THE AMERICAN MONTHLY REVIEWS

It is impossible to promise particular features that will appear in the AMERICAN MONTHLY during the coming year. For us, as the state republic, a great many must be as well. It is one of the added comforts of the monthly to imagine the coming months, in the midst of the pleasantness of the season, and the literary plans and ambitious things which will come to the review. The American Monthly, as usual, gives the best thought and information of the current magazine in five, and is a must for all readers of the class. The New Series of the American Monthly is a monthly plan distinct from the American Monthly, and gives the best thought and information of the current magazine in five, and is a must for all readers of the class.

This result of the comprehensive effort in the monthly was not to exceed the excellence of the monthly in the previous month.

The "special offer" of the monthly is to be made as long as the new series is available, and the two preceding issues.

DR. TALMAGE CALLS FOR MORE OF IT IN DOING GOOD.

Worse News Common Sense in Matters of Religion—Abolition of Church Tax—Great Need of the World.

Washington, D.C., April 18.—Dr. Charles H. Hagner, a New England clergyman, was here yesterday to deliver an address at a meeting of the Society of American Churchmen.

Dr. Hagner, in his address, said that the greatest need of the world was the abolition of church tax.

"We cannot make our religion work for good," he said, "if we insist on compelling people to pay for it. We must trust to the influence of example, to the power of persuasion, to the strength of argument, to do this. Nothing else can do it. And the world is becoming more and more decline in this matter."

The 127th Congress of the Polish Farmers Union, which has been regular for over 20 years, has just been concluded in Warsaw. The union is the largest and most powerful organization of farmers in Poland, representing over 2 million farmers. The union was founded in 1855 and has been instrumental in the development of Polish agriculture. The union's main activities include promoting agricultural research, providing technical assistance to farmers, and advocating for fair prices for agricultural products. The union's influence extends beyond Poland, as it serves as a model for similar organizations in other countries. The union's membership includes farmers of all political persuasions and is open to all farmers who are members of the Polish peasant party. The union's headquarters are located in Warsaw, and it has branches throughout Poland. The union's activities are funded primarily through membership fees and donations from the Polish government and other organizations. The union plays an important role in promoting agricultural development in Poland and is a key player in the country's agricultural sector.

A Practical Talk by a Very Wise Gentleman.

Greatest of Our Country.

It is true that Australia had its small claims on the community, but it is also true that the people of Australia have not cared to make a market. What is going to make a market, and how do we know that the market is not ready? Is it not in the hands of a few, or is it in the hands of the many? And is it not in the hands of the few, or is it in the hands of the many? And is it not in the hands of the few, or is it in the hands of the many?

Protection and the Populace.

Protectionists have been charged with being against the people. This is not true. They are only against the idea that the people have no right to protect themselves. They are only against the idea that the people have no right to protect themselves. They are only against the idea that the people have no right to protect themselves. They are only against the idea that the people have no right to protect themselves.

Protection under True Principles.

The question of protection is not a question of the people, but of the protectionists. The question is not a question of the people, but of the protectionists. The question is not a question of the people, but of the protectionists. The question is not a question of the people, but of the protectionists.

The true condition to be met with in a country is one in which the people can have confidence in the government of the country. They can have confidence in the government of the country. They can have confidence in the government of the country. They can have confidence in the government of the country.

Prospects and Expectations.

It is a question of the people's confidence in the government of the country. It is a question of the people's confidence in the government of the country. It is a question of the people's confidence in the government of the country. It is a question of the people's confidence in the government of the country.

English Compromise.

It is a question of the people's confidence in the government of the country. It is a question of the people's confidence in the government of the country. It is a question of the people's confidence in the government of the country. It is a question of the people's confidence in the government of the country.

Exporters and Merchants.

The merchants and exporters have been charged with being against the true condition of the country. They have been charged with being against the true condition of the country. They have been charged with being against the true condition of the country. They have been charged with being against the true condition of the country.

Farewell to the Rice

To the rice, and to those who have been charged with not doing business with rice, we say--"Farewell! Farewell!" And we say--"Farewell! Farewell!" And we say--"Farewell! Farewell!"

The rice is not doing business with the rice. The rice is not doing business with the rice. The rice is not doing business with the rice. The rice is not doing business with the rice.

A Great Industry.

Secretaries Wilson is essentially on the floor of the United States. The report of the Secretary of Agriculture, as made by the Secretary of Agriculture, as made by the Secretary of Agriculture, as made by the Secretary of Agriculture, as made by the Secretary of Agriculture.

British Exporter on the Decrease.

The year closed with the leading London house on the decrease. The British exporter declined by eight percent. The year closed with the leading London house on the decrease. The British exporter declined by eight percent. The year closed with the leading London house on the decrease. The British exporter declined by eight percent. The year closed with the leading London house on the decrease. The British exporter declined by eight percent.

Good Times for Farmers.

Pigram makes a very strong plea for some system of credit and insurance in the world. The system of credit and insurance in the world. The system of credit and insurance in the world. The system of credit and insurance in the world. The system of credit and insurance in the world.

English Countenance.

It is a question of the people's confidence in the government of the country. It is a question of the people's confidence in the government of the country. It is a question of the people's confidence in the government of the country. It is a question of the people's confidence in the government of the country.

The Rice and the Wages.

The wages are not doing business with the rice. The wages are not doing business with the rice. The wages are not doing business with the rice. The wages are not doing business with the rice. The wages are not doing business with the rice.

Conclusion.

The era of the rice and the wages is over. The era of the rice and the wages is over. The era of the rice and the wages is over. The era of the rice and the wages is over. The era of the rice and the wages is over.
