Jim McKenzie was in the middle of the worst day of his professional life. It was Sunday morning and The Ryder Cup, the event he’d been dreaming about and praying for since 1996, was in the middle of its second long rain delay.

Play wasn’t going to finish that day and there was a prospect of the match not going the full distance for the first time in its illustrious history. "I was in need of a lift so went down to the hotel and had a chat with Debbie, my wife, which cheered me up a bit and on the way back I came out of the lift and bumped into Colin Montgomerie. He said, ‘Come with me,’ and we sat in a corner and had a coffee,” revealed Jim.

"Colin said, ‘The bottom line is this. We’re currently two points down and if we don’t play today all the matches out there will be declared halved, and we’re not traditionally strong in the Singles. If we can get all the matches completed this afternoon it gives us a chance,’” recalled Jim.

With that message ringing in his ears Jim returned to his men – 65 of his own Celtic Manor staff and 71 volunteer greenkeepers – and urged them to lift their tired bodies once again for yet another monumental effort.

"I told them that I’d just spoken to Colin and that he’s asked that if there was any way we could get play going we could go down in history as the first greenkeeping crew to help win the Ryder Cup,” said Jim, who did say that a Wales Open of a few years ago had endured three inches of rain and finished within half an hour of its scheduled time.

"Colin asked if there was any way we could get play going, we could go down in history as the first greenkeeping crew to help win the Ryder Cup," said Jim McKenzie.

How the Ryder Cup was won

Celtic Manor’s Jim McKenzie talks exclusively with Scott MacCallum about the finest greenkeeping achievement of modern times.

"I told them that I’d just spoken to Colin and that he’s asked that if there was any way we could get play going we could go down in history as the first greenkeeping crew to help win the Ryder Cup," said Jim.

"Colin asked if there was any way we could get play going, we could go down in history as the first greenkeeping crew to help win the Ryder Cup," said Jim.

Ironically, if the match had been played a week before or a week after there wouldn’t have been any problems at all as the weather was just fine.

"When the volunteers arrived on the Saturday before the course was looking better than it had ever done,” he recalled.

"However, we had 13 mil during Wednesday practice and could see things getting worse, but on Thursday we got fresh information from the on-site meteorologist that it wasn’t just going to be wet on Friday it was going to be appallingly wet.”
Jim McKenzie was in the middle of the worst day of his professional life. It was Sunday morning and The Ryder Cup, the event he’d been dreaming about and praying for since 1996, was in the middle of its second long rain delay.

Play wasn’t going to finish that day and there was a prospect of the match not going the full distance for the first time in its illustrious history.

“I was in need of a lift so went down to the hotel and had a chat with Debbie, my wife, which cheered me up a bit and on the way back I came out of the lift and bumped into Colin Montgomerie. He said, ‘Come with me,’ and we sat in a corner and had a coffee,” revealed Jim.

“Colin said, ‘The bottom line is this. We’re currently two points down and if we don’t play today all the matches out there will be declared halved, and we’re up on all six of them at the moment. If that happens we’ll go into the Singles still two points down and we’re not traditionally strong in the Singles. If we can get all the matches completed this afternoon it gives us a chance,’” recalled Jim.

With that message ringing in his ears Jim returned to his men – 65 of his own Celtic Manor staff and 71 volunteer greenkeepers – and urged them to lift their tired bodies once again for yet another monumental effort.

“I told them that I’d just spoken to Colin and that he’s asked that if there was any way we could get play going we could go down in history as the first greenkeeping crew to help win the Ryder Cup,”

And that is exactly what happened. The crew worked tirelessly to make the saturated course playable for an afternoon start and the players did their bit by turning their overnight leads into five and a half points out of six.

“If we hadn’t pulled it off on Sunday we would have gone into the Singles two points down and we would probably have got no more than nine points, instead of the magic 14.5.

“The shift that the guys put in on that Sunday afternoon, and the Saturday night before, was absolutely astonishing – outrageous! And that Sunday afternoon turned out to be the greatest day in the history of European golf,” said Jim, who is not one given to hyperbole.

Weather conditions were always the one nagging doubt about the 2010 Ryder Cup. The venue was custom built to cope with the demands of the third biggest sporting event in the world and no stone had been left unturned in ensuring a successful Cup.

However, the pressures on the worldwide golfing calendar had pushed the match into October for only the second time in its history and the South Wales weather can be notoriously fickle. And so it was. “We had 55% of our monthly rainfall in two days – about two inches,” said Jim, who did say that a Wales Open of a few years ago had endured three inches of rain and finished within half an hour of its scheduled time.

