SPECIAL REPORT

In fear of the DROUGHT ORDER

The driest summer since records began in 1727 has seen golf courses, many already suffering hosepipe bans, bracing themselves for the potentially catastrophic impact of Drought Orders.

With normally lush courses turning yellower by the day and many already surviving on rationed water supplies the probability of a total ban by Drought Order on "non essential use" – which includes golf clubs – could see courses close and/or their greens being lost to the drought.

A spokesman for Yorkshire Water, one of the first companies to seek an Order, said that there would need to be a "significant amount" of rainfall before the need for the Order could be removed.

"Because of the British climate we work to fairly wide parameters but we are getting near to the edge at the moment. We have hit a level of water stocks we would not expect to hit until much later in the summer," explained the spokesman.

Yorkshire as a whole is perhaps the worst hit area in the country with 40% of expected rainfall over the last four months and West Yorkshire the worst in in Yorkshire with only 20% of expected rainfall between April and July.

Graham Hollingworth, Head Greenkeeper of Horsforth GC in Leeds, said that if the Drought Order came into effect it would be a disaster.

"We would have to close the course or at the very least move to temporary greens. As a greenkeeper I would prefer to close the course because even now there is damage done on the fairways.

"I was here in 1976 and it was bad then but this is as bad as it could get."

Ron Bramley, Secretary of Fulford GC in York, said that they had the benefit of a borehole from which they are allowed to take a million gallons between March and September with the authorisation of the water authorities.

Pat Murphy, Head Greenkeeper at usually lush Shipley GC, said that the streams which came down from the hills beside the course had totally dried up.

"We would normally cut our fairways three times a week but I can't remember the last time we did them," he explained.

Christopher Hodge, Secretary of Keighley GC, said that they had been taking water out of a local river but that the National River Authority was often stopping them. "I call them every day and if the level is 30 millimetres below a certain mark we are not allowed to take. If we are stopped we are currently allowed to use the domestic supply but that will stop if the Drought Order comes.

"We are letting our greens grow longer sometimes going from Tuesday to Saturday without cutting them. We are just keeping them alive watering them five minutes every evening. but if the Drought Order comes into effect we will just lose the greens. We can't really move to temporaries as our fairways are also so bad."

Clubs which had invested in tree planting projects in recent months were seeing many young trees die off before having a chance to establish themselves.

One potential solution to the threat of losing greens comes from South African-born agronomist Gordon Jaaback who has experience of working in arid conditions.

"I would suggest a light covering of straw over the greens pinned down with a net. This lets the light through and holds in the moisture, stopping evaporation," explained Gordon, who has also written a water management article on Page 15 in this issue.

"It must be wheat, not grass, straw and I would say that you would need two or three bales per green.

"Obviously while the greens are covered up you could still play off temporaries," he explained.

As Greenkeeper International went to press, and with the dry spell expected to continue, more water companies were seeking Drought Orders.

French seminar puts you in picture

Packages are available to attend the International Exhibition for Maintenance and Upkeep of Golf Courses in Orleans, France, on November 18-20.

The packages which include three nights bed and breakfast at the Novotel Hotel in Orleans, lunch on Saturday, Sunday and Monday, buffet dinner on Friday and gala dinners with entertainment on Saturday and Sunday nights and entrance to the exhibitions, entrance to the lectures and all transfers from the hotel to the exhibiton and restaurants costs 1760

French francs (approximately £220) another 600 francs for a single room. A simultaneous translation of the lectures in English will be made if there are sufficient non-French participants. Otherwise transcripts will be provided.

Lectures include "Weed control of summer grasses" by agronomist JM Calderon-Rodriguez; "Time Management" by a speaker from the Business European Centre; "Irrigation Water Quality" by course designer Didier Comte; "Speed of the Greens" by agronomist Abdo Badra and "Safety, European Norms (material, phytosanitary products, users" by Christian Pisseau, of the National course in Paris.

Less formal events include a golf tournament at Bordes GC, a rugby match in Orleans and the gala dinners which are a "Mexican" evening and a "French Cancan" evening.

Owen's now in charge of the Duke's Course

Owen Browne, Head Greenkeeper at the new Duke's Course in St Andrews - pictured - has been promoted to Course Manager.

Originally from Melbourne in Australia Owen was originally employed by Greenmaw (UK) as one of the construction team working on the course and specifically involved in the construction of the greens, tees and bunkers as well as the installation of the irrigation system.

He was promoted to Head Greenkeeper in November '93 and was involved in the interviewing and directing of staff and the establishment and maintenance of all turf and landscape areas.

In his new position Owen's duties will also include the ongoing maintenance and continued growing in of the new par-72 course and ensuring that the playing conditions laid down by course designer Peter Thomson are adhered to.

His Royal Highness the Duke of York attended the opening of the courses just prior to The Open Championship at St Andrews in July.

FLYING DIVOTS

■ Nigel Tyler has been appointed Technical Sales Representative to the Amenity Division of County Crops Ltd. He was previously employed by Rufford Top Dress Supplies Ltd.

Home studying gives Alan a chance of NVQ success

The Welsh College of Horticulture NVQ Amenity Horticulture Home Study Programme has proved a huge success for Germany-based Alan Walton, pictured.

Alan, who has been in Germany since 1986, is currently Assistant Head Greenkeeper at Sennelager GC in Lisspringe.

"I had decided not to go to German college because I wanted to see if the standard of greenkeeping education in Britain was as good as reputed," said 33 year-old Alan. "I was pleased to discover the Welsh College of Horticulture and its home learning modules for NVQ Level 2 status.

"It must be said though that due to the level of information and competence required that only a relatively experienced greenkeeper can hope to do this course in the time I have done it. A total of six months studying and three weeks at college is not a long time for someone starting from scratch."

Graham Wright, the Greenkeeping Courses Co-ordinator said that the Home Study Programme allows the student to study at his or her own pace; study technical papers in an easy to read format and achieve NVQ Level 2.

"The potential users of the programmes are people who are part of rural golf clubs with small staff, greenkeepers who are apprehensive of college courses or living overseas, small companies unable to release staff for training courses or people undergoing a career change," explained Graham.

Anyone seeking further information on the home learning programme should contact Graham Wright on 01352 840861.

● The Greenkeepers Training Committee is now an approved centre for NVQs: for details call 01347 838640.
