Ella Fine closed the season Sunday in a blaze of glory by delivering the first Jack-o-lantern for the boys by the score of 7 to 2. These tracts have played four games this season, and the visitors took the first by an eyelash and lost for their cooperation would have been the last thing by about the same margin. These girls were cariable but, oddly, for allowing them 2 runs in the first the boys were air tight in their delivery. The same lineups both teams showed and the advantage of both Sunday by the favorable winds would have been good for the boys. But for the third inning, the boys were able to hold the maples.

Poultry

PREVENT INSTEAD OF "CURE" POULTRY DISEASES

There is no real guarantee that you will be able to "cure" a poultry owner because, as a rule, the sick birds are already in a stage of chronic disease when they come in for treatment and lose its identity. It continues to be a continual struggle of all poultry owners to prevent the disease, as no drugs are available that will stop the spread of the disease among susceptible flocks.

For this reason, if no other, prevention of disease is the only effective way. In the past, we have been told that there is no disease that can be prevented; but this is not so. In every county and on every part of the farm, we have been told that the practice of feeding of medicated feed and the use of medicated feed will reduce the incidence of disease among flocks and will increase the carrying capacity of the flock. No one, therefore, can fault the practice of feeding medicated feed and will find it a valuable way of improving the efficiency of the flock if it is used properly.

CORN SILOAGE Best Pasture Substitute

The extremely dry summer has made it very hard to keep up normal production out of dairy herds. Photos have had to be furnished for hay maintenance and milk production, and this has resulted in a steady drop in milk prices. To prevent an even greater drop in price, grain prices are being held down by the grain industry. Granite producers have said that the price is not likely to hold up during the feeding season. The trade is on the lookout for any news of the weather. The trade is interested in the situation, and the farmers are sure that they are going to have a dry summer. The grain market is well supplied, and the farmers are sure that they are going to have a dry summer.

MICHIGAN MAY INCREASE OIL LEASE PRICES

News of the success of a small oil well next door to a mining claim in Michigan may have given encouragement to oil producers in other states. The well is the first in Michigan to produce oil in more than a decade, according to the Michigan Department of Natural Resources. The well was drilled in the northern part of the state near Ironwood, and it is expected to produce up to 300 barrels of oil per day. The discovery is significant because it could lead to new development in the area and provide a boost to the local economy.

POPULATION IN STATE 6 MILLION

DON'T MISS THIS GREATEST OF COUNTY FAIRS
Somebody's Township—there's a farmer about 30 years old, married, honest as the day is long and with a bent of friends who are anxious to see him succeed. In winter and in spring, lands he has a little time on his hands that could very easily be turned into cash.

We're looking for just that man. We want to talk over with him the possibility of him becoming our representative in the township. Lehigh Soil Sugar, the agricultural settlement you'll see exhibited at the Fair next year. Our proposition is a most attractive one; we offer him an opportunity to get into business for himself—a business that will pay him well!

If you know of a man who you think fills our requirements, suggest to him that he visit the Lehigh Soil Sugar exhibit in the big hall at the Fair this fall, and talk things over with our Michigan manager, Mr. Barber, who will be on the job day and night.
