SCHOOL COLUMN

What is the fun of going to school when they don't make us do any work?

What a waste of time to waste time. If the school wants us to do anything it should pay us.

WASHINGTON, May 1, 1867.

It is time to make restrictions that meet the present exigency. The Immigration and Naturalization Service, which is charged with the enforcement of the law, has been authorized to make such restrictions. The restrictions now in force are as follows:

1. No person shall enter the United States without obtaining a visa from the Consul of the United States at the port of entry. The visa shall be stamped in the passport and shall be valid for a period of six months from the date of issue.

2. No person shall remain in the United States longer than the period for which the visa is valid.

3. No person shall engage in any occupation for which a visa is required without first obtaining a special permit from the Immigration and Naturalization Service.

4. No person shall be admitted to the United States who has been convicted of a crime involving moral turpitude or who is a habitual drunkard.

5. No person shall be admitted to the United States who is unable to support himself or herself.

6. No person shall be admitted to the United States who is not able to read or write the English language.

It is expected that these restrictions will be strictly enforced. Failure to comply with any of the provisions of these regulations shall be cause for deportation.

St. Jacob's Ointment.

The following is a description of St. Jacob's Ointment, as published in the New York Times:

"St. Jacob's Ointment is a new remedy for inflammation. It is a preparation of sal ammoniac and camphor, which are used in the treatment of inflamed and inflamed joints. It is applied to the affected part, and is said to give relief in cases of arthritis, rheumatism, and other painful conditions."
