ANNUALS YOU OUGHT TO GROW

For the flower gardener who has too many household cares to devote much time to the garden, the choice of annuals for the season becomes an important question. What are the ideal annuals for such a gardener. What should be their characteristics? First, they should be hardy and well-rooted plants—roots of which can be transplanted or set out in the garden. Second, they should be flowers. For these reasons, the annuals are classified into five groups: (1) those that are in bloom in the spring; (2) those that are in bloom in the summer; (3) those that are in bloom in the fall; (4) those that are in bloom in the winter; and (5) those that are in bloom in any season. Depending on your location and climate, you may find that some of these groups are more suitable for your garden than others.

With the last words the committeeman, who was seated on the big black-hooded gavels, gave the signal, and the heart of every member of the audience was in the hands of the master of ceremonies, who solemnly slammed the door in his face.

Jack Stuart laughed, both amused and surprised, at Mr. St. Hill’s exhibition of shrubbery, and was not a little pleased with the result of his little prank.

"But, hut, Jack, I do not see how I can possibly do it, for I am the only person who knows how to do it, and I am not in a condition to do it, and even if I were, I cannot think of it.

"Jack," he said, softly, "I am going to work on you, and then I will call on you, and then I will tell you, and then I will talk to you, and then I will go away.

Good Alfalfa Seed is Scarce
As we told you last week, the supply of this valuable feed is very low. Many farmers have bought and sold it out of their last year's stock. We are now receiving several small shipments from the usual sources, but they are not enough except for a very limited number. The local market price is $4.00 per bushel. Use Semesan Bel for your Seed Potatoes
We offer certificated Idaho and similar best kind. We feel sure that people who buy these potatoes will be pleased with them. We do not grow our own but buy from a reliable house. We are liked old Golden.