“Colin asked if there was any way we could get play going, we could go down in history as the first greenkeeping crew to help win the Ryder Cup” Jim McKenzie

Celtic Manor’s Jim McKenzie talks exclusively with Scott MacCallum about the finest greenkeeping achievement of modern times

Ironically, if the match had been played a week before or a week after there wouldn’t have been any problems at all as the weather was just fine.

“When the volunteers arrived on the Saturday before the course was looking better than it had ever done,” he recalled.

“However, we had 13 mil during Wednesday practice and could see things getting worse, but on Thursday we got fresh information from the on-site meteorologist that it wasn’t just going to be wet on Friday it was going to be appallingly wet.”
The European Tour had invited Gerry Byrne, Superintendent at the K Club, venue for the 2006 match, as guests and earlier in the week, Gerry had offered his successor one piece of advice.

"Gerry said that he didn’t think we had enough chip bark in stock. I see surely we’ve got loads here, but Gerry was right and on Thursday night I was getting lorry loads brought in – £25,000 worth, thanks to Inseapes, the Bridge-based contractor, who managed to source it from all over the place."

That man was probably the first time that the 130 strong army of green staff discovered what the work was to be in store for them.

"The work that the boys put in on the Friday had to be seen to be believed. Sir Terry Matthews actually came down to tell the guys that they had probably saved the Ryder Cup, and I told them that they had put the matches back on track."

Jim McKenzie

“We were up all Thursday night managing the arrival of the lorries. It wasn’t quite the start to the Ryder Cup that I’d envisaged and I definitely feel not one standing of the 1st tee for the first game,” said Jim, who is now the only greenkeeping history to have managed a course for a Monday finish of a Ryder Cup.

“The work that the boys put in on the Friday had to be seen to be believed. Sir Terry Matthews actually came down to tell the guys that they had probably saved the Ryder Cup, and I told them that they had put the matches back on track.”

Jim McKenzie

“Those who had to go were those whose flights booked, work or family commitments had to leave, although amazingly around 55 of the 71 were able to remain. Those who watched Jim closely said that his son, 14-year-old Elliott, and wife, Debbie, were out throwing chip bark and pushing water off fairways.

“The galleries had not been allowed on to the site on the Sunday morning, coming home in their cars from 6am to noon, there were a lot of people who were very unhappy. Guys like Billy McMillan, Russell Anderson, Angus McLeod, Robert Johnstone and Steve Chappell – each armed with squeegees, roller mops, pumps and bunker rakes – each at the same time, efficiently all at the same time, and provided them with complete with cleaning jets, which was such a help to Nicola, who was heading our administration.”

Another great source of support was Chris Kennedy, and his partner, Joel.

“Chris is the most experienced tournament host in our industry and his contribution in terms of encouragement and how to deal with the politics associated with situations like this was invaluable and could not have come from anybody else.”

So having missed the opening tee shots on the Friday how much of the Ryder Cup did Jim actually witness?

“I saw three shots all week and two of them were putts,” laughed, adding that he had watched Graeme McDowell’s heroics on the 16th and almost to get to the 17th only be thwarted by the massive galleries.

“Those who had to go were those whose flights booked, work or family commitments had to leave, although amazingly around 55 of the 71 were able to extend their stay.”

“They were from Spain, Denmark, Switzerland, America, Holland, as well as the home nations and a significant proportion from the local area. They were all easy to motivate because they all wanted to be there. I’ve had emails from many of them saying that it was the greatest week of their lives.”

Those who watched Jim closely during the Monday commented on how calm and assured he was during what was undoubtedly the most stressful period filled of his life.

“There were places I could go where I sit a bit down or when I wanted to punch the wall, but I wanted to punch the wall, but

“I was wondering what was coming next – snow!”

The volunteers had come from far and wide and drawn from a 300 strong list of applicants.

“They were from Spain, Denmark, Switzerland, America, Holland, as well as the home nations and a significant proportion from the local area. They were all easy to motivate because they all wanted to be there. I’ve had emails from many of them saying that it was the greatest week of their lives.”

Those who watched Jim closely during the Monday commented on how calm and assured he was during what was undoubtedly the most stressful period filled of his life.

“There were places I could go where I sit a bit down or when I wanted to punch the wall, but I wanted to punch the wall, but

“I was wondering what was coming next – snow!”

The volunteers had come from far and wide and drawn from a 300 strong list of applicants.

“They were from Spain, Denmark, Switzerland, America, Holland, as well as the home nations and a significant proportion from the local area. They were all easy to motivate because they all wanted to be there. I’ve had emails from many of them saying that it was the greatest week of their lives.”

