Watson on short courses
City Star. "There’s been a lot of lip service given to junior golf facilities, or places for kids to have an opportunity to play without the great expense of $10 or $15 or $45 for greens fees or the great expense for having to buy a set of golf clubs. Just a place you go out with a couple of clubs and a putter and go on a small course."
Watson challenged public parks or private landowners to donate three or four acres for a few holes and provide maintenance. "Greens fees at the new mini-course at Ironhorse are $2.50 to $3.
"What’s gratifying is when you have a kid out there for the first time and hits the ball farther than he thought he could hit," Watson said. "We’ve provided that thrill for a few of the kids, but we haven’t provided them a place to go over and over again. That’s going to be the ultimate thrill."
