BRIEFS

NGCOA ELECTS OFFICERS

ORLANDO, Fla. — The National Golf Course Owners Association elected its officers during its association's recent annual conference here. Re-elected were Jim Scott of Gull Lake View in Augusta, Mich., president; Bill Stine of Kissimmee (Fla.) Bay Golf Club, secretary; and Jerry Hollingsworth of Singing Hills Golf Club in El Cajon, Calif., treasurer. Also newly elected to the board of directors were Roy Clark of Mill Creek Golf Club in Mt. Frontenac, Minn.; Ian Kunesch of Rolling Greens Golf Club in Newton, N.J.; and Kelly Miller of Pine Needles Country Club in Southern Pines, N.C.

CLUBCORP ACQUIRES COTO DE CAZA

ORANGE COUNTY, Calif. — A Club Corporation of America subsidiary has acquired Coto de Caza Golf & Racquet Club. The club's second Robert Trent Jones Jr.-designed course is scheduled to open this spring. This is the fourth country club a CCA subsidiary has purchased in Southern California in the past year. Mission Hills Country Club (CC) in Rancho Mirage, Desert Falls CC in Palm Desert and Indian Wells CC are the others.

CMAA PROMOTES AUSTIN

ALEXANDRIA, Va. — The Club Managers Association of America has promoted Alyson Austin to manager of its Premier Club Services Department. In her new post, Austin will help develop and implement new programs, products and services for club operations. She will also monitor legislative activity and report to members critical information on issues of concern to the club industry. Austin was previously education coordinator.

AGC'S JAMES EXPANDS DUTIES

DALLAS — Ken James, senior vice president of operations, Central Region for American Golf Corp., has added the Eastern Region to his management responsibilities. James, who will continue to work out of Dallas, now supervises operations at 70 resort and daily-fee golf courses in 18 states. James joined AGC in 1983 as regional director for Texas.

MARKETING IDEA OF THE MONTH

Charleston adds automated tee time network

By Peter Blais

CHARLESTON, S.C. — Sandwiched between Myrtle Beach and Hilton Head, Charleston is often overlooked as a golf destination. But course owners, lodging providers and civic officials hope their soon-to-be-unveiled central tee-time reservation network will change that.

"Golf has grown significantly as visitors look for things to do in the Charleston area," said Kate Darby, director of visitor services for the city. "We hadn't aggressively promoted ourselves as a golf destination until recently. By [electronically] tying tee times and golf courses together, we hope to increase [tourist] revenues significantly in the Charleston area."

The PAR Golf System network, which is scheduled to come on line in June, is the result of a rigorous, six-month search for a reservation network tailored to the needs of the Charleston area, according to Mike Tinkey of Sports Management and Marketing Services, who facilitated the arrangement between PAR and a consortium of course and lodging facility operators as well as the Charleston Area Convention and Visitor Bureau.

The system will provide one-stop shopping for golf and lodging reservations, electronically linking 17 courses and a dozen lodging providers. Getting course

Continued on page 59

Chicago firm buys GreenVisions Inc.

By Peter Blais

CHICAGO — Crown Golf Properties has acquired GreenVisions, Inc., a Chicago-based golf management and construction company. The agreement melds two management firms that historically concentrated on different market niches.

Crown, also based in Chicago, owns and manages upscale golf facilities, resorts and golf real estate properties. GreenVisions manages public golf facilities under contract or long-term lease, including a number of municipal layouts. GreenVisions has also built and/or grown in 17 courses since 1989.

"Our strengths are very complementary," noted Tim Miles Sr., president of GreenVisions. "Our partnership will allow us to access the entire market by offering the most comprehensive package of experience and expertise."

Under the agreement, Crown remains general partner. Limited partners who will actually manage the business include Crown's Bill Wolf and Scott Flynn and GreenVisions' Mike Tinkey, Allan Swaringen and former

Continued on page 59

North American Golf Inc. at crossroads

By Peter Blais

A fork in the road looms ahead for North American Golf (NAG).

The Lombard, Ill.-based company recently signed a financial agreement with the real-estate subsidiary of a major utility. The agreement will provide NAG the capital to build, manage and/or buy more courses as it seeks to become an increasingly significant player in the management company market, according to Chief Operating Officer Michael Rippey.

Meanwhile, since the start of the year, a half-dozen firms have approached Rippey with offers to buy his company and consolidate NAG's operations with their own.

Go it alone or consolidate. Right fork or left.

"There are many companies out there like ours where the owners have a lot of sweat equity into the business," said Rippey, whose firm has

Continued on page 56

COMMENTARY

Credible feasibility work rare but key to successful golf course development

James E. McLoughlin

We constantly hear of the need for more golf courses across the country. The often-heard cry is "one new golf course opening a day would not be enough." Accepting the premise, it is surprising the industry has so little feel for what it takes to develop golf courses on a consistent basis. Consequently, national golf development has been slowed consistently and unnecessarily.

For example, the basic prerequisites for developing a golf course are: (i) the availability of a sufficient amount of net usable land that is permitable; (ii) credible feasibility analysis; and (iii) adequate funding. Only when all three components are in place can a golf course be developed. Gaining access to qualified land is the easiest of the three tasks. More often than not, the stumbling block is the lack of credible feasibility work, which the industry erroneously takes for granted as an automatically deliverable service.

Continued on page 58

May 1996 55