Those who watched Jim closely during the Monday commented on how calm and assured he was during what was undoubtedly the most stressful period filled of his life.

“There were places I could go where I sit a bit down or when I wanted to punch the wall, but I wanted to punch the wall, but

“I was wondering what was coming next – snow!”

The volunteers had come from far and wide and drawn from a 300 strong list of applicants.

“They were from Spain, Denmark, Switzerland, America, Holland, as well as the home nations and a significant proportion from the local area. They were all easy to motivate because they all wanted to be there. I’ve had emails from many of them saying that it was the greatest week of their lives.”

Those who watched Jim closely during the Monday commented on how calm and assured he was during what was undoubtedly the most stressful period filled of his life.

“There were places I could go where I sit a bit down or when I wanted to punch the wall, but I wanted to punch the wall, but

“I was wondering what was coming next – snow!”

The volunteers had come from far and wide and drawn from a 300 strong list of applicants.

“They were from Spain, Denmark, Switzerland, America, Holland, as well as the home nations and a significant proportion from the local area. They were all easy to motivate because they all wanted to be there. I’ve had emails from many of them saying that it was the greatest week of their lives.”

Those who watched Jim closely during the Monday commented on how calm and assured he was during what was undoubtedly the most stressful period filled of his life.

“There were places I could go where I sit a bit down or when I wanted to punch the wall, but

“I was wondering what was coming next – snow!”

The volunteers had come from far and wide and drawn from a 300 strong list of applicants.

“They were from Spain, Denmark, Switzerland, America, Holland, as well as the home nations and a significant proportion from the local area. They were all easy to motivate because they all wanted to be there. I’ve had emails from many of them saying that it was the greatest week of their lives.”

Those who watched Jim closely during the Monday commented on how calm and assured he was during what was undoubtedly the most stressful period filled of his life.

“There were places I could go where I sit a bit down or when I wanted to punch the wall, but I wanted to punch the wall, but

“I was wondering what was coming next – snow!”

The volunteers had come from far and wide and drawn from a 300 strong list of applicants.

“They were from Spain, Denmark, Switzerland, America, Holland, as well as the home nations and a significant proportion from the local area. They were all easy to motivate because they all wanted to be there. I’ve had emails from many of them saying that it was the greatest week of their lives.”

Those who watched Jim closely during the Monday commented on how calm and assured he was during what was undoubtedly the most stressful period filled of his life.

“There were places I could go where I sit a bit down or when I wanted to punch the wall, but I wanted to punch the wall, but

“I was wondering what was coming next – snow!”

The volunteers had come from far and wide and drawn from a 300 strong list of applicants.

“They were from Spain, Denmark, Switzerland, America, Holland, as well as the home nations and a significant proportion from the local area. They were all easy to motivate because they all wanted to be there. I’ve had emails from many of them saying that it was the greatest week of their lives.”

Those who watched Jim closely during the Monday commented on how calm and assured he was during what was undoubtedly the most stressful period filled of his life.

“There were places I could go where I sit a bit down or when I wanted to punch the wall, but I wanted to punch the wall, but

“I was wondering what was coming next – snow!”

The volunteers had come from far and wide and drawn from a 300 strong list of applicants.

“They were from Spain, Denmark, Switzerland, America, Holland, as well as the home nations and a significant proportion from the local area. They were all easy to motivate because they all wanted to be there. I’ve had emails from many of them saying that it was the greatest week of their lives.”

Those who watched Jim closely during the Monday commented on how calm and assured he was during what was undoubtedly the most stressful period filled of his life.

“There were places I could go where I sit a bit down or when I wanted to punch the wall, but I wanted to punch the wall, but

“I was wondering what was coming next – snow!”

The volunteers had come from far and wide and drawn from a 300 strong list of applicants.

“They were from Spain, Denmark, Switzerland, America, Holland, as well as the home nations and a significant proportion from the local area. They were all easy to motivate because they all wanted to be there. I’ve had emails from many of them saying that it was the greatest week of their lives.”

Those who watched Jim closely during the Monday commented on how calm and assured he was during what was undoubtedly the most stressful period filled of his life.

“There were places I could go where I sit a bit down or when I wanted to punch the wall, but I wanted to punch the wall, but

“I was wondering what was coming next – snow!”

The volunteers had come from far and wide and drawn from a 300 strong list of applicants.
“The work that the boys put in on the Friday had to be seen to be believed. Sir Terry Matthews actually came down to tell the guys that they had probably saved the Ryder Cup, and I told them that they had put the matches back on track.”

