POTATOES

Three years ago the United States Department of Agriculture estimated that 1.5 billion potatoes were produced in the country, and that this crop would be worth $290,000,000. This year the estimated crop is 4.5 billion bushels, worth $450,000,000.

The potato harvest is the largest in the history of the United States, and is expected to be the largest in the world. The United States is expected to export 1.5 billion bushels, or about one-third of the total crop.

The potato is a valuable crop, not only for its food value, but also for its use in industry. The potato is used in the manufacture of starch, sugar, and alcohol. It is also used in the manufacture of fertilizer.

In conclusion, the potato harvest is a significant event in the history of the United States, and it is expected to have a major impact on the economy of the country.
