Egypt Valley CC 'one of my best,' says Arthur Hills

Egypt Valley Country Club opened its 36 holes Oct. 1 in Grand Rapids, Mich., to accolades from its architect, Arthur Hills.

The courses are "absolutely one of the best we have ever done," Hills said.

The layouts — The Valley Course and The Ridge Course — feature a stunning set of vistas among its mix of rolling terrain, trees, meadows, water and mounds.

Hills said the site of the Egypt Valley courses is one the best he has ever worked with. "The whole place lent itself to one good golf hole after another in terms of my criteria. I think it is going to be outstanding."

The course was built by Wadsworth Construction Co.

Bates takes design team international

Golf course architects Gene Bates & Associates, Inc. of Palm Beach Gardens, Fla., is designing new courses in Sweden and Jamaica.

Working with Finnish developer Liisa Lipsanen, Bates is laying out an 18-hole, par-72 facility alongside another course designed by Finnish architect Kosti Kuronen.

The courses will be the focal point of a new destination resort in Mauritzberg on Blaviken Sound about 100 miles south of Stockholm. The courses should be completed in the summer of 1992.

Developer Richard Salm of London is planning an 18-hole golf resort community near the town of St. Ann, 50 miles east of Montego Bay.

Known as Drax Hall Plantation, it is situated on a coconut plantation founded in 1669 by William Drax of Barbados. The site was originally a sugar plantation that changed hands many times over the years.

Plans call for a 6,900-yard, par-72 course located within a residential resort community of golf villas and single-family homes.

The course is expected to open in late 1991.
