A horse and bogey show...

By MARK LESLIE

Colorado is a horseman's paradise. It is also a golfer's delight. So the city of Arvada, a Denver suburb, and Zenith Development Corp. of Woodland Park have found a niche for both passions in two otherwise very different projects.

In Arvada, 140 acres of city land will be home to municipal Westwoods Golf Course and will feature 2½ miles of equestrian and biking and hiking trails.

HORSES, GOLF A PERFECT MARRIAGE

Colorado is "aird horse country with spectacular golfing sites," said Jim Wilkins, superintendent of Arvada's other municipal, Lake Arbor Golf Course. City fathers hope Westwoods makes a perfect match.

Whereas horsemen in Lakewood, just seven miles away, vehemently opposed construction of Fox Hollow Golf Course, Arvada's equestrians have supported the municipal project and have been attentive onlookers during construction of Westwoods, according to Wilkins.

Norman brings Mackenzie look to American 18

From staff reports

LONG GROVE, Ill. — Greg Norman and the fellows at Kemper Sports Management feel golfer/architect Alister Mackenzie would be happy with their new creation 35 miles northwest of Chicago — Royal Melbourne.

"We tried to be true to the traditions of the game," says Kemper Vice President Doug Schmidt. "The Royal Melbourne course in Australia is one of Greg's favorites in the world, and we feel we have kept to Mackenzie's rules of design in our Royal Melbourne."

The American version, a private course that opens to members Aug. 15 and whose grand opening will be Sept. 12, indeed fits the Mackenzie mode in all the key areas.

Mackenzie said a golf course should:

• Consist of two loops, creating different wind conditions. ("Done," says Schmidt.)
• Mix long par-4s with shorter, tough par-4s, calling for an infinite variety of shots. ("Done.")
• Have greens and fairways that are very undulating but not severe. ("I'd say.")
• Sport minimal blind shots. ("None.")
• Stress natural beauty, not contrived by man. ("Put an asterisk on that.")
• Cause absolutely no annoyance by causing the golfer to look for lost balls. ("Only if you want to skin dive in one of the nine lakes.")
• Maintain excellent course conditions. ("We've hired Tim Sedgley from Oakhurst Country Club in Antioch, Calif.")
• Flush the sand as opposed to building overpowering bunkering. ("Done.")
• Camouflage (Mackenzie's strength). ("On the 18th the bunker

Golf Norman blasts a shot during his inaugural round at the first course he has designed in the continental United States — Royal Melbourne. The 17th hole shows the challenge and beauty of the private country club which boasts Michael Jordan and Chip Beck as members.

It is out 40 yards from the green, just like Mackenzie would do it.

Schmidt said the course combines three natural elements. Six holes are set in a heavily wooded area with mature oak trees. Six are set in a designated preservation prairie-wetland area. And six holes play around nine manmade lakes.

This balance in design came from the team of Norman, who was involved from the pre-planning stages; architect Ted Robinson, who did the routing plan; and Kemper Director of Golf Bob Spence, who supervised construction.

The course plays four sets of tees from 5,500 to 6,800 yards.
