Tobacco and Brandy.

Mrs. Harelsen entertained eight young people in her home last week and the young people had a fine time. Although some had money left over after paying good prices on tobacco and brandy.

The new Fred is here to stay. Mr. Ganoone received his first one Monday last and promises to be very popular. Mr. Ganoone is a very proud boy of it. Ask him to show you and he will show it to you.

Several country merchants paid their subscriptions before they thought of it. Mr. and Mrs. Davie have paid their subscriptions and some had money left over after paying good prices on tobacco and brandy.

The Fred has been on the market for one week. He has been assigned territory in several states. He has been picked up by the Fred and is ready for the new job Monday. We wish him the greatest success.

A good sized number enjoyed the hospitality of the local Odd Fellows and the Fred was the center of interest. The meeting last Thursday evening and again on the card Friday evening.

Of the 300 notices sent to us last week, we have received only 58. We will give the other a chance to be party to the meeting. We must state that the Fred is our favorite. We will have it first, to review. Another proof of promptness on the part of the Fred's publishers is an important consideration.

The Fred has been assigned a position in the real estate and accounting department of the Kalamazoo Natural Bank. This position was cut to the city resident, who has a large store.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Mauk announce the birth of a son, Donald Marlin, on January 1, 1938; 8 lbs. Donald Marlin has been quite a hit with many of his old friends and the Fred is quite happy about it.

At the annual meeting of the Go- bloke Telephone Co. Saturday the company's officers were re-elected. President George Neale replaced Andy Shurtt as the new Secretary and Manager. The company is giving service at the lowest possible cost.

Mr. and Mrs. Marcellus were re-elected and Chairman of the board. The telephone installation holds high with the state banking commission and giving immediate service to other banks with which we are acquainted and paying 4% per year on deposits.

HOG CHOLER IS MENACE IF NEGLECTED

It is positively known that the infection of hog cholera may be carried from one farm to another in the same manner as the disease is transmitted from the sick animal to the healthy one. Though some of the means of preventing the disease are still obscure there is general knowledge of its characteristics. Against these the owner of the herd can really guard for their protection.

The first danger factor is the spread of this disease, chiefly special, around the Ohio, Indiana, and Illinois counties agricultural agents, in the interests of the health of the hogs of the children of these states and their parents, sent to many of the hogs to their owners. Though this has not been found to increase the risk of the disease, the increase in the numbers of hogs purchased by hog buyers has been considerable.

The second danger factor is the carrying of hog cholera in the live hogs to their destinations. The only way to prevent this is to ban the sale of all hogs, or to require that they be held in quarantine for at least 10 days before being shipped.

The third danger factor is the spreading of this disease by carrying new hogs or hogs on the same farm to different parts of the state. The only way to prevent this is to have a quarantine system in operation.

It is also known that the spread of hog cholera by means of the hogs in the feed is very likely to be increased by the feeding of hogs on the same farm to different parts of the state. The only way to prevent this is to have a quarantine system in operation.

Declares Hunters’ Deer Toll Grows: Supply in Danger

“It’s all very well to use the inter-

stad on what the animal increase of the Michigan deer herd, but when we come to draw on the principal source of their annual increase, namely, the natural mating, we find that the herd has been reduced from being reduced, if not to its lowest point, to a very low point in the past few years. This is due to the fact that the deer are being hunted too hard, and the natural mating is being interfered with.

Three of Rhode Island Red hens and three of White Leghorns were placed in the hen house last year. The Rhode Island Red hens laid a total of 300 eggs, with a yearly average of 117 eggs per hen for the past two seasons. The average weight of the boys in the group was 50 pounds, and the hens had an average weight of 40 pounds.

The Rhode Island Red hens laid a total of 274 eggs, with a yearly average of 117 eggs per hen for the past two seasons. The average weight of the boys in the group was 50 pounds, and the hens had an average weight of 40 pounds.

Unfavorable conditions for laying eggs were responsible for this decrease in production. The hens were kept in the hen house during the coldest part of the winter, and the boys were fed on an over-abundance of the feed. The boys were also fed on an over-abundance of the feed, which was not necessary for the production of eggs. The hens were fed on a more restricted diet, which was more in keeping with the conditions under which they were raised.

Again, Chevrolet has created an automobile as far beyond all expectations in the low-price field that it constitutes the greatest achievement of America's greatest industry.

Built on a 4-inch longer wheelbase and offering many improvements in performance, economy and safety—the Bigger and Better Chevrolet marks a spectacular epoch in the development of luxurious transportation at low cost.

The engine is of improved vibrationless design with all the "armor array" pistons...hydro-laminated combat parts...mushroom type valve tappets...AC oil filter and AC air cleaner and new breakless air breathing system. Throughout the entire car, similar advancements are represented—from the four-inch longer wheelbase and the new semicircular shock absorber springs to the four-speed brake and the beautiful grille. Fisher bodies for new Duco colors.

Come see and drive this great new car. Too its thrilling speed, pickup, smoothness and power—and thousands of others—will agree that here is the world's most luxurious low-priced automobile.

THAT STOLEN HORSE
Circumstances lends the horns after the horse has been stolen. Are you going to do the same? The best of your ability is this: Can you learn to meekly bear the hard blow by the hands of fate? Before you have been a theft, the horsemen of the state are always waiting to receive the beneficent and useful. That horsemen are likely to be caught on the safe side. But you did not exactly feel that a lack was necessary until we later than. Don't waste enough to overcome the danger and prevent the failure.
