GCSAA unveils new show policies

LAURENCE, Kan. — The board of directors of the Golf Course Superintendents Association of America (GCSAA) will implement several new policies for the association's International Golf Course Conference and Show.

Before being presented to the board for approval, the policies were reviewed by GCSAA’s Industry Advisory Council (IAC). GCSAA’s 66th International Golf Course Conference and Show is scheduled for Feb. 20-27, 1995, in San Francisco.

The new policies are:

• Prior approval is now required for exhibitors planning guest appearances, promotional giveaways and contests to ensure these events are appropriate for all attendees.

• All exhibitors at GCSAA’s trade show must have goods and services that relate to the golf course management industry.

• Guest hall vouchers have been eliminated, but a more attractive trade show-only pass will be offered.

• Spouses of attendees, distributors and exhibitors will be allowed on the trade show floor at no charge.

Members of the IAC include GCSAA Secretary/Treasurer and IAC Chairman Bruce R. Williams, GCSC; Michael Alexander, director of marketing, Club Car Inc.; Carla Barebo, vice president marketing, Otterbine-Barebo; Dennis Brown, managing partner, marketing services, The Toro Co.; Jim Byrnes, advertising manager, Jacobsen.; Sandi Gridley, advertising manager, Sandoz America; Dave Heggard, vice president, The Scotts Company; Bill Kenney, vice president, Smithco; Bob Liles, director, Ciba Turf & Ornamental Products; Clare Peterson, advertising manager, Deere & Co.; Gary Shampany, vice president sales and marketing, Bunton Co.; Doug Toews, director marketing and Latin America operations, International Seeds; and Roger Underwood, president, Becker-Underwood.

Southwest Horticulture Show set for Sept. 8-9

PHOENIX, Ariz. — The Arizona Nursery Association’s show is best of the “Green” as its theme for the 1994 Southwest Horticultural Trade Show, scheduled for Sept. 8 and 9, at the Civic Center here.

The 350-booth trade show will include two seminars conducted by the Golf Course Superintendents Association of America (GCSAA) on Sept. 8, while a two-day seminar covering environmental considerations will be held both days.

"This year the show will feature a new products area for plants, equipment and hard goods," said Cheryl Goar, show manager. "Exhibitors will be able to premier their new product lines in this area as well as their booth space." Pre-show activities include a golf tournament on Sept. 6, and a "Peric at Heritage Square" the evening of Sept. 7.

Rise director foresees FIGR vote come '95

"It is not the situation I corrected," said James, products which are registered for agricultural uses will be lost. Unfortunately, there may not be a sufficient non-agricultural market for these same products. I must continue registration, especially in light of many new fees called for in this legislation."

Though James said it isn’t likely that FIGRA will be amended in 1994, he testified in July before the Committee on Agriculture’s Subcommittee on Department Operations and Nutrition, chaired by Congressman Charles W. Stenholm (D-Texas).

"The challenge that presents itself is that 1995 is also the year the Farm Bill is under consideration," said James. "So there is the risk that compromises may be made with regard to both bills in the Agriculture Committee."

"The Stenholm hearings will be the basis of action next year. Whatever he proposes, whatever comes out of his subcommittee, will be the starting point for any consideration of FIGRA legislation in 1995."

When the Golf Course Superintendents Association of America (GCSAA) released its mortality study in January, the entire golf course industry held its breath anticipating a flood of negative publicity.

More than any other group, RISE — as the national trade association for chemical manufacturers, formulators and distributors — stood firmly, hoping to stem the tide.

However, the anxiety level exceeded reality.

"Actually there has been less negative reaction than we expected, to some degree because it was carefully handled by GCSAA," James explained. "We have been working very closely with GCSAA to keep there assessed of any questions we’ve received."

"Overall, there has been very little negative reaction in the press. It has been cited a couple of times, along with other studies about applicator safety. But we’ve been well pleased with how it’s been received.

Dien An/on/dithiopyr purchase finalized

PHILADELPHIA, Pa. — Rohm and Haas Company has formally acquired three agricultural products and related assets from Monsanto Company.

The acquisition of Dimension (dithiopyr) herbicide, used by golf course superintendents, lawn care and landscaping professionals to control crabgrass and other problem weeds, was announced in February but finalized only recently.

The deal also included Visor (thiazopyr) herbicide and a developmental fungicide (thifluzamid), both of which have no golf course applications.

The transaction includes the worldwide rights to the pyridine chemistry behind Dimension and Visor.

Rohm & Haas also purchased the state-of-the-art facility that makes the key intermediate product for the herbicides. Monsanto will continue to operate this plant for Rohm and Haas as part of its larger manufacturing operations in Muscavie, Iowa.

Financial terms of the transaction were not disclosed.
