Burned and torn and blazing, staggering from the force of the wind, but still standing firm to prevent the destruction of the city of St. Louis is standing in the middle of the battlefield of a great and beneficial plan.

Though 22 of its children were burned to death, another 20 were saved by the hospitals, or by the aid of a regiment of men. The city of St. Louis is standing in the middle of the battlefield of a great and beneficial plan.

MEDICINE
for the MILLION

A Popular Poryriatry Medicine Sold at Retail for Five Cents a package—the first experimental step in a direction that may lead to a revolution in the trade.

A New York company of manufacturing chemists, the Ripans Chemical Company, placed upon the market about five years ago a medicinal tablet known as the purest compound of cures and curatives, known to have originated in any of the cured or weakened capacity for assimilating food, absorbing nourishment and eliminating waste. The catalogue of ill's included under this head is said to include pretty nearly every disease for which the physician is called upon to prescribe, in preparing their standard remedy for the acceptance of the American people the company laid down the principle that everything entering into the drug cost should be of the highest grade of quality, so protected as to retain its qualities intact and unimpaired through any extended lapse of time in any climate. Only the choicest drugs should be used, their preparation should be in accordance with the latest perfected methods of modern science, the tablets packed in glass, protected by absorbent cotton, and securely corked. Even the corks used have been of a grade so high in its requirements that no manufacturer of these everyday stoppers could supply more than a small proportion from his output that would meet the exacting specifications. The glass vials were in turn packed in boxes of a quality not surpassed in beauty and perfection of workmanship by those used by the most fastidious dealers in jewels and ornaments of gold. Having set their high standard, and never consenting to vary from it, the proprietors resorted to the accepted modern methods of making their commodity known, and seven hundred thousand dollars invested in five years in newspaper advertising has informed every American citizen concerning the superior and surprising qualities of Ripans Tablets.

Being thoughtful and painstaking observers of the changed conditions that sweep over the commercial world, and careful to note every circumstance having a bearing upon the successful prosecution of their trade, the managers of the company have noted that there is a present insistent demand for a lower price for every article that reaches or approaches an universal use and that the people, although requiring the best of everything, resent being called upon to pay heavy百分ages for superficial wrapping and packing or unnecessary protection against deterioration that might result in years, is lessened in the case of a package intended to be consumed in a week. It has also been discovered, and proved by the test of time and actual experience, that these Tablets do not have the tendency to lose of quality or diminution of excellence from exposure that might at first have been expected, inasmuch as, under favorable conditions, those that have lain loose in a drawer, a traveling bag or pocket for several weeks or months are found to be practically as fresh and efficacious as ever.

Acting upon these suggestions, and noting particularly the unimpaired prosperity of great newspapers now sold for a cent instead of the old rate of five times that amount, and the general tendency in all directions toward low rates and increased sales, the company have entered upon the experiment of putting up Ripans Tablets in pasteboard cartons, which they will offer to the trade upon terms which will preserve a package being sold by the druggist or storekeeper at a price lower than ever before adopted for a proprietary medicine—FIVE CENTS—ten tablets, or dozens, for one half cent each.

The company will not discontinue the manufacture and sale in the form with which the people have learned to know and value the Ripans Tablets, but will offer the cheaper sort—experimentally—for the benefit of such as may desire them. It should be plainly understood that the quality of the medicine is identical in both sorts, the only difference being in the form and comparative cost of packing or putting up. The frequent packages are not yet to be had of all dealers, although it is probable that almost any druggist will obtain a supply when requested by a customer to do so, and in any case a single cent paid, to any address for five cents in stamps, forwarded to the Ripans Chemical Co., No. 10 Broadway, N. Y., before the 1st of November, will entitle the sender to a single package, which will be forwarded by the most approved express agency, with instructions to return the accompanying stamp. The supply is limited and will be exhausted long before the expiration of the month.
