Discount rounds program unveiled

By Peter Blais

TROY, Mich. — The world's largest publisher of consumer discount programs is set to offer a new program designed to help daily-fee courses market their excess capacity.

Beginning in 1996, Entertainment Publications Inc.'s Golf Program will begin publishing a National Golf Directory. The 2,000 courses expected to be listed in the directory will provide a "Buy-One-Get-One-Round-Free" offer to Entertainment Publication's various travel club members. Some weekend and seasonal restrictions may apply and clubs may require golfers to rent carts.

The Golf Directory will be included in packets of information provided by Entertainment membership travel club clients. It will be marketed to Travel Club. Members of those clubs take an average of 7.2 trips every year and 35 percent of the play golf, according to company figures.

"What you have is many national corporations using their money to promote golf at these courses," said Golf Program Director Bob McHenry. "We're looking for golf courses that are interested in generating more business, especially during their down times."

Established in 1962, Entertainment develops, distributes and promotes numerous publications containing discounts on lodging, dining, travel, sports and other leisure activities, including golf. Over 100,000 participating merchants are under contract. The company has 900 employees staffing its Troy headquarters and 85 local offices. Entertainment Publications Inc. is a wholly-owned subsidiary of CUC International, a public company traded on the New York Stock Exchange.

"It's worked surprisingly well," said Scott Hutchinson, head pro at Turtle Creek Golf Club in Rockledge, Fla. "We were first listed in one of their publications back in November and within two days people were redeeming coupons. That's surprising considering how many discount books are available in Florida.

"The nice thing is that the coupons bring in two golfers. The first golfer pays full price and the second one just pays for a cart. We don't have any time, day or seasonal restrictions on the coupon's use."

The new golf directory is similar to the 4-by-8 1/2-inch hotel directory the company has published for many years. It will contain a limited number of sporting goods, dining and hotel listings, but will be primarily devoted to golf. It should be available by this spring, McHenry said.

Friels become major players in New England

"I'm enthralled by the joy public golfers exhibit on the course. To walk into the clubhouse at 4:30 a.m. and see people already there waiting to get out and play is a real thrill."

— Phil Friel

BY PETER BLAIS

Golf has been a part of Phil Friel's life for 71 of his 80 years, and as the above suggests, it still gives the patriarch of the Friel organization a charge.

Friel and his sons — Phil Jr., David and Tom — own 10 public courses in New Hampshire, Massachusetts and Maine. He visits the courses daily, puts in significant time at the company's Nashua, N.H., office and still shoots in the low 70s, a reflection of his 55 years as a teaching pro and seven PGA National Championship appearances.

Friel began playing and caddying at Woburn (Mass.) Country Club at age nine, rising through the ranks to caddymaster, assistant pro and head professional. World War II and the Army called him away for several years before he returned to New England where he became head pro at Nashua Country Club.

"I loved teaching, but I was always looking for land," said Friel, who, like many club pros, dreamed of one day building his own course. "There isn't much longevity in this business for golf pros, I wanted something with a little more stability."

The opportunity presented itself in the late 1950s. With the help of a friend who oversaw a trust fund, Friel purchased some farm land in
