Pebble Beach may be available for the right price

MONTEREY, Calif. — The legendary Pebble Beach golf resort may be up for sale.

The Japanese leader who controls Pebble Beach has held negotiations to sell the famous California seaside golf resort to an American development group for at least $500 million, according to the Los Angeles Times.

Sources told the Times that high-level negotiations have taken place in Tokyo between Sumitomo Bank and American developers regarding the property.

Lone Cypress Co., named after the landmark tree on the Monterey Peninsula’s famed 17 Mile Drive, is the investor partnership that owns Pebble Beach, probably the most famous golf course in America that is also open to the public.

Lone Cypress is owned by Taiheyo Club Inc., which operates several prominent courses in Japan, and Sumitomo Credit Services Co., one of Japan’s biggest issuers of Visa cards. Sumitomo, which has stakes in both companies, financed the 1992 package deal that included Pebble Beach golf course and lodge, three nearby golf courses and the Inn at Spanish Bay.

Japanese golf tycoon Minoru Isutani lost about $350 million when he bought the resort from a partnership headed by an investment banker and environmental groups.

One buyer identified as a potential purchaser is Colony Capital Inc. of Los Angeles, a real estate company, has also been mentioned as a buyer.

One buyer mentioned is KSL Recreation Corp., an affiliate of Kohlberg Kravis Roberts & Co., the New York-based leveraged buyout specialist, sources said.

The current owners are in the midst of ambitious development plans to obtain approval for 350 single-family homes and an 18-hole course on land they own near Pebble Beach. Those plans, in the works for years, have run into strong opposition from local homeowner and environmental groups.

Buyer interest in Pebble Beach always has run high. Several venture capital funds, former owners and the real estate developers reportedly have shown interest in the landmark.

Sentinel Turf Fungicide

Golfers worry about breaking par. You’d rather break the stranglehold turf diseases can put on your fairways, tees and greens. Sentinel® fungicide can help.

Sentinel offers the longest control and best performance on brown patch, dollar spot, summer patch and 11 other turf diseases—at the lowest rates. Sentinel controls the toughest diseases 20-35% longer than other systemic fungicides. And it won’t quit working at critical times, either. Like, say, just before tournament weekend. What’s more, Sentinel offers the protection you need at far lower rates than competitive products—anywhere from nine to 100 times less active ingredient. That minimizes worker exposure and lessens the environmental load. When it comes to performance, Sentinel has proven itself on 12 different varieties of turfgrass.
