FOREWORDS
President’s, Vice-President’s Messages .......................... 6

President Joe Ondo asks superintendents to share their El Nino survival techniques, if they have any. VP Mike Perham questions whether superintendents are being held to an impossibly high standard... and notes the retirement of Dan Jones, CGCS, editor emeritus of the Florida Green.

SPOTLIGHT
GCSAA, Fund-Raisers, Education, Board Meeting .......... 12

Florida was well represented at Anaheim; Lake City alumni, Central Florida GCSA and Valent raised money for scholarship & research; FTGA conducted five regional seminars; FGCSA board strengthens ties to FTGA, creates full-time staff position.

COVER STORY
Naples’ Future Today! ............................................ 28

Kensington Country Club is a new golf course with a young superintendent in his first stint as the top gun. Kensington is going places... the future.

PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT
Employees, Computers ........................................ 48

How to develop and nurture your employees — biggest asset; free e-mail service; IFAS releases a CD to ID bugs.

HANdS ON
Spray It On, Blow It Off ........................................ 54

“Wall-to-wall” is a term for carpet salesmen, not spraying of chemicals; Joe Ondo discusses the spray operation at a public course; Brian Lentz at a private facility. Darren Davis’s Super Tip is use and construction of a blow-off station.

INDUSTRY ROUNDUP
Coordinator, Alliance, Panhandle .......................... 60

Dr. John Cisar is UF’s new turf program coordinator; an architect and a superintendent will lead the Florida Golf Alliance; Dr. Brian Unruh discusses the turf program in the Panhandle, UF’s fourth and newest.

STEWARDSHIP
It Takes a Village ............................................... 72

The Village of Golf lives harmoniously with nature; green is not always green; do-it-yourself wildlife calendar boosts morale, raises money for wildlife projects.

RESEARCH
Green vs Speed ................................................ 84

There are some statistically significant differences in speed among bermudagrass cultivars, but they’re not very useful because green is the enemy of speed.

AFTERWORDS
El Nino, Power, Bridges, Good & Bad ................... 88

Dr. Monica Elliott of UF and John Foy of USGA Green Section wrote letters to Florida superintendents and golf courses, explaining why superintendents can’t control El Nino; Rick Tatum says FGCSA, FTGA and GCSAA equal power; Mark Jarrell talks about building bridges; Joel Jackson finds some good in every piece of bad news... or vice versa.
