SPEAKING OF THE REVOLUTION.

In the latter part of the 18th century, American colonists began to protest against British rule. This led to the American Revolutionary War. The war was fought between 1775 and 1783. It was a conflict between Britain and the American colonies, which later became the United States. The war was fought over issues of trade, taxes, and self-governance. The war ended with the signing of the Treaty of Paris in 1783, which recognized the independence of the United States.

TH. NEW WAYS OF ONE OF THE UNION'S SAVIORS.

Patriotism in Powder.

The manufacture of powder for firearms was a significant industry during the American Revolutionary War. It was crucial for the production of ammunition for muskets and cannons. The war had a significant impact on the economy, with many goods, such as food and clothing, becoming scarce due to the need for resources to support the war effort. The war ended with the signing of the Treaty of Paris in 1783, which recognized the independence of the United States.

A WIDE OPEN PAST
From present indications there will be no severe conflict at the Olympic Games in 1932. The United States team in the baseball, track and field and other events will bring the largest team to the Olympics since the war. A strong American team will be in the running for the gold medal in gymnastics, swimming, and tennis. The United States team in the track and field will be strong in the sprints, hurdles, and long jump. In the water polo the United States team will be the favorite. The American team in the gymnastics will be strong in the balance beam, vaulting, and the all-around. The American team in the tennis will be strong in the singles, doubles, and mixed doubles. The American team in the swimming will be strong in the individual events and the relay races. The American team in the gymnastics will be strong in the balance beam, vaulting, and the all-around.
