Notable Quotables

How much credit should land or course design get in the top five courses in the world?

- "Very little is the design. Pebble Beach? Very little of the design. Pine Valley? Cypress Point? I have said a thousand times, Cypress Point is the best piece of ground I have ever seen for a golf course. Take Cypress Point off that property and put it somewhere else, it's just another golf course.' — Jack Nicklaus, golf course designer and former tour pro

- "The bottom line is, this technology saves money, virtually eliminating changing orders in renovations of existing courses.‘ — Larry Rodgers of Larry Rodgers Design in Lakewood, Colo., concerning Global Positioning Satellites.

- "Donald Ross was no fool. He used all the good land back in 1917.' — Brian Silva, golf course architect

- "I honestly don’t think anything unique has happened in course design in the last 20 years.' — J. Michael Poellot, golf course architect

---

Audubon cracks down on broken promises

By MARK LESLIE

SELKIRK, N.Y. — Probation, Excommunication. These terms that embody emnity are now part of the lexicon at Audubon International (AI), long a bastion of teamwork and cooperation.

While the majority of the 66 golf courses in the 4-year-old Audubon Signature Program are committed to it and swear by its effectiveness, others have fallen off the bandwagon, or perhaps were never aboard, according to AI President Ron Dodson.

Lamenting the fact that he had to, first, "place on probation," then "excommunicate" one of the eight fully certified Audubon Signature facilities, Dodson said: "Our strongest program is only as strong as our weakest one, and we can't allow people to make our name look weak. We already are being accused by other environmental groups of kowtowing to the golf course industry and giving away the Audubon name. But we don't. People work for it and are proud of it."

However, when The Champions Club at Summerfield in Stuart, Fla., did not correct some problems targeted at AI’s biannual audit, the club and the organization parted ways.

“We wrote and told them they are no longer to use Audubon International’s name or logo,” Dodson said. "They are to take their signs down and the Audubon print off the wall, and take all references to the Signature Program and Audubon International off their advertising materials and so on. More than that, we can not do."

---

Child’s Play in Kentucky

By MARK LESLIE

LAWRENCEBURG, Ky. — A "kid’s course" built within the existing layout may prove a key option for golf facilities around the country, now that Bob-O-Link Golf Course has made the concept a reality.

On Father’s Day, Bob-O-Link opened its Kids Course within the 22-year-old track, thanks to owner Jack Ridge, who is also a golf course architect and president of a children’s golf-product company, Club Pro Products in Louisville.

"Golf has missed the boat,” Ridge declared. "Everybody’s mindset has been junior golf — teenagers— but no one has thought of kids up to 10 years old. That’s what separates this course."

The idea for the Kids Course, he said, stemmed from parents who bought Club Pro clubs and bags, then asked...

---

Estate courses on the rebound

By MARK LESLIE

SUGAR GROVE, Ill. — Disappointed in Augusta National’s famous par-3 12th hole at Amen Corner, Jerry Rich came home to his 2,000-acre estate and built what he calls a better one. Disappointed in Augusta’s 200-yard-long Magnolia Lane, he built a Magnolia Lane of his own. It meanders across two miles.

This is Rich Harvest Links. This is Jerry Rich’s dream — a dream that grew from the idea of a modest couple of practice holes to a stunning facility that will open 18 championship-length holes this summer. Eighteen holes kept in tournament condition by a professional staff. Eighteen holes that, because of the positioning of multiple trees, can be played as five different nine-hole rotations. Eighteen holes that this 4-handicap golfer designed to display what he calls "purposefully eclectic to show the Scottish, Pine Valley and Traditional looks."

---

The back 40: Not your typical backyard

By MARK LESLIE

SEVEN OR EIGHT YEARS AGO, when the madness was at its height, many so-called courses were laid out over private grounds.‘ — Van Tassel Sutphen in The Outing Magazine, 1906

- The Indian River Club: an environmental winner.

---

The boom continues all around.

THE WORLD OF DEVELOPMENT IN ‘98

Much of the world has always revolved around children. Now the golf course industry has joined the rest of society — full-bore and with dedication. The overarching story of development in the past 12 months has been the full-tilt dive into building "beginners’ courses" to reach inner-city youths and others who have not had the opportunity to play the game. The new thrust is exemplified by The First Tee program, an effort spearheaded by literally the entire hierarchy of golf, from the PGA Tour and World Golf Village to the U.S. Golf Association, PGA of America and even Augusta National.

In the meantime, course construction in general continues at a 400-course-per-year pace. According to Judy Thompson at the National Golf Foundation, 396 courses had opened this year as of Nov. 4. This will be the fourth consecutive year that figure has topped 400. In October alone, construction began on 57 new courses and plans were announced for 48 others.

The boom continues all around.

---

Very little of the design. Pebble Beach? Cypress Point? I have said a thousand times, Cypress Point is the best piece of ground I have ever seen for a golf course. Take Cypress Point off that property and put it somewhere else, it’s just another golf course.' — Jack Nicklaus, golf course designer and former tour pro

---

Seven or eight years ago, when the madness was at its height, many so-called courses were laid out over private grounds.’ — Van Tassel Sutphen in The Outing Magazine, 1906

---

Certainly not your average backyard: the 2nd hole at Rich Harvest.

---

Notable Quotables

- "Very little is the design. Pebble Beach? Very little of the design. Pine Valley? Cypress Point? I have said a thousand times, Cypress Point is the best piece of ground I have ever seen for a golf course. Take Cypress Point off that property and put it somewhere else, it's just another golf course.' — Jack Nicklaus, golf course designer and former tour pro

- "The bottom line is, this technology saves money, virtually eliminating changing orders in renovations of existing courses.

- "Donald Ross was no fool. He used all the good land back in 1917.

- "I honestly don’t think anything unique has happened in course design in the last 20 years.' — J. Michael Poellot, golf course architect

---

Audubon cracks down on broken promises

SELKIRK, N.Y. — Probation, Excommunication. These terms that embody emnity are now part of the lexicon at Audubon International (AI), long a bastion of teamwork and cooperation.

While the majority of the 66 golf courses in the 4-year-old Audubon Signature Program are committed to it and swear by its effectiveness, others have fallen off the bandwagon, or perhaps were never aboard, according to AI President Ron Dodson.

Lamenting the fact that he had to, first, "place on probation," then "excommunicate" one of the eight fully certified Audubon Signature facilities, Dodson said: "Our strongest program is only as strong as our weakest one, and we can’t allow people to make our name look weak. We already are being accused by other environmental groups of kowtowing to the golf course industry and giving away the Audubon name. But we don’t. People work for it and are proud of it."

However, when The Champions Club at Summerfield in Stuart, Fla., did not correct some problems targeted at AI’s biannual audit, the club and the organization parted ways.

“We wrote and told them they are no longer to use Audubon International’s name or logo,” Dodson said. “They are to take their signs down and the Audubon print off the wall, and take all references to the Signature Program and Audubon International off their advertising materials and so on. More than that, we can not do.”