DEER TAGGING PLAN FAILS AT HULBERT

The deer tagging experiment undertaken at Hulbert in Chippewa county last winter proved to be a failure. It was planned to tag and tag a number of deer at Hulbert in order to get a better idea of the future movements of the animals and to assess the effect of the deer on the vegetation. However, the results were not as hoped for.

The deer were released into the plots, and they immediately began to feed on the vegetation. However, after several days, the deer began to show signs of illness and died. It was later determined that the illness was caused by a parasite that was present in the vegetation. The experiment was abandoned.

City Railway Gets Taxable Service

The Grand Rapids city commission, as a committee of the whole, approved the proposed reports which advocate the incorporation of the Grand Rapids Railway Company. The company is a combination of transportation businesses, including trolley service, group service, and other related services. The commission agreed to the incorporation plan and the Grand Rapids Railway Company will be formed.

SPECIAL REPORT

SWINGING FLORAL TOWER AT VANALDA

Pine, Italy, is world famed for its celebrated leaning flower, centuries old.

Vanaldal, a village in Italy, becomes internationally famous for its "swinging floral tower". The village is a popular destination for tourists who come to see the beautiful flowers that are displayed in the center of the village.

The village is known for its beautiful flowers, which are displayed in a large, ornate, metal structure in the center of the village. The flowers are in full bloom, and they are surrounded by a variety of other plants and flowers. The village is a popular tourist destination, and people come from all over the world to see the beautiful flowers.

PLASTIC SURGERY FOR DEAF CHILDREN

A decade ago, the possibility of surgical correction of deafness was a dream. Today, it is a reality. The American Academy of Otolaryngology-Head and Neck Surgery has made significant progress in the field of pediatric hearing restoration.

The academy has developed new surgical techniques that allow surgeons to correct hearing loss in children. These techniques include the use of bone conduction hearing aids, cochlear implants, and other advanced technologies.

The academy has also worked to raise awareness about the importance of early intervention for children with hearing loss. By providing information to parents and caregivers, the academy helps ensure that children with hearing loss receive the best possible care.

The academy continues to research and develop new methods for improving hearing loss in children. As technology advances, so will our ability to help children with hearing loss.

Japanese Giant Radiash

The Japanese Giant Radiash is a beautiful flower that is often found growing in fields and along roadsides. The flowers are a rich shade of purple and have a sweet, honey-like scent.

The flowers are large and have a unique shape. They are shaped like a shield and have a central stem that is surrounded by a ring of petals. The petals are long and narrow, and they have a smooth, velvety texture.

The Japanese Giant Radiash is a hardy plant that is able to survive in a variety of conditions. It is often used as a ground cover and is a popular choice for gardens and landscaping.

The flowers bloom in late spring and early summer and can last for several weeks. They are a popular choice for arranging in bouquets and making centerpieces.

When Food Sours

When food spoils, it is important to take the necessary steps to prevent the spread of contamination. This includes proper storage and disposal of spoiled food.

It is important to keep food at the proper temperature to prevent bacterial growth. This means keeping perishable foods in the refrigerator or freezer. It is also important to keep spices, sauces, and other non-perishable items in a cool, dry place.

When food is spoiled, it should be disposed of properly to prevent the spread of contamination. This includes throwing away spoiled food, cleaning countertops and utensils, and washing hands after handling spoiled food.

PHILIPS Milk of Magnesia

PHILIPS Milk of Magnesia

An ever increasing manufacture of "chocolate milk" is in the habit of advertising, but not a production. It is a trick, a mere pretense, a cleverly concealed false advertising, a mere and complete fraud. To call it:"chocolate milk", is to mislead the public into the belief that it contains chocolate. It does not contain chocolate. It is milk colored and colored to look like chocolate. It is not the same as "chocolate milk". It is a fraud.

It is a fraud because it is not the same as "chocolate milk". It contains no chocolate. It is milk colored and colored to look like chocolate. It is a fraud.

