Standard Golf catalog goes tee to green
Standard Golf Co. is celebrating 70 years of producing a complete line of golf course accessories with a new 48-page catalog.
Standard Golf's 1990 Catalog is a comprehensive resource of product information — from tee to green, clubhouse, practice range and maintenance shed. It includes a variety of new and improved products.
Among the new products featured are the precision-crafted Yankee line of rakes, squeegees and lutes. Standard Golf has been appointed the exclusive supplier of these tools to the U.S. golf course industry.
Also featured in the catalog are EZ-Reach, an expanded and improved selection of practice green flags and markers, and hassle-free PVC hazard markers.

Comprehensive turf-care guide prepared
Proven techniques and products for growing and maintaining healthier, more beautiful turf and ornamental plants are detailed in a new, full-color publication available free from FERMONTA ASC Corp., the maker of Daconil 2787 fungicide and other turf care products.
Each of the first three sections in the 32-page Weed and Disease Control Guide for Turf and Ornamentals provides a chart of strategies for preventing or controlling the principal diseases of turf, ornamental plants and conifers in regions across the United States.
The fourth section describes the pre-emergence and post-emergence herbicides to control weeds in newly seeded or established turf areas.

1990 Masters Journal ready
The 1990 Masters Journal, a commemorative magazine to be sold at the Masters Tournament in April, will be produced by Golf Digest.
Cadillac Motor Division, the Travelers Companies and IBM are sponsoring the annual magazine and will distribute it privately as well as in national newsstand distribution.
The magazine will serve as an in-depth guide for spectators and viewers of the April 5-8 telecasts.

Int'l supers
The organization's president resigned just before the Orlando conference, so the association's future is somewhat in limbo.
France: The concept of a superintendent is relatively new in France, where the job has traditionally been shared by a greenskeeper and course director.
But golf in France, as everywhere, is growing.

Spoon-feeding explained
Effectively “spoon-feeding” high-traffic or problem areas on golf courses is the subject of a new, four-color brochure from Plant Marvel Laboratories, Inc.
The term “spoon-feeding” refers to the concept of applying small amounts of water-soluble fertilizer to selected areas to help turf achieve total nutrient use with even, predictable growth.
A graph shows how better levels of nutritional control are achieved with spoon-feeding.
