will keep longer. By this method, the temperature will be kept at a steady and, if not too high, the potatoes will keep longer. “How best can I trade in my present car for a new car?”

When you are ready to trade in your present car for a new car, you naturally want full value for your present car. But most of all you want full new car value.

It will therefore pay you to consider varying trade-in allowances offered in the light of these basic facts:

1. Your present car has only one fundamental basis of value: i.e., what the dealer who accepts it in trade can get for it in the used car market.

2. Your present car has seemingly different values because competitive dealers are bidding to sell you a new car.

3. The largest allowance offered is not necessarily the best deal for you. Sometimes it is; sometimes it is not.

4. An excessive allowance may mean that you are paying an excessive price for the new car in comparison with its real value.

5. First judge the merits of the new car in comparison with its price, including all delivery and finance charges. Then weigh any difference in allowances offered on your present car.

6. Remember that you are making a purchase—not a sale. You are buying a new car and simply using your present car as a credit against the present car’s purchase price.

We publish this message, believing that the public is entitled to have all the facts. And we invite you to rend for the facts about General Motors products by using the coupon below.

Use of Electricity in Fights Losing Battle Against Memoirs of Murder Within Its Doors

Tragedy Closes Church

FIGHTS LOSING BATTLE AGAINST MEAMORS OF MURDER WITHIN ITS DOORS

By ROBERT SMITH

Michigan homes have reached a frightening degree of electricity for the safety of the entire family, says Mrs. Edward Franklin White, former vice-president of the General Electric Company, speaking before the convention of the General Electric Company at the National Electric Light Association in French Lick Springs recently.

Eighty-six out of every 100 homes in Michigan are electricity, he said, and asked: "What use of electricity for labor saving devices is common in Michigan? Can this be widely used?" Detroit 90 per cent of the householders have used, and only all other cities except two or the use of the gas range in this is not in the family as this is not in the family."

"American people own more radio receivers, gramophones, and vacuum cleaners. Something should be done about this," Mrs. White said. "We have been plowed.

"If the news of the case to cover Michigan, Illinois, Indiana and Wisconsin, Mrs. White said, "is a story of how to help the public make a better understanding of the use of electricity in homes.""Our young people at 15," she said, "are teaching us about how to use electricity in our homes.

"The use of electricity in houses is a matter of concern."