Jim McKenzie

“We were up all Thursday night managing the arrival of the lorries. It wasn’t quite the start to the Ryder Cup that I’d envisaged; I actually pictured myself standing of the 1st tee for the first game,” said Jim, who is now the only greenkeeper to have managed a course for a Monday finish of a Ryder Cup.

“The work that the boys put in on the Friday had to be seen to be believed. Sir Terry Matthews actually came down to tell the guys that they had probably saved the Ryder Cup, and I told them that they had put the matches back on track.”

Jim McKenzie

“I was wondering what was coming next - snow!”

The volunteers had come from far and wide and drawn from a 300 strong list of applicants.

“They were from Spain, Denmark, Switzerland, America, Holland, as well as the home nations and a significant proportion from the local area. They were all easy to motivate because they all wanted to be there. I’ve had emails from many of them saying that it was the greatest week of their lives.”

Those who watched Jim closely during the week commented on how calm and assured he was during what was undoubtedly a very stressful period filled of his life.

“There were places I could go when I was a bit down or when I wanted to punch the wall, but there were a lot of people who were a calming influence. Guys like Billy McMillan, Russell Anderson, Angus McConnell, Robert Mullen and others, including Jim’s son, 14 year-old Elliott, and wife, Debbie, were out throwing chip bark and pushing water off fairways all the time that the 130 strong army of green staff discovered what the work was to have in store for them.

“He was probably the first time that the 130 strong army of green staff discovered what the work was to have in store for them.

“We were up all Thursday night managing the arrival of the lorries. It wasn’t quite the start to the Ryder Cup that I’d envisaged; I actually pictured myself standing of the 1st tee for the first game,” said Jim, who is now the only greenkeeper to have managed a course for a Monday finish of a Ryder Cup.

“The work that the boys put in on the Friday had to be seen to be believed. Sir Terry Matthews actually came down to tell the guys that they had probably saved the Ryder Cup, and I told them that they had put the matches back on track.”

Jim McKenzie

“My day did not right. The buses all arrived late at night, and beds, the same places we are all innocent.”

BUDGET: Arrive and leaving...
With the course scheduled to host the Wales Open in May, next year and the last of the structures not due to leave site until December 6 time is tight and although the Roman Road Course, has hosted the Wales Open before and could do so again, there is pressure for the 2010 course to put its best foot forward again.

“It’s going to be a combination of seeding, turfing, harrowing and rolling. No rest for the wicked, I’m afraid.”

So, a week on from that famous Monday, what were Jim’s reflections?

“The greatest highs and the greatest lows of my entire life, all in the space of four days. Friday morning and Sunday morning were extraordinary lows, and Monday afternoon, when it was all over and the guys were getting that ovation, was the greatest high of my career.”

He also had nothing but praise for his crew.

“They were working from 5am to 8pm a lot of the time in the cold and wet. We tried to keep them warm and we fed them well, but there was a lot of down time waiting for the rain to stop. It was actually very humbling to watch.”

And how close did the Ryder Cup come to not finishing with all 28 points accounted for and, possibly, a different result?

“ Probably a couple of hours, possibly just an hour, because if we’d started any later on the Sunday we wouldn’t have had Saturday completed and if we hadn’t finished there was no guarantee that we would have finished on Monday.”

A lot has been written and a lot has been said about the 2010 Ryder Cup at Celtic Manor Resort but no man, outside of Captains and players, experienced it in quite the same way as Jim McKenzie.

Ryder Cup Memories

Jim McKenzie was followed down the 18th by 140 greenkeepers. It was at the start of the Closing Ceremony. Jim appeared on the first greenkeepers were hi and police with their hats and caps on the 18th tee. It was a moment we knew we were the greenkeepers. The noise was incredible and will live with the Ryder Cup consult and Eagle designs and delivers quality golf club collateral

Eagle designs and delivers quality golf club collateral

A seed box that... will make a difference

Call Nick or Dave now to discuss your wash water system requirements on: 01925 758099

THE GRASS GRABBER RANGE

THE NEW G6 MODEL

A more affordable equipment wash water system to bring you in line with current disposable groundwater regulations and save your club money now.

Product package includes - commissioning, delivery, installation & three years consumables

1) Take out grass, stones and balls
2) Take out oil, diesel, petrol and grease
3) Remove pesticides

Result? Clean Recycleable Water
• 30 day money back guarantee

www.grassgrabber.com

2) Take out oil, diesel, petrol and grease
3) Remove pesticides