Thanks 1
I would just like to express my thanks and gratitude to Rain bird International and the Grand Tour Scholarship Committee for awarding me one of the inaugural Grand Tour Scholarships (western route). I would also like to say a special thank you to Bettina Schrickel for organising such a wonderful trip, and to all the Superintendents and their assistants for sparing their valuable time to give a detailed tour of their courses and facilities.

The tour was an experience that I will never forget, and the knowledge that I have gained from the trip will be invaluable to me. I would urge anyone to apply for the scholarship as a great wealth of knowledge and exchange of ideas, as well as making new friends in the golf world is made possible by this opportunity.

Once again thank you to everyone involved in the Grand Tour Scholarship.

Colin Mumford
Via e-mail

Thanks 2
During my recent accident the help that I received from all concerned was excellent and much appreciated. A wee word to our members. Our insurance package works for all. Please use it!

The extra cash during my seven weeks off work gave me a big boost when I was feeling a bit sorry for myself. So I am sorry it was just not possible to ask everyone.

The night was a very enjoyable occasion, even though Jim’s wife, Audrey, was unable to join us. It was very fitting that Walter Woods, George Brown, Bill Lawson and Derek Green could be with us to make the night so memorable for Jim.

Jim has been and still is a great friend, not just to greenkeepers, but also to the whole industry. He has given us so much and it was nice to see him honoured in this way. I know Jim has written to thank all who were there, but I would like to thank them all personally for making such long journeys to be with us. It just proves the respect we all have for him and his work over six decades.

Gordon F Child
Churston

Much Deserved Honour 1
In our May magazine you would have seen our Chairman making the presentation of the Clay Honeymoon Membership to Jim Arthur.

I was very pleased to be asked to arrange a small dinner to tie in with Elliott and Neil’s visit to Westbury in Exeter. At the same time I invited a few of Jim’s oldest friends who have worked with and known him for a long time. This proved to be my only problem, because I could have invited so many greenkeepers who have great respect for him and his work and also cherish his friendship. So, I am sorry it was just not possible to ask everyone.

The night was a very enjoyable occasion, even though Jim’s wife, Audrey, was unable to join us. It was very fitting that Walter Woods, George Brown, Bill Lawson and Derek Green could be with us to make the night so memorable for Jim.

Jim has been and still is a great friend, not just to greenkeepers, but also to the whole industry. He has given us so much and it was nice to see him honoured in this way. I know Jim has written to thank all who were there, but I would like to thank them all personally for making such long journeys to be with us. It just proves the respect we all have for him and his work over six decades.

Gordon F Child
Churston

Much Deserved Honour 2
A few months ago I was contacted by our Association Past Chairman, Gordon Child, to ask if I, along with George Brown, of Turnberry, could travel down to Exeter to an arranged dinner and presentation dedicated to Mr Jim Arthur, who recently was made an Honorary Member of BIGGA.

I have personally known Jim for over 25 years, most of it in my capacity as Links Supervisor at St Andrews, where Jim was Agronomist to the R&A. Throughout all of those years, I have gained nothing but respect for this man’s knowledge and contributions to greening, not only in Britain but throughout Europe.

Well Done Brian!
Through the pages of our magazine, I should like to congratulate Brian Turner and his staff at Sunningdale on managing to put on the Seve Ballesteros Trophy in such adverse conditions. To be able to play any golf at all on the Saturday after all the overnight rain took a great effort and hard work by all his staff.

It does not end there, the pro’s move on, with no thought of the mess and mud left to contend with. It is really silly to put on a tournament of this magnitude at this time of the year. April to Greenkeepers is still a time when snow or frost could make the course beyond playable.

A E Watson
President BIGGA
Surrey Section
via e-mail

Ask Us Another
I have just read the letter from Eric Lindsay in the May issue of Greenkeeper International with regard to a Short-Cut greens mower.

The AEA is the UK trade association representing the agricultural and outdoor power equipment industries.

We have a wide range of information on the industry and have found what you are looking for.

The company to contact is Eurogreen, The Tythe Barn Farm, Tinimore Lane, Worthing, West Sussex BN12 6NZ Tel: +44 1903 700678 or Fax: +44 1903 700686.

Hope that they can help you.

Debbie Dale
Overseas Manager

Top Issue
I write with congratulations for arguably the "best ever", certainly the most relevant ever, edition of the Greenkeeper International - the April issue. John Ross's sensible reply to the "Temple" article epitomised what this Association and its members stand for, and recognised the damage that an ill-advised article in a National Newspaper could do. (Of course, Temple Golf Club and Martin Gunn are to be congratulated for their stance; it would be interesting to hear their experiences of ord.)

I remember winter golf in the 70's - waiting weeks on end for a game when snow and frost finally thawed. Then, when the course was open, chances were that the greens hadn't been cut or rolled, holes weren't changed, putting was a lottery etc, etc. Wasn't a probability of the course was far higher than it was during the 70's and it is a disgrace to suggest otherwise.

Kerran Daly's witty essay touched on the subject of looming legislation within the industry. When oh when are we going to realise that we must take the lead now and not wait to be tamely led by "Eurocrats" from an ivory tower somewhere near Brussels?

'Change is inevitable and continual' - we often resist change because of the additional work-load and stresses it brings but we must shape and influence the change. We certainly can't afford to bury our heads - after all, who knows what Brussels may do in the future? Change is inevitable and continual.

Kerran Daly's witty essay touched on the subject of looming legislation within the industry. When oh when are we going to realise that we must take the lead now and not wait to be tamely led by "Eurocrats" from an ivory tower somewhere near Brussels?

Change is inevitable and continual - we often resist change because of the additional workload and stresses it brings but we must shape and influence the change. We certainly can't afford to bury our heads - after all, who knows what Brussels may do with the sand?

Kerran Daly's witty essay touched on the subject of looming legislation within the industry. When oh when are we going to realise that we must take the lead now and not wait to be tamely led by "Eurocrats" from an ivory tower somewhere near Brussels?

Kerran Daly's witty essay touched on the subject of looming legislation within the industry. When oh when are we going to realise that we must take the lead now and not wait to be tamely led by "Eurocrats" from an ivory tower somewhere near Brussels?