Walters strikes gold in St. Louis golf market

Management firm content to stay put — for now

Dennis Walters is bullish on the St. Louis marketplace.

"Twelve years ago it was probably on the endangered species list, according to the National Golf Foundation," said Walters, president of St. Louis-based Walters Golf Management. "Since then we've opened a number of new facilities. It's become a very competitive market."

Walters entered the golf business in 1982 when his father bought Bogeys Hills Golf & Country Club, a Wayne Clark-designed layout in St. Charles, Mo. The course had laid dormant for 25 years. Walters, who was in high school at the time, did some redesign work with his dad (an optometrist), and the course re-opened as a nine-hole layout later that year. Bogeys Hills expanded to 18 holes a decade later and went private in 1980. Walters became the club pro.

In the early 1980s, Walters decided to follow in his father's entrepreneurial footsteps and developed Whittmoor Country Club, a private, 36-hole, Karl Litten design in St. Charles that opened in 1988. That was followed by:
- Missouri Bluffs Golf Club, an 18-hole Tom Fazio layout in St. Charles that opened in 1995 and Golf Digest later ranked the No. 1 public golf course in the state.
- The Links at Dardenne, an 18-hole public course in O'Fallon, and Gateway National Golf Links, an 18-hole Keith Foster design with bentgrass fairways in Madison, Ill., both came on line in 1998.
- The Golf Club of Wentzville (Mo.), an 18-hole public facility

NGF directory now available

JUPITER, Fla. — The 1999 edition of the National Golf Foundation’s (NGF) directory of who’s who in the U.S. golf industry is now available. The Directory contains the key names, addresses and other contact information on 10,000 executives and 6,000 companies and organizations conducting the business of golf in the United States. It also features some 2,000 corporate e-mail and 1,350 Web-site addresses. The number of listed Web-site addresses is more than double the number in last year’s edition. Furthermore, more than 50 percent of the listings have been revised with totally new or updated information.

“These changes and additions are indicative of the way the directory is growing and improving,” said Barry Frank, the National Golf Foundation’s vice president of membership services. As in previous editions, the 1999 edition features the following three sections:

- Business to Business Section — Corporate names, addresses, phone/fax numbers, e-mail and Web-site addresses; plus names and titles of top management personnel.
- Executive Section — Company affiliations and telephone numbers of top management personnel in the United States.
- Products & Services Index — A complete listing of all companies and organizations categorized into 114 different product or service groupings.

Every NGF member will receive a complimentary copy of the 1999 edition. It retails to non-members for $60, plus shipping and handling. Non-members can place their order through NGF Information Services at 800-773-6006 or the foundation’s Web site at www.ngf.org.
