Preparing a Greenkeepers’ Job Description

It is now common practice in industry for those in positions of management to be provided with a job description.

This document is normally drawn up after considerable discussion between the job holder and his immediate superior, ensuring a complete understanding between both parties regarding the broad responsibilities of the manager’s role and what is expected from him.

Few greenkeepers have a similar document, which is surprising when one considers most Committee Chairmen hold responsible positions in business and invariably have a job description themselves.

Several clubs have recently enquired whether a standard document exists and as a guide, and it must be emphasised it is only a guide, a format for a job description has been drawn up.

The job description must be individually produced because clubs need to put the emphasis on responsibilities in differing areas.

The job description should not attempt to state every task the greenkeeper is expected to carry out, but group activities under broad headings. To assist in clarifying thoughts when drafting the job description, think of the job relating to Money, Men, Machinery, Materials and Methods. These five M’s will cover just about everything needed to control the day-to-day workings of a golf course.

A written agreement between the Head Greenkeeper and his Committee will go some way to creating a better understanding of individual responsibilities.

It must also be said it is not a tablet of stone and will require updating, as and when, the emphasis on working practices need to be changed.

Safe, simple and tidy trenches

Drain your ground, lay your water/irrigation pipe, put in your power supplies - here are six good reasons to use Bourgein trenching machines:

1. Speed
2. Narrow trench width
3. Minimum surface disturbance
4. Easy to operate
5. Trenchers are small enough to operate in sites with limited access and light enough for delicate surfaces
6. Lower cost than a digger, spade or fork
