BLACKSMITHS.

TOMMY'S MILLERS.

At this writing a change is in the air. The sun rashes under days and nights, which is approached by everybody. But George Richard is a very old man.

Willie Stevens, the local boy, who is still at home, has gone to Santa Cruz, and has not returned yet. The way back to the village is still being kept running older and wiser with a view to the future.

All the labor in this vicinity has been very irregular and too small to make a good profit. But now it is all quiet and there is still a small amount of work to be done. But the work is all quiet and there is still a small amount of work to be done.

Barlow late last Sunday had his best girl, who was in town for the last time, and she is still there, and is very well dressed and tired of temperance. She has a very small but not a very bad look, and she is not going to be much trouble for the people who have her.

People are going up to the lake for a good time. Many are going to take a boat ride Thursday afternoon.

She is granted by the delegate of this town to the county convention Thursday morning. She has all the work and has just returned to the last call office. We are glad we are not in the same company, but we are doing nothing more.

They are her Sunday, and she is making all these interest to us. The piano, red, blue, and white, with a sign reading "Tom." The girl was absolutely stumbling in the brown.

The school district west of us in Allen township is making up its mind to purchase land and send in the move, and made a house shack ready.

The principal of the school was in Allen township on Wednesday, and said the work was done by the man of the few and the house of the few.

The silverware in the old store has just been put in a new store, and the owner of the store, who is a young man, has moved very fast.

We have just returned from Fort Wayne, Ind., and are visiting relatives, etc.

Mrs. Robert Higby and daughter of Owosso, Mich., are visiting relatives.

Miss Maggie and Mabel of Owosso, Mich., are visiting relatives.

Pratt Barlow returned Tuesday night from a visit with his niece in New Buffalo. He is a very pleasant young man.

Miss Aggie Barlow of Grand Rapids is visiting her parents, Mrs. Barlow and Mrs. Higby.

Our editor, J. M. McMillan, is a candidate for the nomination of circuit court judge for the county, and is working very hard.

Miss Mary Ann Mills, mother, sisters, are very cordial by the way. Mrs. F. W. Mills is a very nice lady.

TALMAGE'S SERMON.

The Preacher Discusses a CHILD'S PRAYER.

The Excitement, the Testimony, the Opening-Up an the Judgment—The Putting to the Test of a Truth by a Vote of a Head of a House.

In the Courtroom.

The sermon was delivered in the courtroom, where the judge, of the jury, and the spectators were seated. The room was dark, and only the light of the lamps on the walls could be seen. The judge was standing at the bench, and the jury was seated in the box. The spectators were crowded into the room, and the room was not able to hold them all.

The sermon was delivered by Elder Talmage, and was about a child's prayer. He said that every child had a right to pray, and that God would hear them. He said that the child's prayer had been the subject of much discussion, and that many people had said that it was not the right thing to pray for the things that children asked for.

The thing that the child had prayed for was his own name, and that he wanted to be called by that name. The judge said that the child had been called by that name, and that God had heard him.

The preacher said that the child had been a good boy, and that he had been obedient to his parents. He said that the child had been a good example to the other children, and that he had been a good example to the community.

The sermon was delivered in a very simple way, and was easy to understand. The preacher said that the child's prayer was a true prayer, and that God would hear it. He said that the child had been a good example to the community, and that he had been a good example to the children.

Pistols and Pestles.

The dwelling pest now occupies its proper place in the classification of the order of barberous. The pistol ought to have beside it in the list of dangerous enemies, I think, a name like "bullet ball," or "bullets" as some call it, for to say that to be shot by it or to be shot at by it has no meaning.

JAPAN'S GRAND PLAN

She would be mistress of the sea

Planning for territory destructive and

India's Grand Plan

The Japanese are not only to dominate the entire area of Japan, but they also plan to dominate the entire Pacific Ocean. This grand plan is based on the idea that Japan must have control of the entire ocean to be able to extend its territory to the west. The Japanese have already taken steps to achieve this goal, such as the construction of a large fleet and the development of air power. The ultimate goal is to dominate the entire Pacific Ocean, including the waters off the coast of America. The Japanese are planning to use this power to their advantage, and they are already making plans to take control of the resources in the region.

A Danish sailor's ingenious contrivance.

Danish I skippers' ingenious contrivance.

A Danish sailor has invented a contrivance by which he is able to converse with his fellow mariners at a distance. The device consists of a small telescope and a magnifying glass, which are fixed on a framework. The sailor is able to converse with his fellow mariners by means of this device, which enables him to see and hear what is going on around him. The device is simple and effective, and it is a great improvement over the traditional method of communication on board ship.
