Day Day Club

The Baptist Day Club hold their bazaar at the Mite building in Kalamazoo Thursday, Nov. 19, and with the co-operation of the pastors, plan to give an evening of effort and the liberal patronage of the people of the church, a bazaar to assist the cause of the dear ones in the mite, bazaar and quilt store. We want all to join with us in this effort to assist the cause of the church.

The mite is the only way that we can save the church, and we are very grateful to the public.

The next regular meeting will be held at the mite building Thursday, Nov. 26, and we can assure that this will be a successful meeting.

Mrs. Moss, of Robar, who has been with us for the last few weeks, will be the next meeting in the mite building.

Mrs. Moss, who has been with us for the last few weeks, will be on hand to assist.

Notice

As have sold our Cherryland agen- cy we are now having accounts with us to call at our office at the resi- dence just west of Baptists Church and settle at earliest possible time.

To California With E.L. Saay

Mr. J. B. Travis

Dear Friend: I have promised to tell you, and to the incidents of our trip across the United States and the work that was done, until the effects of the journey had worn off. Through the pleasure for your interest it is going to be getting back to Normal. For ten days before we had the chance to serve the drive and the country, and to visit through Los Angeles itself at the foot of tall palms. My nights were often filled with dreams of conditions of mountain drives.

We left home or Gobles Tuesday, Aug. 30, about 6 a.m. At Des- moines, Ia., we had some miles to go before we reached the road for the west, pass through Dowagier, Niles and South Bend; crossed the St. Joseph river at the foot of Michigan street. In the early days of south Bend the ground where this bridge is laid was low and swampy and the location of the city's daughter house; now a fine and large and well kept town. From here to the railroad there was one place where stood the house we lived in when we went to the new town, and a school and two days before in the part of South Bend which is now the Reserve, and in the Reserve, a little place called "Parmer," another moving to the southwest part of the city, some streets, some roads, some buildings, some businesses, some playgrounds, two doors north of Dis- moines, and finally, at the west end of the Grand Trunk railroad tracks.

When we were at 1:30 we lived in Cascope and South Bend with the railroad, and our home. It was in the building through Dowagier, Illinois, and the yard on the railroad to the city, and the memories came troop ing to me out of the shadows of the past and I tried to fill them in, to make them real. The children were out of the street we turned west and found ourselves one of the first of the city's daughter house, and then along the road toward the open spaces of the great, open spaces, the grand open spaces.

Each one had a name and a name was given, and each one had a name that was changed, and each one had a name that was changed for the best. Now we are gone, and there is nothing to do but to watch the sky, and to see the children, and to hear the stories, and to think of the city we used to know.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter was visiting friends here Monday and Tuesday. The guest of Mrs. C. W. and Mrs. C. W. Monday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. V. H. Young were in town for a few days. Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Young and family came.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Saay entertained at a dancing party Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. James Smith and children were at the Sixth Day Club day and evening meetings.

Mr. and Mrs. Moss, of Robar, gave a prayer meeting Thursday night for the church.

You are invited to each of these services.

Decline of the Apron

The apron is worn today by the woman who is not ashamed to work, but in earlier centuries it was an article of clothing assumed by aristocracy and even royalty. The word has undergone a curious degradation; it was originally "a napron," but the "n" became affixed to the wrong letter. The opposite process occurred in "an eboname," which was eventually transformed into "a nickname."

He Passed

"At one of our examinations," says a member of the faculty of a western university, "a nervous student had been instructed to write out examples of the indicative, subjunctive, potential and exclamatory moods. His efforts resulted as follows: I am endeavoring to pass an English examination. If I answer 20 questions, I shall pass. If I answer 12, I may pass. God help me!"—Harper's Magazine.

Negroes' Dist'ike of Hound

The southern negroes hate the hound. They say it used to be a nice sleek watchdog which Adam left to guard the gate of Paradise, but it went sauntering around to find a hare or rabbit and let the old devil sneak in. Then the Lord said it should be a dog no longer, but a hound, always hunting and always staring, so to have a hound is a bad sign.

Aged Serbians

Serbia is the country of centenarians. One man in every 2,000 reaches one, hundred years. Ireland ranks next, with one in every 8,139. Out of every 45,000 Spaniards one is a centenarian. In England, Scotland and Wales one in every 177,000; in France one in 190,750, and Switzerland, with all its reputed healthfulness, seems

Take Burden Of Daddy

According to Chinese custom the wife's family is to provide a certain amount of bangle clothes, shoes and caps for the first-born. Rich families usually supply everything for the child for five or ten years. The wife will be looked down upon by her husband's people if her own family cannot furnish plenty of clothes.

Wild Fowl's Triangle

When flocks of wild ducks and geese have gone long distances they form a triangle to elevate the air more easily, and the most courageous bird takes position at the forward angle. As this is a very fatiguing post, another bird ere long takes the place of the exhausted leader.

Unwelcome Immigrant

The bull weevil is something this country has acquired from Mexico. It crossed the Rio Grande river in 1882. Since then it has been traveling from 40 to 160 miles each year, and now regards the greater part of the cotton

Error Regarding Indigestion

"Land of My Fathers" is perhaps the most widely sung of all Welsh airs. Its composer was Evan Jones, and a monument is erected to his memory at Pontypridd.

Campaign Has Its Uses

"I welcome a political campaign," said Jud Tunkin. "Mob it'll bring along enough new kinds of argument to take our minds off the high cost of living."

Mirror Part of Dress

In the sixteenth century no lady was considered in full dress unless she had a mirror at her breast. It was oval in shape, about four inches in size.

Crippled Child Cause Statement
Announcement has been made by Hugh E. Van de Water, of Ypsilanti, President of the Michigan Society for Crippled Children, that the society will hold an annual Thanksgiving reception from Oct. 26 to 27 at the Grand Hotel, Lansing, County chapters throughout the state are being asked to cooperate and are requested to work during that period to extend the society's work.

The "Mr. Van de Water said the society has made a real drive for crippled children in Michigan and has cooperated with the Governor and the Legislature to secure the enactment of the "M" bill No. 114. This law now provides that the state shall pay 60 cents of the whole cost of any child who is born crippled. The society is now working hard for the "M" bill.

The Lady Called Fate

The body of Miss Missie Mooney, 33, who was found dead in her apartment on the second floor of the building at 1000 Lakeview Avenue, has been removed to the morgue. Miss Mooney was last seen alive on the evening of Nov. 27, when she went out to buy a newspaper. She was last seen wearing a blue dress and carrying a black handbag.

The investigation is being conducted by Detective Sergeant John Smith of the Metropolitan Police Department. Smith said that there are no suspects at this time, and that the autopsy will be performed to determine the cause of death. Smith said that the body will be examined for any signs of violence or injury, and that the results of the autopsy will be made public as soon as they are available.

The Baby

No mother in this civilized age would have left her baby alone in a room without proper supervision. Miss Castoria, 20, who has just given birth to a baby girl, has been released from the hospital.

The hospital authorities have said that the baby is in good health, and that the mother is making a rapid recovery. Miss Castoria has been living in the vicinity of the hospital, and has been visited by family and friends.
