A Hertfordshire greenkeeper who saw his own job advertised in Greenkeeper International has won damages of £14,440 after using the BIGGA Legal Helpline to take action against his golf club.

The 62 year old, who had worked, often single handed on the course, for four and a half years, saw the job of Head Greenkeeper Designate for his own golf club advertised, although no discussions had ever taken place about the possibility of a new appointment.

A short time later the greenkeeper was first to respond to the recently appointed man, at which time he contacted the Hambro Legal Helpline who put him in touch with the Association’s solicitors, Kirkby’s.

“We wrote to the club asking for reasons for his suspension and enquiring whether or not it was intended to pursue any disciplinary proceedings,” said solicitor, David Burton of Kirkby’s.

“Having received no response from the club we wrote to the owner once again indicating that unless we received a substantive response to our previous letter our client would be returning to court.”

“We then received a fax from the club saying that due to the recent change in circumstances at the club our client’s services were no longer required. Unfortunately we therefore have to make him redundant from today’s date.”

“This is certainly the first time in all the years that we have dealt with employment work that somebody has first found out that they have been dismissed via a communication to their solicitor,” said Mr Burton.

“We immediately issued Industrial Tribunal proceedings, following consultation with Hambro.”

Prior to the Tribunal the club threatened that unless a modest sum of compensation was accepted the club would be put into liquidation and during the Tribunal the club argued that the greenkeeper had been offered and turned down another position and that he was suffering illness and would have been dismissed in any event.

Perhaps not surprisingly neither argument prevailed upon the Tribunal and our client was ultimately awarded the maximum compensatory award which, together with wages in lieu of notice and his basic award for unfair dismissal, totalled £14,440,” said Mr Burton.

Commenting on the award, BIGGA’s Executive Director Neil Thomas said, “This is an excellent example of Hambro and Kirkby’s working jointly to protect the interests of a member, albeit in the distressing circumstances of dismissal.”

“It is important also that members are alert to the services that can be provided before a case reaches dismissal stage and in appropriate circumstances members can be provided with legal support at an early point in any dispute or disciplinary proceedings e.g. a summons to appear before the Green Committee.

In this way the Association aims to assist in preventing disciplinary proceedings moving on to an advanced and possibly terminal stage.

“While other Associations provide support following dismissal and through Industrial Tribunals, I believe BIGGA is unique in the assistance it can give to members in a supportive and preventative capacity at the onset of a dispute or disciplinary proceedings.”

“It goes without saying that this service is a very considerable membership benefit.”

SSSI status conferred on Thorpeness GC Thorpeness Golf Club has been designated a Site of Special Scientific Interest by English Nature, due to the work carried out by the green staff on bracken, bramble removal and gorse regeneration which has caused the Woodlark and Nightjar population to increase to above the national average.

“In 1997, the number of nesting sites of the Nightjar was recorded on the site and played extensively. Active leaf growth ceases during mid-November and resumes during March. I have explained the success which I have achieved in the past on both courses I have been responsible for in England and Germany and would like to relay the experiences, methods and theories about increasing rooting depth from other greenkeepers, agronomists and manufacturers of equipment. A new man at Whitby

Thanks to the NVQ system Whitby Golf Club discovered a “new man” amid their existing staff.

Two years ago, Robin Evans saw the benefits that could be gained by going down the road of NVQ. Prior to this decision he had been finding it hard to proceed through the normal system because he found, as many do, it difficult to express his ideas on paper. The NVQ system seemed to be the answer, offering a practical hands on way of proving his technical ability.

Robin took it upon himself to finance his way forward and prove himself by means of the NVQ System.

Within a week or so, in the capable of hands of Head Greenerkeeper, Ian Lavelle, the golf club noticed a big change in, not only the attitude, but also the once hidden talents of their new NVQ person. It seems revitalised, greenerkeeper.

“Robin’s whole outlook has changed. He has begun to display a renewed personal motivation in his job, pride in his work was evident and his previously subdued skills were now coming to light once more,” said Ian.

This delight of Whitby Golf Club in his new attitude spurred Robin on and he constantly looked for new ways to improve his new standards.

Robin states, “All I knew about the job was down to Ian’s training and the time he made for me to learn the required skills. However, I thought it was about time I achieved a formal qualification in my own right and sought out details of the NVQ Course.”

Robin’s assessor, Andrew Boyd, Head Greenkeeper of Bridlington Golf Club, was delighted with his response, especially now Whitby Golf Club could see the worth of the NVQ way forward.

“What is most rewarding to me as Robin’s Assessor is to see the system in place and working to produce a professional man with a whole new outlook and motivation. Added to this is of course the valuable help given to both Assessor and Candidate in the skilful hands of the G.T.C. and support throughout the two years of hard work.”

Geoff Cooling, Whitby’s Greens Chairman said, “The Committee is delighted at Robin’s success. At a time when a man of his practical experience might reasonably be expected to rest on his laurels, it is pleasing to see that he has made this tremendous effort to improve his knowledge. Both he and the Club must benefit in the long term.”

Ian Lavelle added, “Robin has served Whitby loyally for many years and I and the other members of my staff are delighted at his achievement.”

Practical Greenkeeping given a boost

Following the decision re-print Practical Golf by Jim Arthur, R&A Secretary Sir Michael Bonallack, has written to all greenkeeping colleges explaining that the book promotes sound greenkeeping practices and should be made available to students.

“It is an excellent book and we have agreed to a re-print and I wrote to all the colleges to let them know of its availability,” explained Sir Michael.

“Jim Arthur’s book promotes sound greenkeeping practices and the colleges should use it as part of their teaching tools,” he added.

While carrying Jim Arthur’s name the book, in addition to containing Jim Arthur’s philosophies on greenkeeping gathered and honed from a lifetime in the industry, is a collection of views and writing from acknowledged experts in many different fields of the game including Donald Steel, Neil Baldwin, Barry Cooper, John Allbut and Jim’s own son, Richard Arthur.

“The original idea for the book came from current BIGGA Chairman, Gordon Child, and it has become a compendium of views from top experts in their respective fields,” said Jim.

Autographed copies of the book are available from BIGGA HOUSE priced £29.95 plus £3 p&p.
