Redexim Charterhouse moves into new digs

PITTSTON, Pa.— Redexim Charterhouse Inc. has moved its North American headquarters from Kingston to a new, larger facility in nearby Pittston Township.

The company cited expanding U.S. sales activity as the principal reason for its move. Sales increased 25 percent in 1998 and year-to-date sales for 1999 are up an additional 28 percent over 1998 figures according to Philip Threadgold, executive vice president, Redexim Charterhouse Inc.

The new facilities include increased office space and warehouse space for equipment and parts. The new building is situated on a five-acre lot to accommodate additional future growth.

Redexim’s turf management products are represented in North America by a network of 47 distributors.
