Of ants, flies and other friendly pests

By MARK LESLIE

FAR HILLS, N.J. — Ants that devour the eggs and larvae of cutworms, grubs and other pest insects. Parasitic flies that kill mole crickets. The risks, or lack thereof, associated with golfer exposure to pesticides.

The U.S. Golf Association (USGA) Green Section will reveal the results of investigations into these and many other matters in a soon-to-be-released report on the latest USGA-funded research projects. The research covers a gamut of topics from course construction practices and integrated turfgrass management to turfgrass germplasm enhancement, the environmental impact of golf and the Wildlife Links Program.

But key to the entire program are naturally occurring biological controls, which are becoming more

Sports & Fitness expanding its portfolio

By PETER BLAIS

MANCHESTER, Mo. — It’s going to be a busy summer for Sports & Fitness Management, the Missouri-based golf and health club management firm.

Sports & Fitness will open Fred Couples/Gene Bates-designed Stonebridge Golf Club in Bossier City, La., later this summer and recently agreed to purchase Garden Valley Golf Resort in Tyler, Texas. The firm is also about to break ground on a Gary Kern-designed course near St. Louis called Aberdeen and is negotiating a three-course purchase with a management firm operating facilities in Louisiana and Texas, according to Vice President

Tests reveal good & bad of ultradwarfs

By A. OVERBECK

BELTSVILLE, Md. — As ultradwarf Bermudagrass continues to find its way onto golf course greens across the United States, independent research and on-site testing suggest that best management practices for these “super dwarfs” are radically different than for standard Bermudas.

In cooperation with the United States Golf Association and the Golf Course Superintendent’s Association of America, the National Turfgrass Evaluation Program (NTEP) is currently in the second year of a five-year ultradwarf test at eight courses across the

Pebble Beach megasale being worked out

MONTEREY, Calif. — Pebble Beach has changed hands for the fourth time this decade. A group of investors that includes Arnold Palmer, former baseball commissioner Peter Ueberroth, actor Clint Eastwood, former United Airlines CEO Richard Ferris and General Electric Pensions agreed June 17 to purchase the Pebble Beach golf resort for $820 million.

Pebble Beach was bought for $841 million in 1990 by Japanese businessman Minoru Isutani, who turned around two years later and sold it to Taiseiyo Club, Inc., a Tokyo-based resort company, for
