BRIEFS

KEMPER TO REVAMP NAVAL BASE

NORTHBOURG, Ill. — The Village of Glenview selected Kemper Sports Management to build and operate a daily-fee facility on the Naval Air Station Glenview Naval Air Station, a 1,121-acre former military base being converted to a mixed-use development. Glenview trustees approved the sale of 180 acres of land at the air base to Kemper Sports for use in building a course and clubhouse that will include a golf museum, restaurant and banquet facilities. Kemper Sports’ vision for the planned $20 million project is to create a world-class course and practice facility. As part of its bid, Kemper formed an alliance with the Illinois Section of the PGA (IPGA) enabling the IPGA to move its headquarters to the Glenview site. Upon opening, the new facility will also house the Illinois Golf Hall of Fame, an interactive museum celebrating the history of golf in Illinois and those who have made contributions to the game. Plans are to start construction this fall and open the course by spring 2001.

MOUNTAIN COURSE ADDED IN WIS.

MERRIMAC, Wis. — Offering “some of the best mountain golf in the Midwest” on 800 acres of glacier-formed bluff in Wisconsin’s Baraboo Hills, Devil’s Head Resort & Convention Center at Merrimac enters the 1999 season starting work on nine new holes to add to its 18-hole championship course. Some 45 minutes north of Madison, Devil’s Head is located between Portage and the Wisconsin Dells.

IRWIN DESIGNS NEVADA COURSE

SPARKS, Nev. — Red Hawk Golf Club is adding a 18-hole course and 18-hole putting course designed by Hale Irwin. Winding along the cottonwoods and marshes at Wingfield Springs Village Center, the putting course is scheduled to open in the fall and feature 18 challenging bentgrass holes put together by the three-time U.S. Open champion. The Hills Course will wind through the Pah Rah Range, complementing the 18-hole Springs Course designed by Robert Trent Jones Jr.

VERMONT’S OKEMO GC READIES FOR SPRING 2000 OPENING

OKEMA VALLEY, Vt. — Okemo Valley Golf Club, an 18-hole facility here, is scheduled to make its debut in the spring of 2000. The course will be home to the Okemo Valley Golf Academy, an 18-hole golf learning center. Okemo is also planning an expansion, called Jackson Gore, which will include a nine-hole executive golf course.

Architects honor Palmer, elect president and new members

CHARLESTON, S.C. — John LaFoy of Greenville, S.C., who has built a national reputation with his new course designs and remodeling projects, was elected president of the American Society of Golf Course Architects (ASGCA) at the group’s recent annual meeting here.

“LaFoy is a giant in the industry, and this is a well-deserved honor,” said outgoing president Tim Liddy. “Two of the most talented and respected architects in the world today are Atlanta’s Perry Maxwell and LaFoy, who have laid out scores of courses over the last three decades.”

Eight elected to ASGCA

CHARLESTON, S.C. — There are two keen ways to make it to the big time in golf course architecture: learn the craft from your father, or under study to Pete and Alice Dye.

That is what Rick Phelps (son of Dick) and Tim Liddy (understudy to the Dyes) accomplished. Phelps is now the third generation of the Phelps family to own a course in the United States.

Continued on page 30

A DREAM REALIZED

Affordable golf in Kansas’ sand hills

ABILENE, Kan. — The sand hills of Kansas produced Perry Maxwell’s top-rated Prairie Dunes in nearby Hutchinson in 1937. Dev. Jon Thayer hopes the same magic has been woven through the sand hills of Abilene — specifically on his Chisholm Trail Golf Course, which opened for public play here April 1 to far less fanfare than his famous neighbors.

Chisholm Trail was “laid gently on the land,” Thayer said, “a rolling piece of land.”

Continued on page 31

Given a couple thousand acres to choose from in building his course, Doak said he found “a terrific piece of land.”

Continued on page 31

Doak’s Apache Stronghold ‘new-fangled’ for desert

By MARK LESLIE

GOLE, Ariz. — The San Carlos Apache Nation had The Apache Golf Casino, a couple thousand square miles of Apache land and plenty of Apache labor. What were they missing? A golf course.

But that will be remedied in May or June when the Tom Doak-designed 18-hole Apache Stronghold opens to public play here.

It will be a new-fangled type of course for the desert: wide (200-foot) landing areas, a lot (100 acres) of turfgrass, plentiful water supply, immense length (7,500 yards from the back tees), and cooler weather than most desert tracks (leading to a choice of dwarf bluegrass fairways and Dominant bentgrass greens because Bermudagrass would die at this 3,200-foot altitude in the mountains above Phoenix).

“The Apache Nation wanted to build a golf course that was good enough to make people want to stay,” said Doak who, with Apache Stronghold, has his first design west of the Mississippi River. “We think we’ve done that.”