SECRETARY CARLISLE SPEAKS IN CHICAGO.

The Chicago Tribune April 17, 1917

By Dr. Robert E. Lee

Dr. Robert E. Lee, the great war leader and American hero, was in Chicago last week for the purpose of addressing a meeting of the Franco-American committee. The meeting was held in the great Masonic Temple of the city. Dr. Lee, who is the greatest living American, was received with an ovation. He is a man whose name is synonymous with the word "hero," and whose every word is treated with the profoundest respect.

He began his address by pointing out the necessity of a general mobilization of the nation. He said that the nation must be ready at all times to meet any emergency, and that every man must be prepared to do his duty. He then spoke of the importance of education, and urged that every man should take an active part in the work of the government.

The audience was deeply moved by his words, and the meeting was adjourned with a vote of thanks to Dr. Lee for his eloquence.
