Commencement

The exercises of Class Day and Commencement were carried out as published last week and each did well the part assigned and proved themselves worthy representatives of our schools as they pass into life's field of usefulness.

To mention each would be a reiteration of well merited praise so we are publishing a complete list of the class instead.

Florence Bachelder, Maybert Camfield, Madge Coffinger, Wilma Green, Ruby Graves, Lloyd Hoffman, Luther Howard, Diana Keller, Robert Kennison, James MacGregor, Thelma Martin, Marguerite Nash, Alberta Sage, Marion Tychsen, Thomas Way, Faith Winters, and Edith Wise.

We are justly proud of this class and are very sure that each will do well whatever they attempt in life with credit to themselves and honor to the school.

On Friday the all school picnic at Barber's Bathing Beach drew rain but the facilities at their disposal made it possible for a fine day with visiting and goodbyes much enjoyed by those present.

The final event of the commencement activities was the annual meeting of the alumni association at the Odd Fellows hall on Saturday evening. Nearly 200 members and guests met at Hudson's store and marched to the hall where a fine banquet was served by the Rebekahs.

Following the banquet a short business meeting was held after which the president, Mrs. Grace Thomas, introduced the toastmaster Harry Bingham, who proved himself the man of the hour and in well chosen phrases introduced the speakers, who in turn, responded ably and held those present in good nature throughout.

Mrs. Alma Furbush welcomed the the Class of 1928, and Faith Winters gave the response. Max Brown, of the Class of 1929 and E. George Schutt, of the faculty, spoke in favor of a new auditorium and gymnasium, and the members present voted unanimously in favor of the project.

A trumpet solo and encore by Edward Thomas was a pleasing diversion after which the meeting was turned over to the president and the following were elected for the coming year. Mrs. Grace Thomas, Pres., Harry Bingham, vice Pres., Mrs. Bernice Petty, Sec. Mrs. Pauline Monroe, Treas.

Roll call found 89 members besides the new class present, well scattered through the years, one from the first class and two from the second, responding. Seven of the 35 classes were not represented. Music by the high school orchestra added to the spirit of the evening's good cheer.

Truly a most successful reunion and a fitting close to a wonderful school year.
