BUILD TOWER ON MACKINAC ISLAND

A forest fire tower rising 40 feet above the highest point on Mackinac Island and giving a commanding view of the entire northern tip of the state, will be built in the summer, it is announced by the U. S. Forest Service, administration of the department of conservation. The tower will be the first of its kind on the island.

The tower will not be in use, however, until the north of Mackinac Island State Park will be acquired by the state for recreation purposes, and the state can obtain a hotel, or at least a dining shelter, on top of the tower, so that the tower will be the first of its kind on the island.

The forest division of the state conservation department will provide the tower and work on the tower will be done by the state conservation department.

State faces end of reforestation

The feller-bunchers of the state conservation department will be used in the reforestation of the forest areas and the state conservation department will be used in the reforestation of the forest areas.

Michigan shipper's plan for plant

The first of the new plants for plant material is to be used in the reforestation of the forest areas.

State to perform reforestation work

The state conservation department will perform reforestation work on the forest areas.

Fruit will be harvested

The fruit will be harvested in the reforestation of the forest areas.

Eaton County Fair starts

The Eaton County Fair starts on Thursday, September 11, and will continue until Saturday, September 13.

Resurrection Plant

The Gomphocarpus "Rose of Jericho" is one of the most interesting of the resurrection plants and it is found all over the world. It is also called the "Rose of Jericho" because it grows on the banks of the Jordan River and is particularly attractive during the spring.

Watch Wet Hay

Wet hay should not be stacked in the barn, near other feed or close to the walls of the barn. Hay should be kept dry and out of the way so as not to result in the loss of the hay as well as the feed or hay. Here is the recently "launched."

WEEK OF SEPTEMBER 4

"The rain had lasted for two weeks. Every rain shower had seemed to be pouring down the new marigolds and the green growing tomatoes. But it was the end of the season and the weather was improving."

"I'm glad the rain is over," said Mrs. Parker. "I've been putting up the vegetables all week."

"Me too," said Mr. Parker. "I've been working on the garden."

"Have you planted any gourds yet?" asked Mrs. Parker.

"No," said Mr. Parker. "I was going to, but it was too hot.

"I think we should wait until the weather cools down," said Mrs. Parker.

"Okay," said Mr. Parker. "I'll plant them next week.

"I'm looking forward to the gourds," said Mrs. Parker.

"So am I," said Mr. Parker.

"The rain has ruined our garden," said Mrs. Parker.

"Don't worry," said Mr. Parker. "We still have plenty of tomatoes and cucumbers.

"I'm thinking about making a salad," said Mrs. Parker. "I have all the vegetables I need.

"That sounds good," said Mr. Parker. "I'll help you with the salad.

"Okay," said Mrs. Parker.

Missionaries Plan

Rev. Albert H. Reil and family, who have completed their first five years of service in the Awakening Church in China, are planning to return. Mrs. Reil is an American Protestant missionary, and the family includes children and a number of young Chinese students.

Boy was saved by a car as it pulled away, for his arm had been wrapped around the steering wheel. It was an accident that could have been prevented. The little boy, who was only three years old, managed to get his hand caught in the car's steering mechanism.

Today in the city, a little boy was pulled away from danger by a car driver who saw him in time to stop. The boy had been left outside by his parents, who were busy doing some shopping.

The driver of the car, noticing the child's predicament, immediately applied the brakes and brought the vehicle to a sudden halt.

The boy, who was crying and panicky, was quickly removed from the path of the oncoming car. The driver, who had been a former military vehicle operator, knew exactly what to do in such an emergen-case. He calmly and effectively handled the situation, ensuring the safety of the young child.

New York—When it comes to dressing in the season's newest looks, the women of this city never fail to please. A high neck with a soft shoulder line is in at the moment, and a full skirt with a gathered waist is the sort of garment that will make the wearer look even more graceful and lovely. The addition of a belt or a sash at the waistline adds a touch of elegance to the ensemble.
