Alternative spikes gain acceptance

By MARK LESLIE

NORTH BARRINGTON, Ill. — In April 1994 when Wynstone Golf Club here banned metal-spiked golf shoes, superintendents nationwide held their breath, anticipating what reaction from golfers.

Three years later, and 45 years after the United States Golf Association (USGA) first called on golfers to forsake their metal spikes for more turf-friendly footwear, the revolution is on.

"I've been in this business for 30 years. It certainly a very popular trend that goes downswing almost certainly will not take

Ski managers: Golf key to year-round revenues

By PETER BLAIS

Skiing provides the monetary speed, but golf helps smooth out the financial bumps for American Skiing Co. (ASC), a major Northern New England ski operator that is fast becoming one of the region's major golf course owners and operators. Although it represents just 10 percent of ASC's total revenues, golf helps even out the company's cash flow throughout the year, according to ASC Chief Financial Officer Tom Richardson.

"Golf has been very important at Sugarloaf [USA]," noted Peter Webber, the Carrabassett Valley, Maine, resort's golf director and a member of the committee that coordinates ASC's four golf course operations. "The additional cash flow helps us through the summer. It lets us employ some of our best people on a year-round basis. It keeps the hotel rooms occupied and pulls in other summer business."

ASC operates eight ski areas — Sun Valley, Michigan's Blue Mountain, New Hampshire's Attitash Bear Peak in New Hampshire; and Killington, Mount Snow, Sugarbush, Haystack and Pico Mountain in Vermont. Sugarloaf, Mount Snow, Killington and Sugarbush have golf courses. Sunday River hopes to begin construction of a Robert Trent Jones Jr.-designed course this summer and ASC is considering building a golf facility at Attitash.

Golf wasn’t a major part of ASC President Les Otten’s plans back in 1972 when he first became Sunday River’s general manager. Eight years later he purchased the Western Maine resort. Under Otten’s leadership, Sunday River expanded its trails and lodging facilities and grew into one of the major ski areas in the country.

Sunday River’s success paved the way for Otten’s headlong assault on the New England ski/golf industry over the past three years. First, he purchased Attitash in the summer of 1994. That fall he signed a lease to operate Sugarbush and bought the facility in May 1995. A month later he acquired Cranmore. In June 1996, Otten doubled his ski holdings and became a major player in the Northern New England golf market, with the purchase of S.K.I. Ltd., owners of Sugarloaf, Killington, Mount Snow, Haystack and Waterville Valley. In December 1996 he acquired Pico. Cranmore and Waterville Valley have been sold.

“It [ASC’s acquisitions] reflects the consolidation taking place in the ski and golf industries,” Richardson said. “Having many properties creates operating synergies and can create some interesting opportunities for customers.”

The golf committee — which includes superintendents, pros, managers, and marketing employees of the various courses — has already begun to explore group purchasing discounts on course maintenance supplies, Webber said.

ASC plans more cooperative marketing ventures among the courses. “When Sunday River opens and if we build a course at Attitash, we could do week-long vacation packages that would allow golfers to play a different course every day,” said Peter Johnson, ASC’s marketing director for golf. ASC currently offers stay-and-play packages at all its courses ranging from $79 to $119 per person per night, Johnson said.

Richardson expected ASC to finalize an agreement by late January with RTJ II to design and build a Sunday River course that could be ready for play by 1999. “It will be a first-class facility, just like Sugarloaf,” Webber said, “Sunday River will probably be a little more golfer friendly, with wider fairways, but still very much a wilderness golf experience.”

Webber has walked the proposed site for the Attitash course, a river valley that would be well suited to a parkland or linksland course, he said.

Richardson said the company has also discussed upgrading the irrigation and drainage at Sugarbush; doing some “tweaking” of the Killington course; and adding another nine at Mount Snow. The possibility of another nine or 18 holes at Sugarloaf is also under consideration, Webber added.

ASC has chosen to manage the golf facilities itself, rather than turn them over to a management company. “We don’t want to cession any part of our operations,” Richardson said. “We’d rather do it ourselves, control our own destiny and cash flow.”

“Thalonil? There’s one big difference to me. It’s from Terra.”

“I’ve seen the results first hand. I’ve looked at the university studies. Fact is, it all tells me that Thalonil™ controls disease as well as — or better than — any other chlorothalonil I can use. Including the other national brand. And even though there may not be any difference in product performance, there is a definite difference in people performance. Terra understands what I need and they make certain I get it. Product. Value. Service. Real know-how that I can trust. It’s all there. If you ask me, the real difference in fungicides comes down to the people you deal with. That’s why I work with Terra. And, that’s why I use Thalonil.”
