Coastal Comm. appeals Pebble Beach tee time policy

Pact with Monterey's Board of Supervisors brought into doubt

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif. — Pebble Beach Golf Links owners and the Monterey County Board of Supervisors thought they had reached pleasant agreement over starting time policy for the general public, but they reconciled without the California Coastal Commission.

The Coastal Commission has stepped to the tee with an appeal of that agreement, on behalf of a Monterey resident who claims the reservations pact will hinder public access on the golf course.

Three coastal commissioners have joined in the appeal. Branding the appeal "trivial," the Ben Hogan group Aug. 7 requested a Writ of Prohibition against the Coastal Commission. The writ asks the Court to enjoin the commission from proceeding with the appeal. Hogan attorney Joseph E. Petrillo said the commission clearly had no jurisdiction in this matter.

The appeal claims the plan constitutes a change in the land use and should be considered "development."

Countered Petrillo, "The county's decision was thoroughly studied and debated. The county has the authority to determine whether the advance reservation policy has an impact on coastal development permit requirements under the California Coastal Act and Local Coastal Program. They determined it did not. The agreement provides for the continued availability of starting times at Pebble Beach for the general public, and includes the future members of the Pebble Beach National club within advance reservations policies. "Although anyone can continue to book a tee time at any time 24 hours in advance, based on availability, the new plan sets aside a guaranteed one-hour block of time for public reservations," Petrillo noted.

Palm Springs takes move toward new $1 billion resort

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. — After an 18-month struggle involving developers, Palm Springs mayor and proponent Sonny Bono and City Council member and critic Desyn Hodges, council members have taken the first step toward approving a $1 billion country club resort.

In addition to an 18-hole golf course designed by Jack Nicklaus, there would be a 350-room all-suites hotel, 50-room health spa and tennis complex.

Last April, the council approved a $500-million, 35-year tax rebate on the Canyon Club resort. Hodges threatened a law suit, but councilors approved the rebate a second time on a 4-1 vote. Hodges again opposed.

In the latest development, she didn't oppose council project blessing.
