Player makes drastic cuts in Singapore office

By PETER BLAIS

SINGAPORE — Gary Player Enterprises has drastically scaled back its Singapore group office in response to the slowdown in the Asian economy. “We’ve operated a group office in Singapore for the past six years,” said Player Director of Design Phil Jacobs. The firm had employed as many as six people at its Malaysian office covering the various golf-related businesses carrying the Player banner.

“We never had a design office there. We always did that from our Johannesburg office and here [Palm Beach Gardens, Florida, USA]. We’ve cut back on the group office staff, but we’ll still have someone there to answer the phone.”

Jacobs said Player began reducing its Singapore office last August and completed its cutback in December. “We started to ratchet things down in July and August with the collapse of Thailand’s currency. Things just spread like wildfire after that,” he said.

Player still has two golf course projects underway in Japan.
