Octogenarian Still Fights Fires

When the volume cord of her paste coat tangled with her was attempting an altitude record jump at St. Petersburg, Fla., Jennie Durst, 89, who started fire fighting in 1914 after her brother had been killed in a forest fire, actually started her career at the age of 54 when a fire nearly turned out fatally.

Near Death Leap

At 80 George A. Walker, chief of the fire department of Cleveland, O., still fights fires as vigorously as he did when he first joined the department 40 years ago, as a boy of 16. There was 16 fanners then and today, that original number, there remains only George Walker; all the others are dead. Cid in white coat and hat is a frequent visitor wherever a big fire threatens. Chief Walker is the oldest of a pair of department in the world. Above, two characteristic orators of Chief Walker.

Twins Picked as Popular “Man”

Helen and Gerald Anderson, juniors at Brigham Young university, Provo, Utah, look so much alike that sociology experts have been known to mix up the two until their mothers are sure which is which.

Musician Honored

Frederick W. Hatchetster, head of the Western Research Laboratories, Pittsburgh, Pa., who has made the distinction as the greatest of the pioneers of tallow chemistry, has won official recognition from the Vatican at Rome. By decree of Pope John XXIII, Hatchetster was appointed Knight Commander of the Order of St. Eligius by Pope Paul VI.

M. S. C. TELLS ABOUT CHAMPION GROWER

In a letter recently sent out from the Michigan State College at East Lansing, Mich., to the home of a farmer who has made a fairly successful apple grower, Dr. C. W. C. Suttles, of Kansas, a good example for the home grower to emulate. This record shows more than four years of hard work and dedication in the apple grove. It is also given to those who have not been successful in apple growing, to show what can be done with a little care and foresight.

The record shows that it is more than the work of the grower, but the quality of the fruit that is important. It is given to those who have not been successful in apple growing, to show what can be done with a little care and foresight.

Dubbed by storm-turbine engines capable of propelling it across the continent in 24 hours, a giant all-metal dirigible is nearing completion at Glencoe, Cal. This big ship, according to its inventor and builder, Capt. Thomas B. Self, will be elevated in larger passenger craft and fly to the general asage of the world and will be the first of its kind, steel powered ship of this type in existence. It is designed to carry 40 passengers and require a crew of five.

The ship is 120 feet long, 20 feet wide, and 80 feet high. It will fly at a cruising speed of 100 miles an hour, using the wind at all times.

The ship is fitted with a large metal shell, made of corrosion-resistant steel.

Eight, Capt. Self, is working on his model ship. The ship will be finished in the near future.

East to London on Roads

Approximately $165,000 will be spent on the highways of Leelanau County this summer. This money is just one of the many projects that are being undertaken by the county.

The state highway department has announced that it will build a new bridge across the Manistee River at Glen Lake. A new concrete bridge at Glen Lake will cost $20,000, and the state highway department will lay 400 feet of concrete pavement through the bridge.

State Highway Commissioner Frank Bump has secured $11,000 for the construction of a new bridge for the village of Glen Lake.

An article in the Michigan State Journal states that the new bridge will be completed in the near future.

Thousands of Trout to Be Released by Lake County

Northern Michigan trouters are jubilant over an announcement made by the state game wardens. Ed Duffield, Bay City, a representative of the Michigan Fish and Game Department, has announced that 25,000 trout fry in streams of this region will be released every week for the next six weeks, the trout fry in streams of the region will be released every week for the next six weeks, the trout fry in streams of the region will be released every week for the next six weeks.

The trout fry are being reared in Lake County, and will be released in the streams near Bay City and another in a portion of the River County.

A new plan, according to local trouters, should mean the raising of the number of trout in streams which have been affected by the drought. Planting trout in the Michigan streams will provide much needed food for the fish, the hatchery in at least 300 small streams, which are the source of the stream's food supplies.

Children Cry for Castoria

They looked closely at the new baby. The little baby was so small that they could see every little detail. Bob marveled at the new life and the young man who was one with it in every sense. That was his son and his business and his family. "Bob," Tony said, "we'll take care of this baby for you."

Bob closed his eyes for a moment. "Yes, I will." He had written a note about the new baby and had told his friends. But he knew that he could not tell anyone else. The new baby was his own, and he could not share this news with anyone else. He had to keep it to himself.

He embraced his new life. He realized that this was his chance to start fresh. He would take care of his family and ensure that they were happy and healthy. That was his ultimate goal. His new life was his chance to start fresh.

The day before, he had written a letter to his friends. He had told them about the new baby and how much he loved it. He had signed the letter "Bob Perry.""
