MICHIGAN FARMERS PAVING PEACE LOANS

Although their drought relief loans are not yet due and payable until Nov. 10, Michigan farmers have started to repay their loans. By the end of the department of agriculture reported this week, 10,000 customers had repaid $10,719,000. Many of those who have repaid their loans have paid them in full, but not the total will be made public until the last day of the fiscal year.

Farmers in other states also were owed to have paid their drought relief loans, but the information was not available. The total amount of money loaned to Michigan farmers is not yet known. The department of agriculture reported that they had received $10,719,000 in loans from the federal government.

Lenders are required to report the amount of money they have loaned to farmers. The money is used to help farmers who are affected by drought.

The repayment of this large amount of money is expected to be very gradual, said Secretary of Agriculture William C. W. Stewart. He said that the cost of the program is far higher than had been anticipated.

The department of agriculture is currently working on a plan to extend the repayment period for farmers who have been affected by drought.

The department of agriculture is working to make sure that farmers who have been affected by drought receive the help they need.

In addition to the drought relief loans, farmers also have received federal disaster loans. These loans are intended to help farmers who have lost crops due to drought or other natural disasters.

Farmers who have received these loans are expected to repay them over a period of time. The amount of money that they need to repay depends on the amount of money that they received.

The department of agriculture is working to make sure that farmers who have received these loans are able to repay them.

Upper Peninsula Gets A Great View From Southern Michigan

Wisconsin, Minnesota and the upper peninsula of Michigan constitute an excellent market for lower Michigan ginseng. These states have a large, concentrated population of ginseng buyers. In addition, the states are far enough away to make it difficult for buyers to travel to Michigan to purchase ginseng.

The ginseng industry in the upper peninsula of Michigan is a major source of income for the residents of the region. The industry is also a major source of income for the residents of Wisconsin and Minnesota.

In the upper peninsula of Michigan, ginseng growers are expected to grow a large crop this year. The ginseng crop is expected to be good, and the prices are expected to be high.

This is good news for ginseng growers in the upper peninsula of Michigan. The high prices are expected to help them to make a profit on their crop.

The ginseng industry in the upper peninsula of Michigan is expected to continue to grow in the future. The industry is a major source of income for the residents of the region, and it is expected to continue to grow in the future.

MORE TURKEY EGGS EAT BY HATCHERIES

Turkey producers are eating more and more each year on commercial chicken and the poultry industry, says a recent study of the National Agricultural Statistics Service.

In a survey made early this year, the study found that the number of turkey hatcheries in the United States had increased from 190 in 1926 to 273 in 1931. The number of hatcheries that produced turkey eggs also increased from 10 in 1926 to 15 in 1931.

During the past five years, the number of hatcheries that produced turkey eggs has increased from 10 to 15. In addition, the number of hatcheries that produced turkey eggs has increased from 190 to 273.

The study also found that the number of turkey hatcheries in the United States is expected to continue to increase in the future. The number of hatcheries that produce turkey eggs is expected to increase from 15 to 20 by 1931.
American Museum Gets Belts of Bronze Age

More than 5,000 of the most ancient bronze articles in the world, including a great deal in duplicate, are to be displayed at the new Museum of Modern Art in New York City. Among the most prominent of these are the famous collection of Egyptian art, which includes a large group of bronze artifacts, and a large collection of Chinese bronzes. The most notable of these is a group of ancient Chinese bronze vessels, which were evidently made for religious purposes. These vessels are highly decorated and include such utensils as flasks and ewers. They are believed to be among the oldest examples of metalworking in the world. The museum also contains a large collection of ancient Greek and Roman bronzes, including some of the finest examples of ancient sculpture. Among these are a number of bronze statues, including some of the most famous examples of Greek and Roman sculpture. The museum also contains a large collection of medieval and Renaissance bronzes, including some of the finest examples of the work of the great masters of the period. The museum also contains a large collection of modern bronzes, including many of the most famous examples of the work of modern sculptors. The museum is scheduled to open in the spring of next year, and it is expected to attract large numbers of visitors from all over the world. It is located in the heart of the city, and it is expected to be one of the most important cultural institutions in the world.

"What's the matter, Nancy," asked Tommy Preston, one day, as he came through the doorway into the kitchen. "You look as if you had seen a ghost." "I have," said Nancy. "I've been looking through the old family papers, and I've found a curious letter from Uncle Fred, who was married to that nasty woman, Anna Parr," said Tommy. "Oh, what did he say about her?" "He didn't say much, except that she was an old maid when she married him, and that he was very much in love with her," said Nancy. "And then what happened?" "Then they had two children, a boy and a girl. The boy, Fred, was a fine young man, and the girl, Anna, was a quiet, gentle soul. They lived happily together, and I was always happy to see them." "What happened to them?" "They died young, both of them. Fred died of a fever, and Anna of a broken heart. "But how did they die?" "They died of a fever, and Anna of a broken heart. All in All Needed Was a Firm Hand

By CLARIBIA MACKIE

Of course, it did not have all the trophies of a first-class player, but it had a fine spirit of sportsmanship. Its handle was not quite as square as those of the other clubs in the set, but it held the ball in a manner that was more like a woman's hand. "This is the one," said Tommy Preston, who was Precision's manager. "It's the one that I've been looking for."

Susan was a smart little girl, and she was always ready to help her mother with her chores. When her mother asked her to take the groceries to the store, she always went willingly. "I'll be back in a minute," she would say, and then she would disappear into the back room. When her mother asked her to make the dinner, she always did it cheerfully. THE ROMANCE OF A BUSINESS GIRL

WEEK OF NOVEMBER 22
November, setting wheels of life in forces in many parts of the state will suffer in the month of November. The wheel will be the tail end influence of the rain and storm which we experienced the end of last week. The change to the cold and dry weather will be a sharp turn downward and the change to the winter climate the start of the winter weather will be a long list of deaths. The cold snap means the start of the winter weather.

During the last few weeks, however, the state has been under the influence of the warm weather. Weather conditions are much the same as the normal weather conditions.

Looking at the week as a whole we can expect the weather to be pleasant for growing food but not too cold for winter.

Thanksgiving Day Forecast
Thanksgiving Day this year will be better for children and younger women as far as the temperature is concerned. While there may be some cold spells, the weather will be generally mild and comfortable.

The weather will be sunny and perhaps warm, and the thermometers readings will be somewhat above the seasonal normals.

Dinner Stories
No Night Work
An old custom, the custom of the St. Valentine's Day, has been revived this year. The men have been putting the way they did in the old days, the way things happened in the days of the pioneers. The men have been putting on the old-time Christmas dinner, just as in the old-time days.

"Laten, laten, it's time," and the men have been putting on the old-time Christmas dinner. They have been putting on the old-time Christmas dinner, just as in the old-time days. And the men have been putting on the old-time Christmas dinner, just as in the old-time days.

Empty Votive
It was never the custom of the St. Valentine's Day to have a votive light, and now that the custom has been revived, the votive lights, they have been forgotten.

"The votive lights, they have been forgotten," and the men have been putting on the old-time Christmas dinner, just as in the old-time days.

Sleep, Too
First Tipple (or) do you spell it Sleep?
Second Tipple: "Wacca, means, what kind of a night do you think it is?"
First Tipple: "I don't think it's very bad."
Second Tipple: "I don't think it's very bad."
