Environmental debate assumes center stage
BY J. BARRY MOTHES
Orlando — It's 8 a.m. Friday at your golf course. Pithium is raging. A shot gun start member-guest golf tourney is set to start in 30 minutes. As golf course superintendent, you decide to go with a quick pesticide treatment. At a post-tourney barbecue, several golfers complain of headaches and vomiting. Do you tell them about the morning pesticide application? The above scenario was a quick off-the-cuff creation by Dr. Frank Rossii, a turf professor at the University of Wisconsin-Madison. But it's exactly the kind of thing Harvard law professor and frequent TV legal commentator Arthur Miller can be expected to spring on a panel of golf industry and environmental experts at this year's Environmental General Session panel at the Golf Course Superintendents Association of America International Conference and Show. Continued on page 27

Progress at EPA? Maybe
BY HAL PHILLIPS
Washington, D.C. — "They have a new way of handling data that has sped up the entire process," said AgrEvo's George Raymond. "Turn-around times on a number of submissions have dropped from 18 months to six." Added American Cyanamid's John Thomas: "When they heard the arguments we posed regarding increased safety, they accelerated their review process and put us on the fast track for registration." Could these people be talking about the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA)? Amazing as it may seem to golf industry veterans familiar with the lengthy, multimillion-dollar registration process, yes. Continued on page 27

Landscapes named GCN's Builder of the Year for 1995
BY MARK LESLIE
Lincoln, Neb. — The Perfect 10. No one has come so close to achieving it as did the 1995 Builder of the Year — Landscapes Unlimited, Inc. In Golf Course News' annual survey of developers and architects, Landscapes, which lost the crown last year to Paul Clute & Associates, regained the title. In doing so, Landscapes averaged 9.12 in the seven categories, the highest average ever in the 7-year survey. Eleven clients, judging in the eight categories, gave Landscapes 10s in 70 of a possible 88 votes. Wadsworth Golf Construction Co. of Plainfield, III., which won Best Builder the first three years of the survey before relinquishing the title to Landscapes Unlimited and its president, Bill Kubly (below), Golf Course News Builder of the Year honors... Continued on page 37