Barnyard Bureau Not Satisfied with Tariff

The tariff changes interpreted in the new schedule of rates before en- gress at this time constitutes mere a revision of rates than any real ad- justment according to the view of the Farm Bureau, as expressed at Latin- ton. The Bureau is included in one of the most aggressive units in the country seeking an adjustment of the tariff for the benefit of the farmers, an equitable balance between the industrial and the industrial and the agricultural sections.

Speaking of the tariff bill at an executive meeting here, Frank D. Swan, Farm Bureau chief corn- missioner, last night, made a broad statement that the new schedule under the existing law and the one now proposed by the new bill, making the shift that will occur over the next five years for the benefit of the farmers greater and more favorable. The new schedule will give the farmers greater and more favorable results than the changes that have occurred under the new schedule for the benefit of the farmers, and there will be a larger increase in the use of the farm products.

Each local leader, with the assis- tance of the state and the county agricultural agents, organizes a group of neighborhood workers who are under the influence of the problem of farm life, and these groups are working out the means of helping the local leader and his district in their work. At this point, there is a division of the farm laborers, but there is a good deal of time and effort being spent in the process of organizing the groups.

Some of the leaders are working with the support of farm women, and the rest are working out a plan for the organization of women in the community. In nearly every case, the success of the organization has been due to the initiative and leadership of the local leaders. In addition, the development of local organizations will be a significant step in the process of organized work in the community.

Tuck Flies Are

In Two Divisions

Tuck flies divided into two general classes, according to angle of flight, those that are created after the first and second halves of the year, and those that are created after the third and fourth halves of the year. The latter are called the summer and autumn flies, and the former are called the winter and spring flies. The two general classes are further divided into five sub-divisions, each of which is characterized by a specific angle of flight.

In the sub-division of the flies, there are two general classes, the first and second, and the third and fourth. The former are characterized by an angle of flight that is less than 90 degrees, while the latter are characterized by an angle of flight that is greater than 90 degrees. The two general classes are further divided into five sub-divisions, each of which is characterized by a specific angle of flight.

COOL EGGS AND KEEP THEM COOL

Cool eggs are very desirable, and the faster they are cooled the better. AT TRAVELING While traveling, care should be taken to cool the eggs at once after they are gathered in the morning. The water should be kept cool, and the eggs should be cooled in a cool place, such as a refrigerator or a cold well. The eggs should be kept cool at all times, and should be handled with care to prevent any injury.

CHAPTER III

At right Jack Stuart and Tony Burke, the ready-made couple of the South, who were born in the same little town and who, while they own a joint bank account and share a joint house, also share a joint Impala which they drive to and from the town in a joint manner.

Tony Burke: "You ever see a girl gritting her teeth and biting her lip?"

Jack Stuart: "Yes, I have. My wife.""I don't think I've ever seen anything quite like it.""

Tony Burke: "You ever see a girl cry?"

A quarter of a million dollars, distributed over a five-year period, has been granted by the research committee of the University of California to support the construction of a new building for the department of geology at the university. The gift is the largest ever made by the university to any one department.

The building, which will be known as the Dey Laboratory of Geology, is to be located on the north side of the university campus. The estimated cost of the building is $250,000, and it is expected that the construction will be completed within two years.

The University of California is one of the leading institutions of higher education in the United States. It has a student body of over 30,000 and a faculty of over 2,000. The university is known for its excellence in teaching and research, and it is consistently ranked among the top universities in the country.

camp outfit rejects skirt except for dress

by lily claire

skirts are nearly extinct, according to the authors of the garment's demise. With fewer women working outside of the home, the demand for skirts has dwindled, and as a result, skirt manufacturers have been forced to focus on other clothing items.

the challenge now for skirt makers is to develop new designs that will appeal to today's consumers. some are experimenting with short skirts, while others are focusing on pants or dresses. the key will be to create pieces that are both stylish and functional, while still remaining affordable.

the future of skirts may be uncertain, but one thing is clear: fashion is constantly evolving, and skirt makers must adapt to stay competitive.
