ClubCorp takes over Mexico’s Palmilla

DALLAS — ClubCorp Resorts has acquired the management contract for Palmilla, an oceanfront property on the Sea of Cortez in Los Cabos, Mexico.

“We have long been interested in expanding our resort division to the Latin American market,” said Robert Dedman Jr., ClubCorp president and CEO. “In addition to the Los Cabos location giving us a very exclusive address, the resort is rich with history and the golf is known as tough and almost distractingly beautiful.”

Palmilla sits on 900 acres on the southern tip of the Baja Peninsula. The resort is home to a Jack Nicklaus Signature-designed course. The Palmilla Golf Course, which opened in 1992, was Nicklaus’ first in Latin America.

An expansion of the Palmilla course will bring the total number of holes to 27. In addition to the existing Mountain Nine and the Arroyo Nine, the Ocean Nine is under construction and is expected to open in the fall.

Clubhaus makes play for PGA European Tour Courses network

Clubhaus PLC, the British-based golf course management company, is looking to expand its portfolio (and put a sizable dent into its reported bank facilities of $40 million) with its $25 million bid for PGA European Tour Courses PLC — a valuation of 40 pence per share.

While some 32 percent of the company’s shares are in the hands of institutional and private investors, the remaining 68 percent is shared between International Management Group (19 percent), PGA European Tour (19 percent) and ClubCorp (30 percent).

Somewhere in among all the financial spaghetti is a 4.5 percent personal holding by American Golf Corp. Owner and Chairman David Price.

Initial responses from PGA are disparaging toward the bid as Rudy Anderson, managing director of Surry-based ClubCorp explained: “Following a meeting of the board of PGA European Tour Courses, at which we were obviously represented, the board notified Clubhaus that their preliminary approach to evaluating the possibility of making an offer for the company has not received the support of either the board of the company’s principal shareholders. We consider that [the bid] materially undervalues the company and the board doesn’t wish to take it any further.”

The lure of the PGA company is obvious: valued at 90 pence per share at its launch in 1996, the company has traded around or below 30 pence pretty much ever since. This despite the fact that PGA’s portfolio contains Woburn Golf & Country Club, Quinta do Lago in Portugal, Kungsangen in Sweden and PGA Golf de Catalunya in Spain — as

ClubLink adds to Montreal cluster

KING CITY, Ontario — ClubLink Corp. has purchased 50 percent of Quatre Domaines Golf Club in Montreal, a 36-hole daily-fee facility designed by architect Graham Cooke.

ClubLink has subscribed for treasury shares representing 50 percent of Golf des Quatre Domaines, Inc., whose other shareholders include the family of contractor Robert Dion and developer Gilles Debut, both of Montreal. The facility is on a 546-acre site leased until 2073 from the municipalities of Blainville, Mirabel, Boisbriand and Ste-Therese, which jointly own the property.

The first 18-hole course — a par-72, 6,780-yard layout — opened in May along with a practice range and a three-hole academy course. Construction on the 7,100-yard second course, also designed by Cooke, is to begin this fall. It is scheduled to open in June 2001.

Quatre Domaines is ClubLink’s second course in Montreal, following the acquisition of private Cedarbrook Golf Club in Ste-Sophie in March. Quatre

Another GCA property, The Club at Pelican Strand in Naples, Fla., is not included in the bankruptcy filing.

In its Chapter 11 filing, GCA listed $122 million in debts and $145 million in assets. Credit Suisse First Boston (CSFB), the major creditor, is reportedly owed more than $100 million.

CSFB is also GCA's largest shareholder (24.9 percent). GCA President Warren Stanchina said the firm's problems resulted from Credit Suisse First Boston's decision to cut off funding, but expressed confidence the firm would successfully emerge from its financial problems. He referred specific questions to Shuker.

The companies had to file for bankruptcy to protect their assets and try to get a dividend to unsecured creditors and, potentially, stockholders," Shuker said. "The company had restricted access to its ongoing loans from Credit Suisse and construction at a number of the projects stopped. The purpose of the Chapter 11 was to try to restructure that debt obligation and find a meaningful workout plan."

Shuker said he didn't know why Credit Suisse had cut off funding to Golf Communities. "All the [existing] courses are still operating," Shuker said. "We received a commitment for interim financing to keep them operating and get to a place to make a proposal to all our creditors on how we are going to restructure debts and what the company will look like in the future. We're talking to a number of parties about further investments or loans or a combination thereof to restart construction at a number of the projects."

That new financing could include Credit Suisse, Shuker said. "In fact, the interim financing is being provided by Credit Suisse," he added.

Asked when the situation would be resolved, Shuker said, "We'll likely file our plan of reorganization within the next three months."

Golf Communities is a publicly held firm.

In a written statement, CSFB said: "We have acted in a commercially reasonable manner and fulfilled all of our legal obligations as a lender. All allegations to the contrary are without merit. We have worked with GCA in the past and are open to working with them in the future."

Another course operator, Crenshaw Golf Properties of Dallas, has slowed its course acquisition plans since dissolving its relationship with Credit Suisse First Boston, according to company President C.J. McDaniel.

Domaines is in the Mirabel-Blainville area, about 20 minutes from downtown Montreal and about 15 minutes from Cedarbrook.

"Quatre Domaines Golf Club is an important building block in putting together ClubLink's cluster of courses in Greater Montreal, a dynamic area with a robust economy and an appetite for quality golf," said Bruce Simmonds, president and CEO of ClubLink. "The project developer, Gilles Debut, has extensive golf development and management experience and the Dion family has built three golf courses around Montreal. The Dions and Debut will be of great assistance as ClubLink expands in Quebec."

The 7,200-square-foot clubhouse, which opened in May, includes a 2,200-square-foot covered terrace, dinner seating for 280 people, a 25-seat bistro and 1,200-square-foot conference room. The club also boasts a 10-acre practice facility with target greens and a practice putting green, and a three-hole academy course with a par-3 and two par-4s.
