Unfortunately, the document is not fully visible due to the cropping. However, based on the visible content, it appears to be a report on a golf event involving secretaries and greenkeepers, discussing the results and conditions of the course. The text also mentions considerations for drainage layers and soil mixes for teeing areas, particularly in sandy soil conditions.