MACGREGOR INTRODUCES NEW WHIPPY SHAFT MODELS

Dayton, Ohio—Crawford, McGregor and Canby Co. has added "whippy-shafted" clubs to its line. Of these clubs, Ed Canby II, vice-president, says:

"Almost over night demand has developed for clubs having extra whippy shafts. We have taken steps to meet this, but experience has taught us not to adopt any new idea blindly. Our engineering department first tackled the whole problem very thoroughly, analyzing it from the theoretical, "drawing board" angle. Then we took the problem to our own "proving ground"—the MacGregor golf course—and put it through a practical test under actual playing conditions.

In designing a set of clubs embodying this whippy shaft feature, we have not lost sight of certain fundamentals which must be present in each individual club to make it worthy of being called a golf club. To take an extremely whippy shaft and use it right on down thru all the woods and irons is a fatal mistake. It violates principles which have been proved and acknowledged since golf was in its infancy.

"What we have done, therefore, in this 'TRU-WHIP' Model is to utilize shafts of various degrees of whip. The amount of whip is graduated so that each club will be able to successfully perform the job for which it has been designed. In other dicated a 1934 season that will be many steps toward sound prosperity.

First day of the meeting was spent at the factory where salesmen had ample opportunity to become reacquainted with the manufacturing methods used to produce Hagen clubs. At the same time they were able to inspect many new precision devices that have recently been installed to maintain Hagen standards.

Second and third days of the meeting were convened at L. A. Young’s summer home at Wing Lake, near Birmingham. A golf tournament was held on Saturday afternoon at the Tam O’Shanter C. C. The final gathering was a banquet in the evening at the Detroit Polo club.

The 1934 Hagen line of golf clubs and balls was shown for the first time at the sales meeting, and while little information has been made public about it, we understand it is considered to be the finest and most complete line the L. A. Young Golf Co. has ever produced. The 1933 season, they report, has been most encouraging, with total sales comfortably surpassing last year. The entire organization looks forward to 1934 with expectations of considerably increased business for the entire industry.
